Launching a frontal attack on the Roosevelt administration, former President Herbert Hoover issued a statement here yesterday that was immediately interpreted by Democrats and Republicans alike all over the country as a bid for the 1936 presidential nomination.

Mr. Hoover, on his way to New York from California on a business trip, broke his political silence with the declaration that the New Deal administration's "attitude toward the constitution has created one of the most momentous issues since the civil war." The American people, he asserted, have a right to know, "before this congress ends, what changes the administration proposes in the constitution."

Assails Congress' Surrender.

Mr. Hoover's statement follows:

"The past two years have made it clear that the administration intends to bring about a fundamental change in the structure and balance of powers in our government as distinguished from the normal development of the constitution to meet specific problems as oftentimes in the past. This has been evident from the demands made upon and the surrender by congress to the President of powers reaching to dictatorial dimensions and in the invasion of state rights. For two years primary liberties of the people have been trampled upon.

"In effect, the Supreme court called a halt to part of the concentration of powers which has resulted in creation of monopolies, in coercion, in repudiation and in other indirect invasion. The lower courts have declared still other acts unconstitutional.

Changes Not "Temporary."

"But the President, in his criticism of the Supreme court, his reference to 'horse and buggy days' and to the powers of European governments, revealed that these were not emergency measures nor temporary laws, as had been asserted when they were passed. Moreover, we have witnessed the astounding passage of bills to prevent our citizens from having access to the courts to right their wrongs.

"Further, we now see a demand from the President to not permit doubt as to the constitutionality of a proposed law to block its passage. We listen to constant urging from prominent members of this administration that the constitution must be revised. These things can have no other meaning than a continuous intent to change the constitution directly so as to authorize such acts and such concentration of powers as to accomplish them indirectly.

"No matter how destructive an amendment might be, and even though the people were persuaded to ill advised action upon it, yet it would be better for liberty to commit suicide in the open rather than to be poisoned by indirection in the capital of the nation.

"No more momentous question has been raised since the civil war. Common frankness requires that the administration come forward to the people and declare precisely wherein under our constitution we cannot correct evils and cannot prevent social maladjustments.

"The time has come when these full purposes should be disclosed. The people should now be told openly the specific words of the exact amendment that these gentlemen want so that the people can consider and themselves determine it. That is their right."

Station Crowd Applauds.

Mr. Hoover's arrival at the North Western station aboard the Overland Limited was almost unnoticed until a photographer's flashlight attracted a group of passers by. A crowd gathered rapidly. A burst of handclapping followed as the former President was recognized.

Confused, Mr. Hoover doffed his hat to the crowd before hurrying away.

The former President conferred with no Republican leaders here, but

FELLOW OFFICER INFLICTS FATAL SWORD WOUND

Details Withheld by War Office.

Tokio, Aug. 12 [Monday].—(AP)—Lieut. Gen. Tetsuzan Nagata, director general of Japanese military affairs, died today of sword wounds, which the war office stated, were inflicted by Lieut. Col. Aizawa during a fight in Nagata's rooms.

The incident was said to have grown out of recent transfers of army officers.

The alleged attack took place after Aizawa, calling at the war office, and Nagata had engaged in a heated quarrel.

War Office Reticent.

The war office was reticent about the affair, which occurred about 10 a. m. today.

Nagata was virtually the administrative head of the Japanese army. He was a strong supporter of Gen. Senjuro Hayashi, war minister.

His championing of Hayashi's policy, which resulted in the ouster of Jinzaburo Mazaki as director general of military education on July 16, is believed to have been the cause of today's affair.

Wholesale Shifts of Officers.

Mazaki's ouster gave the war minister's faction complete control of war administration and led to wholesale shifts of divisional commanders and other high officers.

It was reported Hayashi would tender his resignation, but it was thought unlikely it would be accepted.

ISSUED POLICY WARNING.

Gen. Nagata, with Gen. Hayashi and Gen. Nashimoto, vice minister of war, warned the Japanese foreign office recently that in the future the army must be consulted before the foreign office took measures affecting eastern policy. This warning was in reference to raising the legation in China to an embassy without consulting the army heads.

BURGLARS TAKE FARM FROM FLAT, OWNER REPORTS

The telephone rang at the Woodlawn police station last night and Sergt. Felix Golden answered it calmly.

"This is Henry Bloom over at 1515 East 67th place," said an excited voice. "Burglars have broken into my apartment and stolen a twenty acre farm I had here. I want you should investigate."

This startling news sent Sergt. Thomas McCarthy and his squad without delay to the scene. There they found that the entire apartment had been ransacked, but the only loot was a deed to Mr. Bloom's farm near Marcellus, Mich.

Money in the same drawer with the deed had been left.

SKETCHES OF THE NEWS

Maria Jeritza and Sheehan to Wed Today

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Maria Jeritza, who has appeared frequently in grand opera in New York and Chicago, will be married tomorrow at 2 p. m. to Winfield Sheehan, recently vice president in charge of production at the Fox studios.

Announcement of the plans for the wedding were made yesterday after they obtained their license at Santa Barbara. The clerk's office was supposed to close at 1 o'clock, but was opened when they arrived an hour later than that. The opera star's name in private life was the Baroness Maria de Podharagn of Vienna, and she recently was divorced from Baron Leopold Popper de Podharagn.

Tells of Plan for Trip.

When the Fox movie interests were merged with the Twentieth Century Sheehan announced that he intended to take a trip to Europe, but the plans for the marriage were kept secret. Hollywood was surprised to learn yesterday that the trip will start Aug. 21 from New York and will be a honeymoon voyage. Mme. Jeritza arrived in Hollywood last April and took a picture test at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Later it was reported that Sheehan would supervise a picture for her to be made at the Fox studios.

In the opera Mme. Jeritza generally was regarded as the successor of Geraldine Farrar, and was for years a star of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York and a guest artist of the Chicago Civic Opera company. Sheehan, formerly connected with the New York World, went to Hollywood in 1914.

Few to Attend Ceremony.

At the ceremony tomorrow Edwin Burke, a writer, will be best man, and Minna Gombel, an actress, will be bridesmaid. Only about a dozen friends will attend the ceremony. Sheehan has been married before. His first wife was Kay Loaurel, who died several years ago.

Warsaw Suburb Burned; 250 Families Homeless

WARSAW, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Fire today destroyed Sczercew, a suburb of Warsaw, rendering homeless more than 250 families. A preliminary estimate places the damage at about $200,000.

M'CUTCHEON IN BRAZIL

Cartoonist Makes Special Visit to Sao Paulo Snake Farm.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Aug. 11.—Except for a glimpse of an anemic sunset at Montevideo, Uruguay, we have not seen the sun since two days before leaving Buenos Aires. The east coast of South America at this season specializes in rain, clouds, and fog, the effects of which rapidly lose popularity.

Today, from a daylight start at Porto Alegre, Brazil, we flew the 300 miles to Florianopolis through rain clouds and the next 300 miles to Santos through steadily thickening fog. We left the plane at Santos to take a spectacular mountain drive to Sao Paulo, sixty miles inland.

Being two days behind in our schedule, this was the only chance to see Brazil's greatest commercial city, called the Chicago of South America for its spirit of energetic enterprise and magical growth. It has 1,200,000 inhabitants who are enjoying all the trimmings of a modern city, including much ultramodernistic architecture. When you drink coffee you are boosting the business of Santos and Sao Paulo.

The main purpose of coming here was the desire to see the world famed snake farm from whose laboratories antidote venom is sent throughout the world. Upon our arrival at 4 o'clock we were informed the snake farm was closed, but entrance was secured a half hour later by a maximum expenditure of diplomacy and cash.

Seeing snakes is usually not rated highly, but it was worth it today. An obliging guide leaped into an inclosure and picked up a surprised rattler by the neck, greatly annoying the latter.

LANDS WITH 8 SAFELY AMONG PARKED AUTOS

New York, Aug. 11.—(AP)—A Thrush monoplane made a forced landing at Coney Island today in so small a space that it will have to be dismantled for removal.

Thousands of bathers scattered as the ship, an over-the-city excursion plane, circled Manhattan beach before it slid safely to earth, fitting snugly into a chink in a block of 2,000 parked automobiles.

The pilot and eight passengers—two of them children—stepped out unhurt. The plane was not damaged.

Joan Blondell Files Suit for Divorce Today

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Joan Blondell, screen star, announced tonight that her "perfect romance" with George Barnes, ace film cameraman, had hit the rocks and that she would file suit for divorce on the grounds of incompatibility tomorrow.

Miss Blondell said she will ask custody of the couple's son, Norman Scott Barnes, born Nov. 2, 1934. The actress indicated a property settlement had been made out of court.

Barnes Moves to Apartment.

The actress now is occupying the family home on Lookout mountain, while Barnes has taken an apartment.

She said she had been separated from her husband for two weeks. She declined to say specifically the charges the action will set forth, saying only the petition will be based on incompatibility.

Seen Together Since Rift.

Since the separation of the two, however, Miss Blondell has been frequently seen in company with Barnes and it was not until tonight that she admitted she would file suit for divorce.

Miss Blondell was 23 years old and a Wampas baby star when she married the cameraman in 1932. It was her first marriage, and Barnes' fourth. He was 35 at the time he married the actress.

GOOD MORNING! DON'T YOU LIKE OUR NEW FACE?

THE TRIBUNE presents a new face to the world this morning. It is fresh from the "Regal" beauty shop and this newspaper trusts that it will be noted and appreciated.

The new type face which you are now reading is the result of experiments which have been carried on for more than three years. This new "Regal" type is different from that in use by any other newspaper. It was the choice of a majority vote by TRIBUNE employés and experiments have shown that it is easier for young or old to read than the type which was abandoned with yesterday's edition.

The following paragraph, printed in both the old and new type styles, will furnish a concrete showing and will demonstrate what has been accomplished in the way of easier reading matter. It is taken from an essay on the friendship of books by Washington Irving in the "Sketchbook":

In the New Type.

"The scholar only knows how dear these silent yet eloquent companions of pure thoughts and innocent hours become in the seasons of adversity. When all that is worldly turns to dross around us, these only retain their steady value. When friends grow cold, and the converse of intimates languishes into vapid civility and commonplace, these only continue the unaltered countenance of happier days and cheer us with that true friendship which never deceived hope nor deserted sorrow."

In the Old Type.

"The scholar only knows how dear these silent yet eloquent companions of pure thoughts and innocent hours become in the seasons of adversity. When all that is worldly turns to dross around us, these only retain their steady value. When friends grow cold, and the converse of intimates languishes into vapid civility and commonplace, these only continue the unaltered countenance of happier days and cheer us with that true friendship which never deceived hope nor deserted sorrow."

MORE READABLE TYPE

The problem set for the type companies and THE TRIBUNE composing room was to get a larger and more readable type and yet one which would not eat up too much precious space.

It will be noted that particular consideration was given to such letters as "a," "e," and "o," which sometimes become blurred with ink. These have been opened up to make them plainer, but there has been a decrease in the ascending and descending parts of such letters as "b" and "d." What has been taken away from one part of these letters has been added to the other part. The result from a space viewpoint is that only about ten lines have been lost to each column.

The new type is a little darker than the old and is easier to read for two reasons: It is larger and there is slightly more space between the lines.

Choice Between Two Faces.

After years of experimenting the type machine companies finally got out two new faces for a choice. Copies of the front page of THE TRIBUNE were printed three months ago in both these styles and a vote was taken among employés. THE TRIBUNE management then decided to accept the "Regal" style made by the Intertype company.

With this decision it became the job of the composing room to prepare for the change. The decision had to be made three months in advance of the day of change. The cost of making this change [in newspaper parlance it is called a new dress] for the benefit of TRIBUNE readers has been more than $10,000.

For the last six weeks the printers have been at work setting the new type. This was made necessary by the advance work for the syndicate department. In addition to this 500 columns of standing type, which is used for various emergency purposes, had to be reset.

$412,000 IN ART AND GEMS STOLEN FROM CATHEDRAL

PAMPLONA, Spain, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Jewels and objects of art valued at 3,000,000 pesetas [about $412,200] were stolen from the cathedral here by thieves who entered through a window, authorities reported today. Orders to watch the frontiers were given and officials searched in this region for the criminals.

OFFERS TO CEDE LAND, BUT ASKS PORT AND LOAN

Ruler Sees Chance to Develop Nation.

Sets Day for Prayer

BY WILL BARBER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 11.—Though separated by thousands of miles, Americans and Ethiopians will be united next Sunday in special prayers for the peace and independence of Ethiopia.

Special prayers in American churches are being organized by the committee for Ethiopia in New York. On learning of the American efforts today Emperor Haile Selassie chose Aug. 18 to be consecrated as a special day of prayer so his people "can be united in a spiritual community" with the Americans.

The emperor asked his people, Christians and Moslems alike, to gather at their places of worship to devote themselves to the prayers.

It is believed likely that similar prayers will be held in Great Britain.

PARIS, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Havas News agency reported tonight from Addis Ababa Emperor Haile Selassie announced Ethiopia was willing to cede part of her territory to Italy in exchange for an outlet to the sea and financial assistance.

"Our government always wanted to obtain loans for development of the country and for speeding up works of civilization which have been undertaken," the emperor told interviewers.

"But another means of aiding the economic development of the country is to obtain a port for Ethiopia and if it would fulfill our two aspirations we would see no objection to ceding part of Ogaden," he was quoted as saying.

Insists on Independence.

The emperor, it was reported, first stressed the view "we do not wish the independence of the country to be touched. Neither do we desire that offense should be given to Italian prestige."

Outlining what might be done, he was quoted as saying, "Against the advantages of financial and economical nature such as the concession of a loan and the cession of a port such as Capt. Anthony Eden of Great Britain has already proposed in the interests of peace, we can envisage the cession of a portion of territory.

Recalls British Offer.

"The realization of an understanding on this basis would involve numerous details, the importance of which it is not necessary to underline and which would have to be discussed."

[Capt. Eden, British minister for league of nations affairs, revealed July 1 to an astounded house of commons that he had offered to cede a strip of British Somaliland to Ethiopia giving the latter access to the sea. The British cession, according to the plan he disclosed, would be used to facilitate any territorial and economic concessions from Ethiopia to Italy.]

Scorn Emperor's Offer.

ROME, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Informed circles expressed deep scorn tonight at reports from Addis Ababa that Emperor Haile Selassie had indicated a willingness to concede a portion of Ogaden to Italy for a heavy financial loan or an outlet to the sea.

With Italy reportedly possessing a new and powerful weapon for aerial attack in the event of war with Ethiopia and the nation continuing its military preparations at emergency speed, authoritative quarters said Italians felt Ethiopia's reported offer constituted a last minute effort to interest other nations in "a strip of sand."

It was asserted Italy could not be interested in the "sand trap" and other concessions which assertedly do not meet Premier Mussolini's idea for "total solution" of the problem.

Italian sources were equally scornful of reports that the emperor said he did not desire "to force a loss of Italian prestige." Italy, it was insisted, has not lost prestige in its deal-gs with Ethiopia and "does not intend to do so."

It was suggested if the emperor found himself so "jealous" of Italy's prestige, he should be willing to treat with Italy directly on a basis of the treaty of 1928 between the two nations.

The new weapon, details of which were carefully withheld, was said to have been tried out during naval maneuvers at Spezia yesterday in the presence of Premier Mussolini himself and to the entire satisfaction of naval and military officers.

Mimic Warfare Success.

The Italian press pointed to the success of aerial and tactical maneuvers held Thursday and Friday among the rocky Alpine peaks as well as those at Spezia as proof that Italy is more than ready to meet the Ethiopian army, now reported reaching a mobilization point of 700,000.

Aviation experts said that attacking and defending squadrons carried out a mimic warfare over the Alps with "perfect piloting" at altitudes of 15,000 and 20,000 feet.

The nation waited, too, for announcement of military maneuvers which are to reach a climax near the Brenner pass by an estimated 500,000 men. Secrecy with which the government surrounded the maneuvers led well informed persons to believe that new and more powerful aerial, artillery and chemical weapons will be tested in the gigantic war games.

Building Modern Fort.

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selasie, determined that his capital's only modern means of reaching the outside world be kept open, is building a modern fort equipped with anti-aircraft guns at a point where the Ethiopian railroad crosses the Hawash river about 150 miles from here.

The railroad bridge is a vital link between Addis Ababa and the seacoast. It crosses a great gorge and was constructed by the French twenty years ago at great cost.

Since it is the largest bridge on the French-owned railroad that runs eastward to Djibouti, it would be an easy prey for planes, and its destruction might isolate Addis Ababa for a year or more.

Similar measures have been taken at other bridges, but efforts have been concentrated at the Hawash following continued arrival of Italian troops in her East African colonies.

Hidden from View.

The fort, constructed with the greatest secrecy, has reached an advanced stage for defense against both ground and air attacks. It is hidden both from passing trains and from aerial observers, lying in a depression near the railway. Unconfirmed rumors circulated also have it that a battalion of French Senegalese may defend the bridge in case of war.

Authorities regard as suspicious a recent wreck on the railroad, caused by stones placed on the rails. Trafic was tied up for two days.

It is understood the emperor will make no attempt to achieve aerial equality with Mussolini. His antiquated air force is hopelessly outclassed by the armada Italy is assembling in Eritrea. Cost of such an air force for Ethiopia would be prohibitive.

Nurses Nearing Eritrea.

PORT SAID, Egypt, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Italian steamer California, painted white, passed through the Suez canal yesterday bound for Massaua, Eritrea, and carrying a large number of young Italian volunteer nurses.

POLAND DENIES NAZI REPORTS OF ANTI-SEMITISM

WARSAW, Aug. 11.—Berlin stories of anti-Jewish riots and violent anti-Semitic propaganda in the Polish Upper Silesian towns of Katowice and Koenigshuette were emphatically denied here today by the government and Jews themselves.

What really happened was a row Wednesday during a football match at Sosnowiec, mining town on the Silesian border, where the referee was beaten up by a mob and a gentile lad was injured in a clash with several young Jews. He recovered in two days.

Attempts to raise the population against the Jews have failed completely. The stories are laid to the German press. Jewish leaders here think the Germans used the occasion to attempt to show they are not alone to be blamed for anti-Semitism and anti-Jewish riots.

Athens Paper of Venizelos Raided; Reporters Hurt

ATHENS, Aug. 11.—(AP)—A terrorist gang of twenty men ransacked the plant of the Venizelist newspaper Patris today, wounding several reporters and menacing the editor with their guns. The victims said they believed their assailants were monarchists as the newspaper is energetically Republican.

20 Drown as Floods Sweep Two Districts of Japan

TOKIO, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Twenty persons were killed and more than 50 injured in floods in the Kyoto and Osaka districts, it was reported today. Heavy rains have caused streams to rise far above their banks and more than 40,000 houses were reported inundated.

NAZIS READY TO CRUSH ALL FOES, HITLER DECLARES

Speech Seen as Stroke at Unrest in Germany.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROSENHEIM, Bavaria, Germany, Aug. 11.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler emerged from his retirement in the Bavarian mountains today to warn his opponents that the Nazis are ready to crush all opposition.

He issued the warning in a speech addressed to followers assembled to celebrate the 15th anniversary of the foundation of the Nazi cell in this town, near Munich.

Rosenheim's old Nazi guard and tens of thousands of newer followers gave the fuehrer an enthusiastic welcome. His words left no doubt that he is aware of the atmosphere of restlessness creeping through Germany and that he is ready to fight all opponents.

"Stand by your flag not only in the good days, but stand by still closer in the bad days," he charged his followers. "Cling to it when the storms are lashing and the clouds threaten from the sky."

He warned opponents:

"We conquered Germany by fighting and we will hold Germany by fighting on. Those who are against us must remember we never dodged a fight. If they want one they can have it. We will smash them so terribly that for the next fourteen years they will have no thought of carrying on the battle."

Germany Conquered.

To those who have religious doubts, Hitler said:

"Fifteen years ago I had only my faith and energy. Today our movement has conquered Germany and is rebuilding it. Would that have been possible without the blessings of the Almighty? As long as we are faithful, honest, ready to fight, believe in our achievements and do not capitulate we will have the blessings of Providence for us. The young guards of the movement and the old guards guarantee that those virtues will be upheld.

"Fifteen years ago I prophesied our flag would be that of the whole of Germany. Today I prophesy that in 500 years our flag will have become the heart of the whole of Germany."

Hitler spoke of the campaign to educate the last non-Nazi members of the nation.

Germany does not want a war, Hitler said, and added:

"Other nations should desire peace as much as we do. Whoever threatens our peace will meet not a nation of pacifists but a nation of men—that alone would do more for peace than all the speeches and talking of peace."

Jews Turned Away.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Jews were turned away from summer resorts throughout the reich today as Nazi leaders wound up their latest week-end budget of action against "state enemies."

The week-end, brought, too, the rumble of trucks through Berlin streets, carrying Storm Troopers and signs that warned: "State enemies beware, the Storm Troop is on guard." At Munich a united group of neighboring Storm Troop organizations paraded the streets in 500 trucks, flaunting streamers denouncing Jews and referring to "Catholic devisen [money] smugglers."

Reports from a number of resorts said Jews had been banned apparently as a result of complaints by "Aryan" vacationers. Two spas, Durrheim in the Black Forest and Bad Orb in Spessart, received special attention from anti-Semitic visitors.

Church Struggle Looms.

In defiance of warnings, the Council of Brethren, made up of clergymen opposed to the Nazi Protestant church program, sent a letter informing all Protestant ministers that "a new and possibly the most severe struggle yet experienced lies ahead." It urged an "uncompromising 'no' to every attempt to solve the church question contrary to the decisions of our synods."

Nazi placards assailing so called "political Catholicism" aroused resentment in Catholic rural sections. At Osnabrueck and Hilden the placards were torn down. Several persons charged with posting them received heavy fines.

FIRST BATTLE IN ITALO-ETHIOPIAN WAR IS A DRAW

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Hostilities opened without benefit of a formal declaration of war on the Jersey City front today when two squads of Italians and native Ethiopians armed with baseball bats, clubs, and milk bottles met in battle array under a railroad trestle and undertook to settle one phase of the Abyssinian quarrel with a free-for-all skull-cracking contest.

Between 60 and 75 combatants, about equally divided between the rival nationalities, took part in the fracas.

Police reserves arriving at the height of battle found the Italian right flank giving way under a furious charge of broomstick wielding Amazonians rushed up from Shantytown near by and the terrain was strewn with disordered signs of carnage.

A dozen or more hors de combat warriors of both factions lay groaning about. Five of the worst beaten of them had to be carted off to the hospital. Eight of the others were arrested and hustled down to the hoosegow.

The rest, including the female broom brigade, beat a successful, if disorderly, retreat.

WARREN, OUSTED BY METHODISTS, IS REORDAINED

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 11.—(AP)—John A. Logan Warren, unfrocked as pastor by the Methodist church in 1927, was restored to the full rights of the ministry as a member of the Christian Association of America in a baptismal ceremony in Rock river today.

Warren, ordained last Thursday night in a ceremony at Lighthouse chapel, was visibly affected by emotion today as three hundred persons watched the ceremony in Blackhawk park conducted by the Rev. I. B. Sipes, Downs, Ill., formerly pastor of the United Brethren church of Rockford.

Warren as yet is unassigned by the independent denomination.

He was unfrocked and evicted from his parish in the Durand, Ill., Methodist church after charges of conduct unbecoming a minister had been preferred against him. The charges were based upon allegations made by an 18 year old domestic. He later won a slander suit against members of the Durand church board.

Ban on Zionist Paper in Germany Lifted by Nazis

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Permission to resume publication of the Juedische Rundschau, official Zionist organ in Germany, prior to the forthcoming Zionist congress in Lucerne, Switzerland, Aug. 20, was granted today by the Nazi authorities. It was suppressed July 23 for three months.

TAKES POISON; DIES IN RIVER.

50 YANKEE BOYS MYSTERY GUESTS ON GERMAN TOUR

Nazi Propaganda Office Refuses Names.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—Two huge buses, their hoods covered with American flags, are carrying fifty supposedly American boys from one grand festivity to another all through Germany.

A representative of the German propaganda ministry in Munich, Herr Stoeger, told THE TRIBUNE'S representative that the "mystery boys'" names will be kept secret.

"Interested circles in the native land of the boys might try to make things hard for them when they get home because they were 'subjected to German propaganda,'" Stoeger declared.

Sons of German Emigrants.

The boys belong to a group of 1,400 sons of German born parents living in foreign countries. They came to Germany to be guests of the Hitler Youth organization and to resume contact with the fatherland of their parents. Many of the boys traveled thousands of miles from North America, South America, China, and all parts of Africa.

The boys were given a good time in a big camp near Berlin. During their two day visit in Berlin and Potsdam, Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels addressed them on the square in front of the chancellory telling them of Nazi achievements. The army staged a special sham battle and military show for the boys in Doeberitz.

They are now in a camp at Lengries in the Bavarian Alps. The Hitler Youth leader, Baldur von Schirach, conducted a review there. Many of the boys were allowed to call on Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Obersalzberg and shake hands, drink coffee, and eat cake with him.

Health Watched Closely.

Doctors who specialize in the treatment of adolescents and illnesses due to the influence of climate are attached to the group to see to it that the boys are kept in superlative health. The group is being given most of the thrills that boys of all countries love in the midst of Germany's youngsters.

Such fraternization trips of youths are quite the order of the day throughout Europe, but to date names had never been kept secret. The secrecy is all the more surprising since the state departments of the countries whose nationals are visiting Germany have the names and addresses in their passport records.

TROPICAL SUNDAY LURES MILLION TO SAND AND FOREST

Fair skies and a beating sun attracted more than 500,000 Chicagoans to the beaches along Lake Michigan yesterday while another half a million sought relief in the cool glades of the parks and forest preserves. Today is expected to see a repetition of yesterday's heat with the possibility of cooler weather by this afternoon and evening.

From a high of 91 at 3, 4, and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the mercury descended slowly until it was 83 at 10 o'clock. At 5 p. m. the mercury stood at 87 degrees at the Old Chicago coast guard station at the mouth of the river, but the lake breeze prevalent then did not extend inland. It was 94 at the same time on the government thermometer at the Chicago airport.

Unprotected by any such body of water as Lake Michigan, other cities of the middle west and west sweltered in heat of more than 100 degrees. Official maximum readings were: Concordia, Kas., 108; El Dorado, Kas., 109; Topeka, Kas., 108; Dodge City, Ia., 104; Memphis, Tenn., 100; Oklahoma City, 106; Springfield, Mo., 102; Omaha, Neb., 103.

AUSTRO-GERMAN QUARRELS SEEN NEAR SOLUTION

Vienna Loses Hope in Danube Pact.

VIENNA, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Significant hints were dropped in several quarters today that Austria and Germany may shake hands and call off their bitter two year old quarrel.

There were numerous signs that not since relations were strained almost to the breaking point by the assassination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss in a Nazi putsch, have prospects been better for reconciliation.

Austria, it was said, needs a new friend and is losing confidence in the possibility of getting either friendship or security from a proposed pact between the Danube states.

The official Wiener Zeitung seized upon and gave sympathetic consideration to an assertion by the German Berliner Boersen Zeitung that Austria need not fear the possibility of an invasion by the German army.

Seek Breakup of Legions.

The Wiener Zeitung said the statement must be regarded as inspired by the German government and that it constitutes a basis for negotiations between the states.

Austrian conditions for a rapprochement, the Austrian paper said, are dissolution of the Austrian Legion in Germany and disbanding of the Austrian "Hilfsbund," an organization ostensibly dedicated to aiding Austrians in Germany, but accused of supporting secret Nazi groups in Austria.

Monarchists immediately added their own condition—a stipulation that Germany permit restoration of the Hapsburgs. The legitimists were confident that German approval of this condition would take all the fight out of the little entente, which has threatened to take military measures if necessary to prevent a reëstablishment of a monarchy. It was believed in some quarters that Germany might allow restoration for the sake of getting some sort of stability in Austria.

Von Papen Active.

Germany, it was said, probably would demand amnesty for Austrian fugitives and a trade agreement.

Significance was attached to the extraordinary activity of the German ambassador, Franz von Papen. He conferred recently with the governor of an upper Austrian border province and went to Germany for secret instructions.

Another sign of an approaching understanding was the widespread display of swastikas in Austria.

URGES PARAGUAY, BOLIVIA TO FREE CHACO PRISONERS

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The newspaper La Prensa says it has learned that Hugh Gibson, United States ambassador to Brazil, president of the committee of the Chaco peace conference dealing with the exchange and repatriation of prisoners, has proposed that all Bolivian and Paraguayan prisoners be freed now by the neutral military commission.

Preference would be given to wounded soldiers, students, or those who are older or whose presence is most necessary to their country.

STREET CAR RIPS INTO STEEL POLE; 20 PERSONS HURT

Jumps Track at Corner as Switch Jams.

Twenty persons were injured and sixty-five others endangered yesterday when a crowded street car crashed into a steel post at Roosevelt road and Paulina street after being derailed by a defective switch. It was the second major accident within one month involving equipment of the Chicago Surface Lines.

Only three of the victims were seriously enough injured to remain in the county hospital, and their names were the only ones obtained by the police, who were notified of the accident by a bystander and who said they were unable to get accurate information about the accident from company officials. The other seventeen injured went home after being given first aid treatment in nearby doctors' offices and at the County hospital.

Most Seriously Injured.

The three whose injuries were serious enough to require a hospital record are:

MRS. MARION GRISWOLD, 28 years old, 1525 Adams street.

MRS. MARY OLSON, 66 years old, 1523 Washburne avenue.

TONY MILLER, 48 years old, 2017 Bissell street.

William Elwood, 5117 South Morgan street, the motorman, told Police Sergeant Richard Adamek of the accident prevention bureau that the accident was due to a faulty switch. According to the motorman's story, the street car, an Ashland-Southport car, was turning north in Paulina street from its westward course in Roosevelt road.

The front trucks made the turn but the switch did not work properly and the rear trucks continued in the Roosevelt road tracks. According to witnesses, the car careened wildly around the corner and left the tracks. The rear end crashed into a large steel post, used as a support for trolley wire guide wires.

Glass Causes Injuries.

The car was jammed with homeward bound churchgoers and with picnickers.

The passengers hanging to straps were thrown to the floor and were showered with glass from the windows. The rear platform was crowded and several passengers were thrown to the pavement. Among those injured on the rear platform was the conductor, Fred Macholp. He clung to the side of the car and did not fall to the pavement. Nevertheless, he received several severe cuts about the head and body. A majority of those seated in the car were thrown violently to the floor, adding to the confusion in the aile and on the front and rear platforms.

Similar Accident on July 19.

A wrecking crew arrived on the scene of the crash in a few minutes and began clearing the wreckage. Almost an hour elapsed before service was resumed on the line.

In a similar accident, blamed on defective and obsolete equipment coupled with reckless driving, on July 19, when a street car crashed into a viaduct at 75th street and South Chicago avenue, one man was killed and ninety-two other persons were injured. An Illinois commerce commission investigation placed the blame for that wreck on a defective rail and excessive speed.

Among the assets of the Chicago Surface Lines is $10,000,000 allocated from the fares paid by passengers to a fund for replacing obsolete equipment. This fund has remained untouched for many years.

Arrives at Her Count's Castle

LAWYER ASSAILS SEWELL'S REPLY TO WIFE'S SUIT

Asserts Charges "Long Held Over Her Head."

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Charges of Barton Sewell, millionaire sportsman, against his wife, Leah Clampitt Sewell, including one that she was unduly familiar with her Negro cook and chauffeur, were termed "dastardly" today by her attorney, Henry Bodkin. He said they long had been held over her head in an attempt to force a settlement.

Answering a suit for separate maintenance brought by Mrs. Sewell, the millionaire accused his wife of unfaithfulness and excessive drinking.

The Sewells' tangled marital affairs were first aired early this year when they became principals in the "wife swapping" divorce suit of Walter and Jane Emerson.

Emersons Denied Divorce.

At that time Judge Ben Lindsey, famous for his studies of marriage problems, denied the Emersons a divorce after Sewell testified he was intimate with Mrs. Emerson with the knowledge and approval of Mrs. Sewell and Emerson.

As part of his answer, Sewell said he was informed that on July 4 Mrs. Sewell was guilty of misconduct with Buster Keaton, movie comedian, at a Santa Barbara hotel. Mrs. Sewell and Keaton called this charge "ridiculous." Mrs. Mae Elizabeth Keaton several weeks ago sued Keaton for divorce, naming Mrs. Sewell as co-respondent.

Sewell, who has taken up residence in Las Vegas, Nev., preparatory to filing suit for divorce, also accused his wife of staging noisy parties in their home.

Charges Carousing on Yacht.

Episodes of a six months' yacht cruise to Alaska in 1934 were cited by the rich sportsman.

"At Sitka, Alaska, during said cruise," said Sewell's answer, "when nobody was up to keep her company, plaintif would carouse around and keep everybody awake and would go down into the crew's quarters and in the forecastle."

Mrs. Sewell recently was allowed $1,000 monthly temporary alimony.

PASSENGER EYES HOOVER TOPCOAT; NOPE! ALL'S WELL

Ex-President Hoover dismounted from a Chicago and North Western train yesterday, carrying a dark topcoat over his arm, despite the fact that it was very hot. As he walked along the platform with his friend, Arch W. Shaw, another passenger leaped from the train, pursued and stopped the ex-President. He took hold of the topcoat, scrutinizing it inside and outside, while Mr. Hoover stood in amazement. Then the stranger muttered:

"Nope, not mine," and hurried back into the train.

CANDIDACY FORECAST

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—A statement by Herbert Hoover at Chicago today, freshly projecting a "momentous" constitutional issue into the 1936 campaign, was interpreted by several leading Democrats and Republicans as foretelling his own candidacy.

Senator Gibson [Rep., Vt.] said he had no doubt that Hoover "will be a candidate and that today's statement is a preliminary outline of his platform."

One who would not comment was Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho]. He raised the constitutional question shortly after the NRA decision. Today the Idaho senator was given a top position for the 1936 nomination in a private poll conducted by Robert H. Lucas, former executive director of the Republican national committee.

A willingness to accept the "New Deal vs. the constitution" as the 1936 issue recently was advanced by Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican national committee in a radio speech.

Senator Frederic Steiwer [Rep., Ore.], recalled that "Senator Borah recently said much the same thing."

There was no hint in the White House quarters that Mr. Roosevelt would amplify his constitutional views before congress adjourns as Mr. Hoover demanded in Chicago. Representative Fred N. Vinson [Dem., Ky.] said: "No constitutional amendment has been submitted, and nobody has said that one will be."

Like Borah, Vandenberg, another 1936 possibility, declined comment on the Hoover statement. But Representative Bertrand H. Snell, the Republican leader, who also has been mentioned to head the ticket, joined with Hoover's request for more light on Roosevelt's constitutional plans.

Senator Robert M. La Follette [Prog., Wis.], a New Deal supporter, refused any statement, but George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.] bluntly disagreed with Hoover.

"I don't know why we should demand that the President set forth his proposals for changing the constitution before congress adjourns," Norris said. "We may find out later that some changes are necessary."

DANZIG GREETS GERMAN TROOPER.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Nazi sympathizers received Victor Lutze, chief of Germany's Storm Troopers, with bands and banners today as he arrived to inspect Brown Shirt followers.

Settled $350,000 Year

LONDON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—A Reuter's [British] News agency dispatch from Copenhagen today said Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, disclosed that after her divorce from the late Prince Alexis Mdivani, she was to pay him £70,000 [about $350,000] annually.

She declined to comment on the report that Mdivani, who was killed in an automobile accident in Spain, had left her £400,000, but intimated a report involving such an amount could hardly be correct. It was improbable, she said, the value of his palace in Venice and other property would amount to £400,000.

The countess and her husband will go to London Aug. 13, it was learned. Today they spent in their usual routine of tennis and automobile riding. Ten guests attended dinner.

FIND SWIMMER, CRAZED, 200 MILES OFF BOSTON COAST

Boston, Mass., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Leaping into the open sea from a fishing boat on the banks, 200 miles east of here, a Boston man was rescued today.

The man, Walter Robillard, 32, was forcibly hauled into a dory launched by the trawler Ripple. It was not determined at first how he happened to be in the water. Seven hours after the Ripple found him, the master of the fisherman Notre Dame notified the coast guard the man had been a passenger on that craft.

A coast guard plane, summoned to the scene by radio, took the man aboard and brought him to Chelsea Marine hospital here.

When rescued he wore shoes, brown trousers, and a sweater.

At the hospital he said he had leaped overboard on a "dare" issued, he insisted, by men prominent in public life.

Dr. John T. Hazel of the hospital staf said the man appeared insane and plans were made to transfer him to a mental hospital.

PLANS SPEEDED ON CONSTITUTION DAY OBSERVANCE

Thousands Expected for Celebration Here.

BY PARKE BROWN.

An outline of plans for the annual observance of Constitution day on Sept. 17 was made public yesterday by a committee of 250 citizens who are sponsoring the event.

JULIUS H. MINER.

In addition to an address by some speaker of national note, the celebration this year will be made imposing as a pageant by a series of tableaux of outstanding events in American history bearing on the story of the constitution from its inception down to the present day. There will be daylight parades by Legion posts and other patriotic organizations. The climax will be a fireworks display.

The arrangements are not yet complete but will be hastened as much as possible. It is expected that all Chicagoland will participate and it is hoped that delegations from nearby states will attend. Negotiations for a nation-wide radio hookup have been begun.

Use of Field Doubtful.

The committee is said to have recognized that, while it is the ideal place for the celebration and the only one large enough to hold the throngs expected, the commissioners of the Chicago park district might refuse to grant the use of Soldiers' field for the occasion because of the pending litigation brought by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin who was denied a permit for the big bowl.

The observance of Constitution day, however, is to be nonpartisan, both Republicans and Democrats being on the committee, and it is entirely possible that the orator of the day may be a Democrat. Last year when the anniversary of the signing of the basic law was celebrated at A Century of Progress the speaker was James A. Reed, a Democrat, former United States senator from Missouri. This year his name is under consideration along with several others, including those of Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, a Democrat, and Senator Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware, a Republican.

Eliminate Partisan Aspect.

Last year's celebration was listed by some critics as a G. O. P. affair because the tickets were sold largely through the Republican county committee and the commissions paid on them went into the campaign fund of that organization. Those phases of the anniversary exercises have been completely eliminated this year. There will be no admission charge and the expenses will be defrayed by donations obtained through the sponsoring committee.

The committee has not filed an application for Soldiers' field, preferring to inquire into the situation before doing so. If it does apply it will be on grounds that the constitution belongs to no party and that both Democratic and Republican organizations will be invited to participate this year.

Consider Wrigley Field.

If, in spite of this argument, the use of the field is refused, the celebration may be held in Wrigley field, the Cubs' baseball park. It is neither as large nor so central as Soldiers' field, however.

Newspaper editors and publishers have been brought to the front for the occasion. Homer Guck is chairman of the general committee. Col. Robert R. McCormick will act as chairman during the evening program. Col. Frank Knox will be a speaker. Merrill C. Meigs is a member of the executive committee. S. E. Thomason has been asked to take an active part.

In addition to these newspaper men, those interested include a large number of others active in civic and patriotic affairs. The vice chairmen of the general committee are Col. C. C. Haffner and B. E. Sunny. The secretary is John A. Stevenson. The general director is Julius H. Miner, who conceived the idea of a big annual observance of this day in Chicago and directed last year's celebration.

Complete Committee Roster.

The roster of the committee follows:

F. C. Aldrich	Charles E. Herrick
A. I. Appleton	Charles W. Hills

RADIO COMEDIANS IN CHICAGO

Gracie Allen and George Burns, radio performers, with their adopted daughter, Sandra Jean, 1 year old, as they arrived in Chicago yesterday on the Chief. They are bound for New York, and on their return plan to adopt another baby at the Cradle in Evanston.

Going to New York

George Burns and Gracie Allen, stage, screen, and radio stars intend to adopt a son from the Evanston Cradle when they return to Chicago in ten days. They spent a few hours in the city yesterday, en route from the west coast to New York. The Burnses already have a daughter, Sandra Jean, adopted from the Cradle.

NEW DEAL WILL STAND FAST ON SECURITY WAGES

Pay Is to Be Kept Below Industry's Scale.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Blunt notice that the administration will stand fast on "security" wages despite New York City strike threats was given today by Aubrey Williams, assistant works progress director.

"Congress has set the policy and that's all been determined," he said when asked if adjustments might be made to forestall tomorrow's scheduled walkout in New York.

Williams' statement, a reaffirmation of President Roosevelt's stand that those refusing jobs on the security wage level would be cut off the dole, was made to the national coördinating committee of rank and file groups in social work. They had demanded payment of prevailing wages.

Keep Below Industry Level.

Denying assertions that the $19 to $94 security wage scale would break down the level in private employment, Williams told the group that "government can't lift the wage structure above what private industry can pay."

"The security wage," he insisted, "is a great advance over the hourly wage arrangement. Six hundred, seven hundred or eight hundred dollars a year is far more than the average family has been able to earn even with higher hourly rates."

Other Jobs Stopped.

Recalling that sporadic strikes against the old relief work program had been attempted during the last year and that the projects simply had been dropped, works progress officials said a compromise was "impossible."

The rank and file delegation, insisted on payment of "an adequate weekly wage at trade union hourly rates," for the WPA, greater speed, more white collar projects and reduction of CCC allotments.

Showdown Due Today.

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—A showdown between the striking works progress administration workers and Administrator Hugh S. Johnson will be reached tomorrow. Union leaders predicted they would complete the task of pulling an estimated 10,000 to 15,000 men off projects, and Johnson stood ready to cut them off the payrolls at the end of the day.

White collar groups continued to seek a working agreement with the unionized mechanics looking toward the spread of the strike to many thousands of other WPA employés.

Vote for WPA Strike.

York, Pa., Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Intercounty Unemployed and Works Division alliance, representing unemployed and relief groups in Berks, Schuylkill, Lancaster, Lehigh, and York counties, today adopted a resolution to call a strike on every WPA project for a 70 cent hour, 30 hour week, and a six hour day.

Awaken People to Liberty.

"This celebration and other similar events throughout the land," said Director Miner in connection with the preliminary announcement, "will awaken our people to a full and complete realization of the blessings of the liberty whic is theirs, to the contrast with the experiences of the citizens of other countries in which freedom is fast waning."

Threatened WPA Strike Gives Impetus to Drive for Bonus

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The threatened national strike of relief workers against President Roosevelt's so-called "security" wages has given impetus to the movement in congress, led by Republicans and conservative Democrats, for payment, through action at the next session, of the soldiers' bonus out of the 4 billion works relief fund.

Robinson Likes Plan.

Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas subscribed to this plan with alacrity, not only because it prevents a prolongation of the present session, which consideration of the bonus question might entail but also because he is up for reëlection next year and it is regarded as politically expedient to do something about the bonus.

The most vociferous advocates of pre-paying the bonus are the radicals, led by Senators Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.] and William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] and Representative Wright Patman [Dem., Tex.], all of whom favor the issuance of 2 billion dollars in greenbacks for such payment.

The Republican regulars and conservative Democrats, however, favor paying the bonus from the 4 billion dollar works fund because they believe 2 billion dollars is enough for a boondoggling and leaf raking program.

Gore Explains Position.

Senator Thomas P. Gore [Dem., Okla.], one of the original advocates of paying the bonus from the works relief fund, explained his position today as follows:

"If we issue four billion dollars in bonds, that adds 4 billion dollars to the national debt. These adjusted service certificates represent a part of the national debt, for they are payable in 1945. Therefore, every dollar applied from the 4 billion dollar boondoggling and leaf raking fund cuts down the national debt that much."

Senator Gore also asserted that the announced purpose of the works fund was to put men to work and distribute purchasing power. The program, so far, he explained, has failed in this respect, while payment of the bonus would distribute purchasing power in all sections of the country.

Advocates Encouraged.

Advocates of paying the bonus from the 4 billion dollar appropriation were encouraged last week by the introduction in the senate of a bill for the immediate payment of the bonus with discretionary power lodged with the President of using the works fund for all or any part of such payment. They were encouraged because Senator James F. Byrnes [Dem., S. C.], a loyal New Dealer and the President's senate spokesman on the works bill, signed the bonus bill with Senator Frederick T. Steiwer [Rep., Ore.].

Senator Byrnes was a guest of the President on a yachting trip down Chesapeake Bay for the week-end.

Would Set Back Date.

The Byrnes-Steiwer bill would require the cash payment of the bonus by setting back the date of issuance of the adjusted service certificates to Nov. 11, 1918, Armistic day. Since the certificates mature in 20 years that would bring about their maturity on Nov. 11, 1938. The act of congress providing for the payment of the bonus dated the interest date as of 1925, so that they now stand to become payable in 1945, with interest compounded at 4 per cent, making a $400 certificate with a 25 per cent super bonus for deferred payment and compound interest equal $1,000.

The Byrnes-Steiwer plan would provide for an immediate cash payment of the accrued face value dated from 1918, which would mean 96 per cent, or 960, or a $1,000 face value certificate, at present, or the full value of 1,000 in 1938. It would cost approximately two billion dollars, assuming that all holders cashed their certificates at once, instead of the 2 billion 200 million dollars proposed in the Patman greenback inflation plan.

Confident of Adoption.

Since both houses of congress have passed the bonus legislation at this session and the house has passed it over the President's veto, supporters of the Byrnes-Steiwer plan are confident that it will be adopted. They also are convinced that the senate would not sustain a veto of a bill providing for the payment in sound money, for many supporters of the President on the recent test admitted their stand was based on opposition to inflation.

It is a foregone conclusion that President Roosevelt would veto a bill provoding for mandatory payment of the bonus from the 4 billion works fund, particularly with an election coming on next year and such a huge sum presenting irresistible campaign inducements, and it also is well understood that he would never make use of such a discretionary privilege. However, the bonus supporters now are encouraged by the strike against the work relief wages to feel that they can put over a mandatory bill early in the next session requiring payment from the works fund.

Much of the 4 billion dollar fund [exclusive of the 880 million dollars previously committed for direct relief] has been allocated or earmarked, but there still remains more than 2 billion dollars and the sum already allotted would easily carry a relief program until the next session.

N. Y. TRAFIC JAM JEOPARDIZES RED LIGHT TURN HERE

Chicagoans Fear Result of Chaiged Rule.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Drivers of Gotham's 19,000 squawking taxicabs are jeopardhing prospects of a right turn on a red light being introduced soon in Chicago. The combative as well as competitive maneuvering of these public hacks has raised the hair on the heads of a Chicago party here to study this tening regulation for possible adopton in the Illinois city.

The visitors, with nerves on edge from unwanted thrills, are in a mood to condemn all Manhattan trafic. After a few rides behind unshaved drivers in soiled shirt sleeves and chewing cigar butts, blasting with the horn for a contested right of way, cheating on the lights and crowding other cars into the curb, the midwesterners look more kindly toward Chicago's present street regulations.

Law, Safety Ignored.

Even after the engineers put their stop watches and mechanical counters on intersection movements here and after they peruse police accidents reports, it's not unlikely that they will disapprove of the right turn on the red because its practice here is not in compliance with the ordinance nor in accordance with the best rules of safety.

The taxicabs that dominate Manhattan's streets—19,000 for hire vehicles as compared with 2,200 in Chicago—do not make a preliminary stop before turning right on the red. Some never slacken their pace, but merely blow their horns in swinging out of a cross-street into flowing trafic. And they frequently turn right from other than the right hand lane.

Not for Chicago.

"It's certainly a disarray that we do not want in Chicago," said Leslie Sorenson, trafic engineer for Chicago.

New York police, pressed with a problem of moving large volumes of vehicles on narrow, old streets, close their eyes to almost all violations that do not injure any one nor block the movements of the solid parades of cars and pedestrians.

Whether these violations are an unavoidable concomitant of the right turn on the red may remain a disputed question after this survey is completed. The National Safety council has a theory that any movement on the red creates disrespect for the red as a stop signal.

The question will have to be settled when the Chicago council votes on a proposed ordinance to permit the right turn after stopping for the red and subject to the prior rights of vehicles proceding on the green.

CLIPPER PLANE TO CARRY CARGO ON MIDWAY HOP

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Pan-American Clipper plane will play the rôle of a cargo bearing ship when she flies to Midway Islands and thence on to Wake Island this week.

Articles ranging from wooden "eye glasses" for coral divers to the latest talkie films were being assembled today for loading aboard the ocean going plane. The pioneers at Wake Island, nearly 2,500 miles from here, will receive their first fresh vegetables since April when the Clipper reaches there.

Capt. R. O. D. Sullivan said he expected to start probably Tuesday and planned to negotiate the 1,323 miles between Honolulu and Midway Islands in nine hours. He said the Clipper probably could reach Wake Island from Midway, 1,191 miles, in eight hours. The Clipper arrived here yesterday in record time from Alameda for her third trip from California.

FALL FIVE WEEKS AGO FATAL.

Miss Hattie McClelland, 63 years old, died yesterday in the Norwegian-American hospital of injuries received on July 6 when she fell in her home at 4139 Maypole avenue.

GOOD SAMARITAN IN FATAL CRASH HELD FOR THEFT

Takes 3 to Hospital; Has Dead Man's Watch.

A "Good Samaritan" who took three persons injured in an automobile accident to the hospital last night was subsequently held by Hammond police for picking the pockets of one of the victims, who died from his injuries.

The man held is Joseph Macha, 531 Pulaski road, Calumet City. The accident occurred at 128th street and Avenue O, when a car driven by Mrs. Katherine Jones, 40 years old, of Cedar Lake, Ind., was trying to pass a cross-country bus of the Great Eastern Bus system.

The gas pedal of Mrs. Jones' machine stuck and she was unable to slow down. In a vain effort to whisk the automobile about the bus, she struck the bus and her car overturned.

Befriended Person Tells.

Thomas Johns, 80 years old, 1305 East 69th street, a passenger in her car, was fatally injured and she and Miss Agnes Oliver, 21 years old, 11045 South Troy street, also were hurt.

Macha, driving up, leaped out, loaded the injured in his car and sped to St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond, where Johns died. On their arrival Mrs. Jones told police that Macha had picked Johns' pockets.

Police searched Macha and found Johns' watch in his pocket. He was charged with grand larceny and was locked in the Hammond jail. In the meantime, East Side police in Chicago jailed Richard Gleason, 37 years old, 1782 Summit street, Toledo, O., driver of the bus, on the ground that his vehicle had defective brakes.

Joseph Klein, 29 years old, 610 East 89th place, was injured seriously yesterday morning when the automobile he was driving crashed into an abutment of a safety island in Western avenue at Berwyn avenue. He is at the Swedish Covenant hospital.

With no deaths in Cook county yesterday from automobile accidents the 1935 trafic toll remained at 559. At 4 p. m., yesterday 444 had been killed in trafic accidents within the Chicago city limits since Jan. 1 and 9,877 had been injured.

Stephen Hotham, manager of the Dunes park of Illinois, placed a "Sunday only" watchman at the Dunes park crossing over the North Western railroad near Waukegan yesterday.

ADVISES SECRET MARK ON BIKE IN CASE OF THEFT

Chief John Prendergast of the uniformed police yesterday warned owners of bicycles to put a secret mark on them for identification and to lock them even if leaving the bicycle for only a few minutes. The number of bicycle thefts, he said, averages between 35 and 40 a day. Police have recovered several thousand, which are to be auctioned off soon, because the owners have no method of identifying the bicycles.

PILOT AND THREE PASSENGERS DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Worthington, Minn., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Three passengers and the pilot were killed when a cabin plane used for pleasure rides crashed and burned three miles east of the Worthington airport late today.

Witnesses said the plane wing appeared to crumble at an altitude of more than 1,000 feet. The ship crashed and immediately became enveloped in flames. Rescuers arriving at the grain field, where the plane was lodged, were hampered by the fire.

The plane, owned by Gus Imm of Worthington, had been used for pleasure rides throughout the day. An explosion resulted from the crash and sent airport crowds hurrying to the scene. The bodies were not recovered for thirty minutes.

Efforts to identify two of the passengers were futile. The bodies were reported "terribly burned."

Two Legionnaires Killed, 16 Hurt in Bus Crash

Wallingford, Conn., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Two members of the Oscar H. Cowan American Legion post of Stamford were killed and 16 others were injured early today when the bus in which they were returning from the state Legion convention at Hartford collided head on with a truck at the foot of a hill here.

INQUEST FOR FALL VICTIM.

An inquest will be held today in the death in the County hospital Saturday of John Obiala, 48 years old, 908 West 50th street, who was taken to the hospital last Tuesday when he fell from a street car at Archer and Springfield avenues.

FEAR CONGRESS WILL WALK OUT ON TAX TANGLE

New Deal Facing Biggest Legislative Hurdle.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Moves on the congressional chess board today indicated that a mighty conflict between administration and anti-administration forces over the tax bill is at hand.

Revolt against the Roosevelt wealth confiscation program in Mr. Roosevelt's own party threatens the President with defeat on a major New Deal "leveling down" project. Unless he can quell the revolt or effect a compromise it is not unlikely that congress will quit after postponing tax legislation to the session next winter.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], a potential Republican nominee for President, is leading a movement, it was learned tonight, to shelve the entire tax problem until in January when the President submits his estimates of expenditures for the next fiscal year. Then it is the plan of this group to frame a revenue measure designed to balance the budget.

Helped Beat Inheritance Levy.

The Michigan senator, who advocated the broadening of the tax base as the senate finance committee now proposes, had a conspicuous hand in the defeat of the President's confiscatory inheritance taxes in the committee.

The rejection of that part of the Roosevelt plan to "soak the rich" is attributed partly to Mr. Vandenberg's speech showing how it would dissipate the enterprise built up by Henry Ford and partly to the admission by Robert Jackson, general counsel of the internal revenue bureau, that the proposed death taxes would deliver the Ford concern into the hands of the bankers and disperse its ownership and direction.

Mr. Jackson thought this would be to the public interest.

Senator Vandenberg is preparing a speech for delivery in the senate this week in which he will assail the tax bill as the most wasteful of all the New Deal extravagances.

"Waste of Tax Resources."

"It is a criminal waste of tax resources," he said tonight, "to pass a bill of this character with no relation to a balanced budget because the chief necessity to be met by new taxes is the demonstration that the government is solvent. You cannot demonstrate that the government is solvent by raising revenue totally unrelated to the amount of bills the government has to pay. To pass this bill now without knowing what the next budget is to call for would be like starting out on a thousand mile motor car journey with one gallon of gas in your tank. You wouldn't reach your destination and you would only waste your gas."

The big fight in the senate will be waged over the move of the President's supporters to restore the inheritance tax schedule of the house bill which was stricken out by the senate committee. The house provision would levy inheritance taxes on top of estate taxes in such manner that the government would exact up to 87 per cent of the larger fortunes.

Seen as Step to Choose.

The elimination of the inheritance tax feature of the house bill by the senate committee recorded an emphatic dissent from Mr. Roosevelt's theory of the redistribution of wealth by breaking up the large fortunes, all of which are invested in the nation's great industries. It reflected the view that to carry out such a radical policy would be to disrupt the industrial and commercial fabric and plunge the country into economic chaos from which either communism or fascism would be likely to emerge.

The destruction of the principal pillar sustaining the Roosevelt wealth confiscation policy was made possible only by the desertion of the President by a majority of the Democrats in the finance committee. On the question also of heavy graduated taxes on corporations designed to penalize bigness, the President found himself deserted by a majority of the finance committee Democrats as he had been by the majority of his party in the house.

Seek Restoration of Tax.

Democrat senators who espouse the President's notions of wealth confiscation will endeavor to procure the restoration of the inheritance tax schedule when the bill comes before the senate this week. In this move they will be supported by Senator Robert M. La Follette [Prog., Wis.] and the left wing Republicans. If, however, the division of the Democrats in the finance committee reflects the situation on the Democratic side in the senate the move will be defeated by the combination of conservative Republicans and Democrats who are unwilling to follow the President on this issue.

Passage of the bill by the senate in the shape framed by the finance committee would bring the two houses into the head-on collision. The President would rely on the house to force the restoration of the inheritance taxes and a bitter flight in the conference committee would ensue.

Opposes Hitting "Little Fellow."

At the same time the house is strongly opposed to the broadening of the tax base voted by the senate committee which, by lowering the exemptions to $2,000 for married and $800 for single persons would extend income taxes to possibly a million or more persons who now make no direct contribution to the expense of the federal government. The house did not go below the millionaires' brackets in boosting surtaxes on incomes of $50,000 or more.

Representative Robert L. Doughton [Dem., N. C.] and other Democratic leaders asserted that the house never will accept the senate proposal to boost taxes on small incomes. Congressmen who will be up for reelection a year hence calculate that "soaking the rich" will make them much political capital but that "soaking the little fellow" would be very likely to cost them their jobs.

Delay May Be Answer.

If the house and senate were to become deadlocked on the tax bill the upshot might be a postponement of the whole matter till the next session. In some quarters it was suggested that a compromise probably would be reached on the basis of killing the inheritance tax and eliminating the lower brackets from the increased surtax rates. Some think that the senate committee bill was framed with a view to such trading in the conference committee.

Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], chairman of the senate finance committee, said he would seek the restoration of the inheritance tax rates in the senate but with modifications.

"I would have much preferred writing a bill carrying out only the suggestions in the President's message," he said. "But the house deviated from the President's proposals and my committee also deviated. So I felt we had better go in and get some revenue.

"I consider the house inheritance rates too stringent, not elastic enough, and too severe on estates affected. What I wanted to do was to perfect them in my committee. I was not able to do this; so instead, if the senate adopts the house rates, I will propose modifications there."

He said he would seek to hold total interest rates on inheritances and estates to 6 per cent, provide a 15 year period in which to pay, to relieve executors from bonding requirements, and to lift proposed property liens.

House Republicans generally favor the broadening of the tax base. Said House Majority Leader Bertrand H. Snell:

"I have always thought that ultimately we will have to change the whole tax situation and eventually widen the tax base. If we are going to stop these excessive expenditures, we will have to make the people tax-conscious."

Senator Borah assailed the rewritten bill as lacking "justice or wisdom" and forecast a lower living standard for small income Americans.

STABBED TO DEATH BY GIRL.

Homer Smith, 25 years old, colored, was stabbed to death in his home at 3451 Indiana avenue yesterday by Viola Washington, 22 years old, also colored, who surrendered to the police and said she had killed Smith because he had raped her.

COTTON PROCESSING TAX IS BLAMED FOR TEXTILE TRADE'S ILLS

Boston, Mass., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Repudiation of the Roosevelt administration in the 1936 election and collapse of the New England cotton textile industry, unless the processing tax on cotton is abrogated, were predicted today by Lincoln Bayliles, spokesman for the cotton manufacturers of the northern states.

With the "emphatic protest against the cotton processing tax, as evidenced in the congressional fight in Rhode Island" as the basis for his judgment, Baylies sounded warning of the twofold danger which is imminent and demanded that President Roosevelt immediately divulge the recommendations of committees which have investigated the cotton textile industry.

"Delay in releasing the report," Baylies asserted, "and the constant shuttling back and forth of fundamental features has produced a state of uncertainty among bill employés, manufacturers, and buyers which has been reflected in the cotton goods markets."

NATION'S INCOME IN '34 5 BILLION MORE THAN 1933

Relief Pay Rolls Included in Estimate.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—The government today estimated the nation's 1934 income at 49 billion 440 millions, a five billion jump over 1933.

Commerce department estimates said this national income for last year was the highest since the 61 billion 433 million income in 1931, and compared with the 1929 high of 78 billion 576 million.

The 1929 income to labor was reported as 51 billion 88 million dollars and the percentages of that income for the subsequent years were 91.7 for 1930, 77.2 for 1931, 60 for 1932, 57 for 1933, and 64.8 for 1934.

Relief Pay Included.

The report listed work relief wages at 1 billion 394 million, a figure including the Civilian Conservation corps, the Civil Works administration, emergency relief projects, and administrative pay rolls. But $302,000,000 paid out by the Public Works administration was grouped under the construction industry.

In dollars, labor's 1934 income was estimated at 33 billion 109 million, the highest since the 39 billion 444 million income in 1931 and comparing with 51 billion 88 million in 1929.

"While income paid out declined 43 per cent from 1929 to 1933, the bureau of labor statistics indexes of the cost of living and of wholesale prices decreased 23 per cent and 31 per cent respectively," the report added. "The net decline from 1929 to 1934 in income paid out was 37 per cent as compared with a decrease of 20 per cent in the cost of living and 21 per cent in the level of wholesale prices.

Labor Income Largest.

"The 1933 to 1934 changes tended to reduce the disparity of the trends for the earlier period. Relative to 1929, labor income declined 43 per cent by 1933 and increased 14 per cent from 1933 to 1934, while property income fell off 40 per cent by 1933 and increased only 2 per cent in 1934.

"Exclusive of work relief payments, labor income increased 11 per cent from 1933 to 1934."

The report said dividends dropped 61 per cent from 1929 to 1934—"considerably greater than the drop in wages over the same period."

With the exception of electric light and power, the report said, the income paid out by each major industrial group increased in 1934.

"Income paid out in 1934 to the agricultural industry increased 10 per cent, but there is evidence of a much larger increase in the total income produced than in the income paid out in this industry in 1934," the report said. "There is evidence also to indicate that large business losses shown in 1932 for the agricultural industry have been eliminated and that business savings occurred in 1934."

Earnings of Agriculture.

In dollars, the report put agriculture's income at 3 billion 299 million for 1934, compared with 2 billion 993 million in 1933 and 6 billion 157 million in 1929.

The survey defined labor income as including salaries and wages, while property income included dividends, interest, net rents, and royalties and entrepreneurial withdrawals.

Russia Sends Woman and 3 Men to Death; Burned Farm

LENINGRAD, Aug. 11.—(AP)—A woman and three men, allegedly former members of the Kulak class, were sentenced to death today for setting fire to a collective farm in the village of Msta, Novgorod province. The blaze destroyed 200 buildings, leaving farmers, their families and their live stock without shelter. Authorities said the act was one of vengeance because property of the four have been confiscated by the state.

United Reports 43 Per Cent Increase in Air Express

Faster and more frequent schedules and an increase in the use of air express were responsible for United Air Lines planes' carrying 346 tons of air express during the first six months of this year, a 43 per cent increase over the same period last year, officials announced yesterday. Company officials stated also that figures submitted to the interstate commerce commission show United carried the greatest volume of air express of any United States line.

AUGMENT FAMED 'HALLELUJAH' FOR MUSIC FESTIVAL

Other Brilliant Chorus Numbers Added.

Only Six Days More!

Only six days remain in which to buy tickets for the Chicagoland Music Festival. Thousands of reserved seats have been sold, but thousands more are still available. They may be had at the Tribune Public Service offices at 50 cents each.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Singing by a huge massed chorus, particularly of the great Hallelujah chorus from "The Messiah," always has been one of the impressive features of Chicagoland Music Festival programs. This year it will be finer than ever. The Hallelujah chorus will be retained and other brilliant numbers will be added. Five of Chicago's most noted choral conductors will take part. All this is in addition to the lovely singing of spirituals by another huge Negro chorus directed by J. Wesley Jones and his assistant, William Myricks.

To take the choral numbers in the order they appear on the program, the first will be Kremser's "Prayer of Thanksgiving" for festival chorus and band, directed by Edgar Nelson. Mr. Nelson is a veteran in the choral service of Chicago. He is conductor of the Apollo Musical club and the Marshall Field & Company Choral society, both of whose annual concerts are important in the musical life of Chicago, likewise of the Sunday Evening club choir of 125, which sings in Orchestra hall every Sunday night during the fall, winter, and spring.

"The Bells of St. Mary."

Next in order will come "The Bells of St. Mary," by Adams, for male chorus and band, directed by Harry S. Walsh. The concerts by the Hamilton club chorus have demonstrated Mr. Walsh to be a director of men's singing of the first order, a verdict confirmed and strengthened by his directorship of the Northerners, a popular choral feature heard regularly over radio station W-G-N.

An equal opportunity will be offered women singers in the form of an arrangement of Max Reger's lovely "Cradle Song," with band accompaniment. This will be directed by Glenn Cliffe Bainum, who functions importantly among choruses and bands in the music school of Northwestern university and has made an enviable reputation for himself this summer by his brilliant conducting of his own band in the concert series in Grant park.

Full Orchestra Reunited.

The two sections of the orchestra will come together again when George Carlson takes the baton for an arrangement of Arthur Sullivan's "The Lost Chord." It is one of the most popular songs that ever came out of England, and Mr. Carlson, who is president of the Chicago Choirmasters association, is certain to bring the piece to a stirring and resounding finish.

Almost at the end of the program wil come the Hallelujah chorus. This is the choral climax of the program, unfailing in its mighty appeal, and, as in past seasons, it will be directed by Noble Cain, general choral director of the festival. Mr. Cain enjoys a wide and constantly growing fame for his brilliant achievements in the field of choral music, and it is with special pleasure that another of his appearances may be announced on the program. He will direct his own famous A Cappella chorus, with Raymund Koch as baritone soloist, in a special and particularly engaging arrangement of Hill's "Wagon Wheels."

It has been impossible to list all the great musical features in one account so far, but here is another that, beyond question, will take a high place. It is the sextet from "Lucia di Lammermoor," sung by a brilliant array of Chicagoans, Margery Maxwell, Eula Corner, Driskill Wolf, Eugene Dressler, Raymund Koch, and Philip Gates. It will be conducted by Victor Grabel, general musical director of the festival.

MUSIC FESTIVAL COMPETITORS

LA VONALINE SACKETT.

LUCILLE C. HYLE.

MARIE MELCHER PAYSON.

REETHE MARIE BARBER.

Miss Sackett, Miss Barber, and Miss Payson will sing in Chicagoland Music Festival vocal contest finals to be held at the Drake hotel, starting Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Miss Hyle is director of the Jenny Lind Choral club and choristers of Whiting, Ind., which is entered in the chorus contests.

South Park way, while the thermometer hovered around 90 degrees. The men loosened their collars and the women waved palm leaf fans. The singers were led by J. Wesley Jones, assisted by William E. Myricks.

Here are snatches of some of the songs they practiced:

The gospel train is comin'
I hear her just at hand,
I hear the car wheels runnin'
And rumblin' through de land.
And another:
I'll take my gospel trumpet
And I'll begin to blow,
And if my Savior helps me
I'll blow where'er I go.

But the two numbers seemingly most enjoyed were "O Southland!" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." The accompanists were Jeanne Fletcher, Erma Falton, and Herman Williamson. The final rehersal will be held Friday night at 8:30 o'clock in Soldiers' field.

Two Big Events Tonight.

Two events of major importance in this week's activities preceding the Music Festival will take place tonight.

Beginning at 7 o'clock five Cook county male choruses will compete at the Drake hotel ballroom for the honor of representing this city and county in the Chicagoland men's chorus contest on Saturday, and at 7:30 o'clock nearly 1,000 members of the new festival chorus will reherse in Orchestra hall.

The public is invited to the men's chorus contest tonight and to all festival competitions. There is no admission charge.

W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S radio station, and the Mutual Broadcasting system will take a prominent part in festival programs. Thursday night from 7:45 to 8 o'clock there will be a 15 minute broadcast of the Cook county vocal finals from the Drake hotel. W-G-N and the Mutual chain also will take parts of the festival program direct from Soldiers' field Saturday night.

BEAUTY PARLOR MINIMUM WAGE HEARING TONIGHT

Act to Regulate Pay and Working Day.

Hearings on wages and working conditions in beauty shops will start tonight before a special wage board in the auditorium at 205 West Wacker drive. The purpose of the hearings is to enable the wage board to draft regulations governing wages under the state minimum wage law enacted in 1933.

The beauty culture wage board was appointed by Martin Durkin, director of the state department of labor. Similar boards created a code for women and minors in the macaroni industry, which went into effect in February, and the laundry industry, becoming effective July 29. The wage boards are under the supervision of Kate O'Connor, chief of the minnimum wage division of the state department of labor.

Woman Heads Board.

The head of the special wage board for beauty parlors, and its impartial member, is Mrs. Helen Fisher Holman, a teacher of economics at Northwestern university. Employés are to be represented by two persons, Marc Gartman, manager of the Marc-Marie beauty salons and president of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association, and Emma Borchardt, Highland Park beauty parlor manager. Two Chicago operators, Sadie Murphy and Margaret Cowl, will represent beauty shop workers.

The minimum wage law provides punishment for discrimination against or discharge of any employé under the statute by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100. After the code is established the failure of a beauty parlor to furnish records, which the law allows investigators to plunge into at will, is punishable by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, with each day's delay considered a separate offense.

Investigators under Miss O'Connor's guidance have amassed considerable data regarding the industry, which will be given to the special board.

A second hearing of the special wage board will be held at Peoria tomorrow afternoon and a third at East St. Louis on Wednesday afternoon.

Cosmeticians Meet Here.

The American Cosmeticians association will open its convention at the Hotel Sherman today with beauty culturists from coast to coast beginning their annual clinic of styles and progress in beauty aids.

Joan Marsh, movie actress, will talk at the opening session this morning on the art of photographic makeup as practiced in Hollywood.

Sally Rand, fan dancer, will speak tomorrow morning on the subject "Bare Facts About Beauty."

TRY TWO UNION AGENTS TODAY IN FLORIST SLUGGING

Fred Bohlman and Lawrence Monahan, business agents of the Excavating, Grading and Asphalt Teamsters' union, will go to trial today before Judge John C. Lewe of the Criminal court for the slugging of an Oak Park florist on June 12 for refusal to join the Florist Drivers' union.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Doughtery said he would oppose any efforts of the defense to gain a continuance. The indictments charge the two men with assault with a deadly weapon and a second count accuses Bohlman of carrying concealed weapons.

The men are alleged to have beaten Peter Javaras, 1145 North Harlem avenue, Oak Park, who, with Gus Poulos, operates a cash and carry flower business at that address. Javaras was forced from his automobile in downtown Oak Park at the point of a pistol and then was beaten with blackjacks.

The indictments followed an investigation by the grand jury into an alleged tieup between union sluggers and Chicago police.

Admits Annoying Hundred Children; Charges Signed

Parents of two children signed complaints last night against Emmett Barton, 23 years old, 7301 Constance avenue, a bartender, who is accused of molesting children. Barton was arrested by the Burnside police. Police said he has admitted 100 similar offenses.

CLOSES 130 YEAR OLD STORE LAST TIME; RETIRES, 85

Harwich, Mass., Aug. 11.—(AP)—The general store that Cyrenus S. Hunt never bothered to equip with lights because he closed it at sundown every day for 67 years was empty tonight—closed permanently.

Without so much ceremony as a formal announcement, Hunt, 85, turned a key in the lock at sundown last night and walked home through the elm shaded square. He had retired.

The store was one of the town's main retail concerns 130 years ago. During the war of 1812 the young men of Harwich drilled on the common across the street. When they wanted to quench their thirst, they adjourned to the store for a bit of grog from a keg that was always on tap in the rear.

Hunt went to work at the store in 1868 as a handy man for Obed Nickerson. In a few years he bought out "Old Obed."

A story yesterday said that Thomas Korinko, who was with George O'Neill when he was shot and killed in a quarrel over rival saloons, owned a tavern at 1942 Fisk street. Korinko's saloon is at 1112 Cullerton street. The saloon at the Fisk avenue address is owned by Joseph Val, who was not implicated in the quarrel.

An item last Saturday concerning the conviction of John J. Bagdonas in a will fraud case said he still conducted the undertaking establishment at 2506 West 63d street. E. F. King of King Bros. said yesterday that he and his brother have operated their own undertaking rooms at that address since May 15, after Bagdonas' license was revoked and he lost his lease.

BANBURY, Oxfordshire, England, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Maddened by a domestic quarrel, Wilfred Gibbs, blacksmith and expert marksman, opened fire with a rifle on a midnight bus last night and killed three persons. Then he committed suicide. The victims, all passengers on the bus, were his wife, his sister-in-law, Iva Cora Goode, and Thomas Messenger.

SPECIAL EVENTS ATTRACT 30,000 TO COUNTY FAIR

Attendance yesterday at the Cook County fair, River road and North avenue, was estimated at more than 30,000, special attractions being the observance of the retail merchants' field day, the horse shows in the afternoon and evening and the Fairgrounds Kennel club dog show.

A number of business men participated in the dedication of the Factory, Farm and Fireside building, which is sponsored by the Retail Merchants' council, and houses the household and food show. Officials of the Chicago-Cook County Retail Butchers and Grocers' association, the Retail Dry Goods association, the Retail Hardware Men's association, and the Retail Druggists' association were among the speakers.

Judging of live stock is to begin today. Today is also children's day at the fair and Manager Henry A. Erlinger announced that all children under 18 years old would be admitted free. Juvenile horse riders will participate in a special horse show for the children.

ROOSEVELT BACK AFTER JAUNT ON CHESAPEAKE BAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Accompanied by a party which included Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, President Roosevelt tonight returned from a week-end cruise.

Docking at the navy yard here after a trip down Chesapeake bay and up the Potomac, the presidential party disembarked without comment.

The President also was accompanied by Senators Alben W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.] and James F. Byrnes [Dem., S. C.], Mrs. Brynes, and Miss Marguerite Le Hand, a presidential secretary.

John Roosevelt, young son of the President, returned with the party which he joined yesterday after a "working" vacation in the Tennessee valley.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

GENUINE WEALTH SHARING AND SPURIOUS.

Under the system of free enterprise the wealth of the country increased, but it was shared by millions in the form of cash, new utilities, securities, homes, and protection for the future. The deposits of all the banks in the country taken together increased from 19 billion dollars to 38 billion dollars in the last twenty years. That is a gain of 19 billion dollars. But 12 billions of the 19 billion dollars was in savings accounts, which increased from 9 billion dollars to 21 billion dollars. The average savings account rose from 89 dollars to 173 dollars. The number of savings depositors increased from 11 million to 40 million. Twenty years ago savings deposits constituted 46 per cent of the total. Now savings are 57 per cent of the whole volume of deposits. Thus bank deposits have become increasingly the property of the thrifty middle class.

The two outstanding high priced commodities which have been developed in recent years are the auto and the radio. Twenty years ago only 1,711,000 families had cars. It was a luxury confined to the comparatively wealthy. Now more than 20 million families own automobiles and nearly as many have radios. Not alone the wealthy but nearly every one now has a share of this newly developed consumer's wealth.

A form of property which has developed prominently in recent years is securities. Among the 30 million families in this country are to be found 25 million security owners. That represents a gain of 300 per cent in twenty years. Securities are as common among American families as automobiles or radios.

In any advanced civilization dwelling houses constitute one of the principal kinds of wealth. In the United States, where the average home is worth something over $4,000, 10 million city families own their homes. That is twice as many families as owned their residences twenty years ago.

Protection for dependents in the future is also widely distributed. The number of life insurance policy holders has increased by more than threefold in twenty years. The 20 billion dollars of life insurance funds are the property of 63 million policy holders.

Despite these facts, political schemers still find it possible to catch voters in backward communities by representing that property is gravitating into fewer hands. The reputed source of their information is a report of the federal trade commission transmitted to the senate by Senator Norris. "In 1912," quoting from the report, "about 29 per cent of all the probated estates amounted to less than a thousand dollars each, while in 1923 only 20.8 per cent were less than a thousand. Furthermore, in 1912 the estates of over a hundred thousand dollars each amounted to 52.6 per cent of the total value of all estates probated, while in 1923 they amounted to only 45.9 per cent of the total."

To add a sentence to the commission's summary of the table: The proportion of property held by millionaires is dwindling; in 1912 20.2 per cent of the wealth of decedents was in million dollar estates, but so rapidly is diffusion proceeding that by 1923 only 8½ per cent of the wealth was in the hands of millionaires who passed away.

The Louisiana yarn which is prompting the present tax bill to share the wealth is a pure fake. And if it is enacted into law it will not bring about the results claimed for it. By forcing the liquidation of property, values will certainly be broken down. And if values are destroyed there will be a diminishing amount of wealth to be distributed. Thus the effect of the so-called wealth sharing bill must inevitably be to bring an end to the genuine sharing of wealth which has been going on actively for many years.

COUNTY BOND REFUNDING.

Our county commissioners, having demonstrated once more in their bond refunding negotiations their unique ability to stick their necks out so far that they can step on them themselves, were rescued in the nick of time by President Clayton Smith's veto. They will take up the refunding problem again at their meeting Thursday.

Since its sponsors concede that the first refunding deal is dead, it is unnecessary to comment on it. The refunding problem, however, deserves more thorough analysis than the commissioners themselves seem to have given it.

The problem divides itself into two parts. The county has about $10,000,000 in actual defaults on interest and principal which it must clear up by sale of new bonds. It has a much larger amount of bonds still in good standing. The maturities on these bonds, however, fall heavily in the next few years. If further defaults are to be prevented, these bonds must be exchanged in a refunding operation for bonds maturing over a longer period of time, giving the county some reasonable hope of collecting sufficient revenue to meet maturities.

Of the two problems the latter is the more serious. Clearing up the present defaults will be fruitless labor unless there is some guarantee against their recurring in the near future, thus putting the county's credit right back in the hole from which the refunding is designed to rescue it.

The commissioners, however, have shown a disposition to put the cart before the horse. Some of them have even suggested selling a $10,000,000 bond issue to care for current defaults and letting the refunding of undefaulted bonds go hang. The current bond market makes sale of the proposed new bonds a comparatively easy matter. Such a sale should be subordinated to a general refunding exchange, for without such an exchange it will be useless to sell the new bonds.

When they have arranged their refunding program county officials should turn their attention to the real root of their trouble—tax collections. No government can spend 90 per cent of its tax levies while collecting only 60 per cent without going to smash in the end, and that is what every Cook county government is doing today.

LOUDER, LADIES, LOUDER!

Some housewives in Detroit are engaged in what they call a strike against the prevailing price of meat. They demand a 20 per cent reduction. The other day they marched to the packing house branches in Detroit and indulged in a good scream. When they were told that nothing could be done about it by branch managers they said they would scream loud enough to be heard in Chicago.

That won't be loud enough, either. Meat is high these days because there aren't enough animals on the farms and also because of the processing taxes which are added to the price of meat like a sales tax. The drouth of last year is an important contributing factor. Nobody is responsible for the drouth, but the extent of the scarcity and the processing taxes are the fault of just one man.

His name is Henry Wallace. His job is secretary of agriculture. He lives in Washington. If the striking ladies of Detroit want to protest to the one person who is chiefly responsible for their meatless meals and the one person who can bring about a lowering of the price of meat they should get the ear of Corn Wallace and make him surrender.

Certainly the packers are not responsible. Their business is to butcher and sell the animals that are sent to market. When there is an abundance of animals the price of meat is low because only a low price will move all that is on hand. When, as at present, there is a shortage of animals the price must be high. Otherwise there would be daily riots outside the butcher shops because the stocks would be exhausted long before every one who wanted to buy had obtained his daily supply.

The artificial scarcity created by Mr. Wallace was not favored by the packers. It is causing them a lot of grief. With fewer animals to slaughter they must still maintain their plants and meet their overhead. Any one of a number of packing houses in Chicago could easily handle all the hogs that are coming into the market, but because of the heavy investment in stockyards and distributing services all the packers are forced to bid against each other for the available supply. They do so in constant fear that the competition will force them to pay more for live animals than they can realize from the sale of meat.

The housewives and the owners of packing plants are by no means the only victims of Henry Wallace's policies. Hundreds of men and women who used to work in the stockyards have lost their jobs and thousands have seen their pay checks dwindle because Mr. Wallace killed the breeding sows and little pigs and forced a reduction in the production of corn with which meat animals might be fed. Railroad men and truckers are out of work for the same reason. When there are fewer animals sent to slaughter there must be less work in transporting them, slaughtering them and processing the carcasses.

The packing industry employs more men and women than any other in Chicago. Employment in the stockyards was maintained extraordinarily well all through the depression until the New Deal came along. It is becoming increasingly clear that any benefits which may have been conferred upon a class of citizens by the artificial scarcity created by Corn Wallace have been at the expense of consumers and of working men and women. The voters in Rhode Island, where cotton is processed and meat and bread are eaten, have expressed their displeasure. The votes of the housewives of Detroit and of the employés of Chicago packing plants have yet to be counted.

THE RISK THEY TAKE.

[Rockford Register-Republic.

After casually arresting a drunken driver the other day two Kansas City policemen suffered a nervous reaction when they learned they had picked up a notorious gangster, who, had he not been intoxicated, might have resisted arrest with hot lead.

It is a risk they take daily, these policemen, whether they patrol the streets of Kansas City, Rockford, or any other American city, large or small. Any strange car on the street may contain death for the man who attempts to stop it. There's no way of determining what apparently innocent traffic violator may resist arrest with fatal results to himself or the officer, rather than be taken to the police station, where he may be recognized as a gangster who has a price on his head.

We may poke fun at the "cop" if we choose. Usually he is a fellow who can bear up under a little goodnatured joking, but we must respect him for daily offering himself to a service which each year is becoming more dangerous. The next time you feel like giving the traffic policeman who blows his whistle at you a "sock on the jaw," just remember that he is the fellow who is taking all the chances, and give him a smile instead of a frown.

Your frown might not worry him much, but the next driver he motions to the curb might contain Public Enemy No. 15, who, in the haste of a getaway from his latest holdup or murder, might be just as irritated as you were, and more inclined and better equipped to demonstrate his irritation.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

FIRE RANGER.

(Be sure your fires are out.)

He stalks a berserk game whose ominous spoor
Ascends the air in spirals of blue smoke,
Across the valleys where the conifer
Clothes the upthrust terrene in beryl cloak.
There a fell serpent writhes upon the ground,
A Basilisk with forked tongue of red,
Emitting from sharp throat a sibilant sound,
And darting higher, higher a hideous head.
Here is no denizen of the wooded aisles,
No casual interloper, wolf or bear,
This is that Dread the ranger scans for miles,
Laying red fangs about its fearful lair.
Across his lens the ranger knows that plume,
That slight panache, it signals forests' doom.

Clarence Milligan.

RUTS.

Last time I was in the city I heard some of you folks complaining of being in a rut, saying, "Oh, what's the use?" and thinking yourself a failure. But don't be too sure you are a failure just because you think yourself in a rut.

Do you know that a storm is as much in a rut as yesterday's clouds in today's river bed? The longer the clouds exist, the deeper the river; still it reaches its destiny. It is the law of life.

Your blood must remain in a rut or you will die. Your railroad tracks are a rut that holds its human flesh and blood. This, too, is the law. But it is your own fault if you make yourself a prisoner by borrowing the rut of another. Your will should be consulted, and if not strong enough to direct your inclinations, analyze those inclinations and see where you are off balance; whether in the blood stream of a pig, a tiger, or monkey instead of a man.

So study your rut, then travel on. And keep your body well balanced, as Nature intended, or your thoughts will be distorted accordingly.

Joseph Sadony.

P. S.—Most men are miserable unless walking in a rut. That is why there are so many ruts leading to hell. J. S.

And one last sunset on the hill.
No fevered frantic haste for me,
But only sunlight on the sea,
And when I lay me down to rest
Some quiet violets at my breast.

START TOOTH CARE EARLY.

PROBABLY more pain, discomfort, and disease result from poor or neglected teeth than from derangements of any other body structure.

Most of us have but two sets of teeth in a lifetime. The first or temporary set consists of twenty teeth, while the second or permanent set numbers thirty-two. Six to eight teeth have appeared by the time a child is a year old, sixteen when he is a year and a half, and all twenty by the time he is 2½. Anywhere between the ages of 5 and 7 the first four permanent teeth—"the seven year old molars"—appear, and from that time onward the first teeth begin to fall out to be replaced by the permanent teeth.

Bad teeth are a nuisance and frequently constitute a serious menace to health when they become infected—as they will if neglected. They may pour a stream of toxins into the blood that will seriously damage heart, kidneys, blood vessels, and other vital organs.

A normal tooth is a living, vital structure. It lies in a socket in the jawbone and the exposed part is covered with the hardest substance found in the body—the enamel. Beneath the enamel is a material called dentine, which surrounds a central cavity that is filled with nerves, blood vessels, and other tissues.

The causes of tooth decay are complex. Diet exerts a great influence. Bacteria in the mouth, secretions from salivary glands, and the state of general health are factors. Of course, the original structure of the tooth is basically important. Sometimes when the teeth appear there may be small pits or other defects in the enamel, and not infrequently the health of the child is reflected in poor teeth which are prone to early decay.

A diet which is composed largely of soft foods is inadequate for the development and preservation of good teeth. There must be a sufficient amount of calcium, phosphorus, protein, and particularly vitamin D, and in this respect milk is an important factor.

English investigators at the present time are emphasizing rather strongly a reduction in the amount of cereal fed to infants, on the ground that certain grains contain a substance that neutralizes vitamin D. Perhaps this theory has not been wholly substantiated. Nevertheless, the rule should be that if cereals are used freely a considerable quantity of vitamin D should be supplied and outdoor play encouraged for the purpose of securing a generous amount of sunshine. Another fact that should be borne in mind is that calcium is more rapidly eliminated from the body if sugar and certain other carbohydrates are used to excess. Hence the use of sugar should be confined to meal time.

Many parents have the mistaken notion that the temporary teeth are of no great importance since they will be shed within a few years. A focus of infection in a temporary tooth is just as serious as if it occurred in a permanent tooth, and rheumatism and heart disease can come from this source. Furthermore, the soundness of the permanent teeth depends in a large measure upon the soundness of the temporary teeth.

As soon as all the temporary teeth have appeared the child should be initiated into tooth care by a visit to the dentist. Make this visit a semi-annual affair.

The teeth need food just as much as the lungs need air. I occasionally lose what little poise I possess in observing the finicky diets of some of my adult friends. They do not like this or that, and I am not surprised to learn of rather heavy dental bills, a considerable number of which may be traced to "pap" diets. Nature designed teeth for chewing; for the thorough mastication of foods containing fiber. When our diets consist of food so soft that they require merely to be swallowed, nature will deprive us of our teeth.

The profession of dentistry has made great advances in recent years, and its leaders are wide awake to the importance of research and investigation.

REDUCING DRUGS.

Reader writes: Is there any cure for obesity other than using less food?

What about the safety of certain drugs that are guaranteed to take off weight?

REPLY.

Physicians are constantly advising their patients against the use of drugs for the purpose of losing weight. Although most of these drugs are very dangerous, they are probably little more so than the unsupervised and unregulated "reducing" diets. There are many people who insist upon traveling a royal reducing road. There is none.

Numerous warnings have been sounded against the use of thyroid extract for this purpose, and recently the dangers of dinitrophenol have been pointed out. Despite oft repeated cautions, many persons will probably use commercial reducing preparations containing dinitrophenol, in some instances with serious results. Hundreds of cases have been reported, with symptoms of poisoning varying from skin eruptions to destruction of the liver, heart disturbances, peripheral neuritis, and rapidly developing cataracts.

SNAKE BITES.

P. D. A. writes: How frequent are snake bites?

REPLY.

Thomas H. Githens collected reports of 2,314 bites that had occurred in the United States in the last eight years. He notes that the amount of venom injected at the time of the bite is definitly related to the severity of the symptoms; furthermore, that the only emergency treatment of value is the application of a moderately tight bandage above the site of the bite, followed by free incision and the persistent use of suction. He says, "As much as half the venom injected by the snake may be removed before it has time to be absorbed." If antivenin is available it should be given. Githens condemns the use of whisky and states that many studies show that it does more harm than good. Of the 2,314 recorded cases, 128 were fatal.

Precautions should be taken that the tourniquet bandage around the limb is not too tight. It should obstruct the back flow of venous blood toward the heart but not shut off the arterial pulsation.

DIAGNOSIS SCREEN.

Mrs. M. K. writes: I am looking for information about a diagnosis machine or screen test. It stands about three or four feet in height and the top represents a box with slides, thirteen in all, and each slide indicates a certain disease. The person stands on a metal platform with some light in contact with the body in the back. The doctor taps on the patient's abdomen while inserting these slides in this machine, and diagnoses anything from social disease to cancer. He claims his screen does not lie.

If this is so accurate, why do not more doctors use it, or in fact all of them?

REPLY.

There is no scientific basis for the method you describe. It bears the earmarks of quackery.

CLAIM AGAINST ESTATE.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am a graduate nurse and was employed on a pneumonia and mental case for several weeks. Patient expired. I filed my bill in the Probate court at once. There is considerable cash in a bank, but the folks do not want to pay the regular fees I charged. 1. Is it necessary for me to obtain an attorney? Saw an attorney once but did not employ him myself. He did not represent me in court. 2. Can I dismiss him, as the [3] case comes up soon? A. E.

1. It probably would be difficult for you to follow the matter up, be present in court when the claim is reached for hearing and make the necessary proof without employing an attorney.

2. Yes, but if you had him perform services for you, you would have to pay him for what he has done.

3. You should bear in mind that under the Illinois evidence act the testimony of a claimant is not admissible against the estate. You will need other witnesses.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

UNPAID DEBT.

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is it legal for a creditor to call a debtor over local or long distance telephone and demand payment of a past due account? If illegal [2] has the debtor the right to notify the creditor that he considers his account balanced and will the courts uphold him? 3. If illegal has the debtor any legal right to sue creditor for damages? F. D.

1. Yes.

2. He has the right to tell the creditor anything he pleases. The question whether the account is balanced is one of fact.

3. Not if the creditor is telling the truth, and even if what he says is untrue it would be necessary to prove damage.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

STATE MILITIA ACT.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I signed up with the National Guard and now find I can't get to drill on time. But they say I have to. Can they arrest me and put me in jail? I am underweight—110 pounds—and am 22 years old. How can I get an honorable discharge? J. E.

Section 8 of article 20 of the state militia act is as follows: "Any officer or enlisted man who willfully absents himself for a continuous period of two months from the drills or other formations of his organization, except in time of public disorder or danger, as hereinafter defined, shall be deemed guilty of desertion and may be punished as a court martial shall direct."

Your associates are in a better position than we are to say how severe the punishment is likely to be.

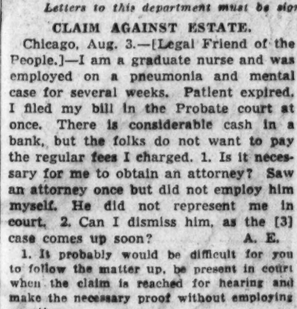
The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.



There are two reasons for the fact that winter sunshine is warmer than summer sunshine: First, because the earth is many thousands of miles nearer the sun in winter; and, second, because the atmosphere is usually clearer in winter. The cause of warmer weather in summer is in the tilting of the earth's axis, which tips the northern hemisphere so that it receives more direct sunlight than in winter. While it is winter in the northern hemisphere it is summer in the southern hemisphere.

EASTERN TIME FOR CHICAGO.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Shortened evenings are already calling our attention to the fact that Chicago will soon be returning to standard time.

I hope that Chicago business men are beginning to realize the immense advantage of the adoption of Eastern time for year-round use in Chicago. There are a few businesses, those which thrive on darkness, such as places of amusement and the electric light company, which will naturally oppose the movement. But it has so many advantages that business at large should not permit the selfishness of these groups to sidetrack it.

The time to make the change is when daylight saving ends. At such a time it would result in a minimum of confusion and annoyance.

There will probably be some opposition on the part of the interstate commerce commission to changing the official railroad time. But they will eventually fall into line. As an editorial in "Commerce," published by the Chicago Association of Commerce, points out, the Eastern time belt now extends west in one point as far as the longitude of Dubuque, Davenport, St. Louis. Why not do the sensible thing and make the Mississippi river the dividing line between Eastern and Central time? That would simplify everything. Every one would know where the change was made. All Illinois would be given the benefit of the more convenient time. Chicago would be put in step with the population of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Pittsburgh, with approximately 70 per cent of the total population of the nation. In comparison we are now in step with about 40 per cent of the nation's population.

But as only urban population is intimately connected with timed operations, the urban comparison is even more important. The proposed arrangement would put us in step with over 75 per cent of the urban population in place of about 31 per cent with which we are now in step, including ourselves who make up over 5 per cent of the 31 per cent.

The business convenience is only part of the story. The personal convenience to the sportsman, the homeowner, to every one except those who thrive on darkness, would be enough to justify the change in itself.

Let's do it now, this year. It is so logical that it is bound to come some time. We might as well be enjoying it now. A.

TRUCKS ON THE NORTH SHORE.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—The North Shore Property Owners' association deeply appreciates the editorial in yesterday's TRIBUNE covering truck traffic on the north side. The issues in this case are intensely important. The chief one is: Shall we allow a state body permanently to brand a residential street as a freight line when such an action, though permitted by law, is not necessary in fact?

PAUL DARROW PADDOCK,
Secretary, North Shore Property Owners' Association.

EDUCATION REGARDING TAXES.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—The sales tax has one distinct advantage. It is one tax the taxpayer knows he is paying and it rouses his ire. Tax eaters know better than to collect all taxes in this manner. It would most certainly result in a forced and substantial reduction in the amount to be collected. But cannot merchants, and others, who necessarily collect most of the huge total levies exacted for the various governments, accomplish a similar beneficial result by an indirect means?

I was recently a guest at the Hotel Faust in Rockford and noted a sticker on the mirror which read, "Taxes Must Be Reduced! Approximately 25 per cent of your room rent is paid for taxes." Upon inquiry, it was learned that these stickers are used in accordance with a resolution passed by the American Hotel association.

Perhaps the same figures would not apply directly, but what would be the result if every store displayed posters reading somewhat as follows:

"Taxes should be reduced! At least 25 cents out of each dollar spent for merchandise is used for taxes. At least 2 cents is required for interest on the national debt alone."

Would so definite a statement regarding the part each one pays in connection with taxes be too dangerous? And still 25 cents is only part of the truth, even without considering the necessary pyramiding, because the taxes at the factory are necessarily considered a part of the cost of production and several profits are collected on them before the ultimate consumer pays his bill. L. V. J.

UNION DUES.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—After reading the contribution by C. B. N. in regard to the treatment he claims to have received from the union plumbers' organization, I, as a member of Chicago Journeymen Plumbers' Local No. 130, cannot stand by and let such a misrepresentation go unanswered. The Plumbers' local union, No. 130, for the last five years has had a fund for the purpose of keeping all unemployed members' due books and cards receipted up to date.

I, too, have been out of work for several years, but my due book and card, like those of all other unemployed members, is receipted up to date.

FRANK KOVARIK,

IF SHE HAD A MILLION.

Downers Grove, Ill., Aug. 9.—Wednesday evening I listened very attentively to your interview with the prospective adtakers. Their voices and articles were all good, but all six of them were of the same narrow, selfish mind. If they had a million dollars they would spend it all on themselves. If I had a quarter million, or even less, I would establish a club for jobless girls, including an employment office or agency, where they could obtain work at reasonable rates. Of course I don't expect to see this in THE TRIBUNE. Very little that is worth while in this line ever does get in.

Oak Park's Annual Dollar Day Holds Tuesday's Spotlight

At least one day each summer catches the imagination of the west side and the western suburbs—Oak Park's August Dollar Day. An institution of many years standing, it has won for itself nation wide attention by the values that it offers.

Field's Oak Park store has become natural headquarters for the many thousands of Dollar Day shoppers. Promptly at 9 o'clock, when the doors open, the store will greet shoppers with hundreds of values at $1 . . . enough to set a new record in value-giving.

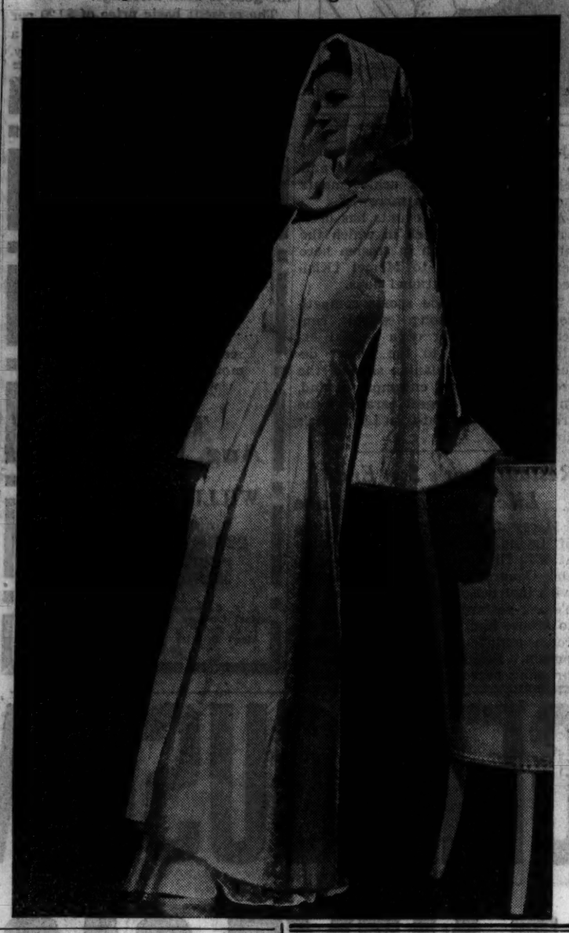
Smart shoppers will plan to make Field's Oak Park store their first stop on Dollar Day—they will plan to visit each and every section—they will know that we cover the field at Field's.

Parking Worries? Not When You're at Field's

Garage Parking Service makes driving downtown a pleasure. All you have to do is drive up to the Randolph Street door, near Wabash. The doorman will see that your car is taken to a nearby garage . . . and returned to you whenever you wish. The cost? No more than you would pay at a loop parking lot.

Mmmmm! LADY IN WHITE CARACUL

This utterly ravishing white Caracul evening wrap features the new Monk's hood. You'll find it in the Fur Salon, Sixth Floor . . . part of the Annual August Sale of Furs. $1695.



Exhibition of World Famous Fabrics in Antique Galleries

For more than twenty years Madame Henriette de Paris has spent her entire time searching out rare and beautiful textiles which adorned palaces and great churches in the 15th, 16th and 17th centuries.

These almost priceless velvets, brocades and tapestries of Spain, Italy, France and Portugal are now displayed in the Antique Galleries, Ninth Floor, where Madame de Paris presides to give desired information.

August Furniture Sale Stirs Enthusiastic Interest

Leading Styles on Parade; Many Unusual New Decorating Ideas Are Extremely Popular

Every corner of the vast space devoted to furniture on Marshall Field & Company's Eighth and Ninth Floors is drawing its full quota of customer interest this month, despite August heat waves. And it's no wonder, when you consider that every piece of furniture is substantially reduced, with hundreds of new pieces never before shown in Chicago.

Among the leading attractions are the Modern Galleries, where Livable Modern Furniture is featured. The new streamlines, beautiful covers and exceedingly moderate prices are outstanding features. In the newly furnished Budget Apartment, one room is done almost entirely in Unfinished Modern, suggesting the practical economy possible in arranging a one-room apartment. The furniture is featured in a natural waxed finish, which is very attractive.

In the Pilgrim Shop there are on exhibition a number of Antique Early American chairs from the personal collection of Leopold Stickley, together with modern reproductions by L. & J. G. Stickley.

Tradition Galleries have been completely redecorated, with numerous attractive new pieces.

Anticipating the strong trend toward 18th Century English Furniture this Fall, the new London Galleries were opened August 1, presenting authentic reproductions and adaptations of fine old pieces at very moderate prices.

Convenient Credit Terms Popular

Hundreds of thrifty customers who wish to take immediate advantage of August savings on furniture are finding Field's Budget Plan a great convenience.

It takes only a few minutes to learn full details of the small down payments, monthly budget payments and very low carrying charges.

These terms are also available in the purchase of carpets and rugs, stoves, refrigerators and other household utilities.

New Ice Crusher

Crowds gather 'round this fascinating gadget daily in the Household Utility section, ninth floor, to watch the demonstration. Quick as a wink, cubes or small chunks of ice are chopped up as fine or as coarse as you please.

The crusher works up and down, like a plunger, in a covered glass bowl. There's a rubber guard to keep the pick from striking the glass. And the price is just $1!

Record Crowds Attend August Sale of Shoes

Every Pair in Stock Specially Priced During Entire Month-Long Event

EXCITEMENT has been running high in all the August Sale sections during the past two weeks. For now is the time that Marshall Field & Company sacrifices part of its ordinary profit to "pep up" an otherwise dull month.

Busy crowds every day in the shoe sections on the Fourth and Fifth Floors (as well as the Store for Men) tell a story of values that compelled Chicago to respond. For every shoe, no matter what the price, is regular quality . . . made to Field's rigid specifications.

Many years of tradition lie behind the wonderful values in this year's August Sale of Shoes. For months Field's buying power has been concentrated upon assembling the fine merchandise presented. Shoes for every type . . . for every hour of the day or night . . . for every season of the year!

FARMERS READY TO LAUNCH WAR ON AAA TODAY

Nation-Wide Council to Have Quarters Here.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Militant farmers have organized to fight the program of regimenting the nation's producers through the New Deal's agricultural adjustment act. Today they will launch a nation-wide organization designed to protect farmers from "the further loss of their individual rights." The organization will have headquarters in Chicago.

In announcing the new organization, to be known as the Farmers' Independent Council of America, Dan D. Casement, a farmer of Manhattan, Kas., president of the organization, said that the purpose was "to bring back to the farmer the freedom guaranteed to him by the constitution, which the acts of the AAA unquestionably will take from him if the people of this country do not call a halt to the despotic practices already instituted."

Refused to Sign Contracts.

Mr. Casement's opposition to the federal agricultural plan began last year when he refused to sign production adjustment contracts from which he would have received thousands of dollars in rental and benefit checks. He declared that "the agricultural action of the present administration is leading toward a complete annihilation of the freedom of American agriculture."

Charles E. Collins, Colorado cattleman, president of the American National Live Stock association and regional vice president of the council, condemned the "trend toward a dictatorship in agriculture."

Clyde O. Patterson, an Illinois Jersey cattle breeder and one of the incorporators of the council, said: "The so-called New Deal has been a fertile breeding ground for parasites even amongst old, honest farmers."

Chris J. Abbott, Nebraska stockman and farmer and an official of the new organization, will direct the activities of the council.

Asserts Facts Are Suppressed.

Stanley F. Morse, consulting agriculturist and South Carolina farmer, is executive vice president. "The deceitful government policy of withholding vital facts and giving out unreliable figures, coupled with the muzzling of many of the state agricultural colleges," he said, "makes necessary a farmers' educational organization."

Dr. E. V. Wilcox, representative of the Country Gentleman magazine in the District of Columbia, is secretary-treasurer of the council. Dr. Charles W. Burkett of New York, former director of the Kansas agricultural experiment station, and L. G. Tolles, past master of the state Grange in Connecticut, are vice presidents of the organization. Directors are Fred L. Crawford, Michigan farm owner; E. B. Dorsett, past master of the Pennsylvania state Grange, and Kurt Grunwald, agricultural engineer of New York.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Lespedeza Vigorous.

August 11, 1935.

FORTY-FIVE acres of Corean [Korean] lespedeza is being grown at The Tribune Experimental farm near Wheaton this summer in an effort to aid in testing the value of this annual legume in northern Illinois. The luxuriant growth of this crop is to furnish pasture for sheep for several weeks.

The seed was sown in with oats last spring. Men at the farm have just completed the cutting and threshing of the oats with a combine, exposing the lespedeza which now covers the stubbled ground with a green blanket of excellent feed.

Before the oats harvest some of the tallest Corean plants were about 16 inches high. It was necessary to cut most of the oats quite low because they were down and badly tangled. Consequently the tops of the lespedeza were clipped off, leaving the plants 8 to 9 inches high.

According to the present plan the Corean lespedeza will be grazed down by a flock of sheep which will be turned in this week.

This same kind of lespedeza is also being tested in plots where it is grown in rows, giving the plants an opportunity to spread out. The growth in the plots is much heavier than it is in the oats stubble where the seed was broadcast. The plants in the plot are only about half as tall as those in the oat field where they are more crowded and encouraged to grow upright. In the rows the lespedeza has formed a solid mat and the plants average about 7 inches in height.

In addition to the crop being valued highly for grazing, it is also used for hay and in soil building. So far relatively few farmers in Illinois have grown Corean lespedeza for hay. Crop experts at the University of Illinois say that farmers in this state have grown Corean lespedeza for seed, for pasture, or for soil building purposes. Only a few men have reported hay production on their farms. The average yield where grown as a hay crop has been approximately a ton to the acre. Yields of approximately a ton are reported where the average growth attains a height of six to eight inches. Where the growth reaches 14 to 16 inches in height it is estimated that two tons per acre are produced.

Farmers who have fed lespedeza hay report that it is relished by live stock. The protein content of the hay has been found the same as red clover.

When lespedeza is harvested for hay it is cut in the bloom stage. Corean has not yet started blooming in the fields or in the test plots at the Wheaton farm. The blossoms are fairly inconspicuous even when they are fully open. If the crop were cut for hay it is believed that the forty-five acres would yield in the neighborhood of almost a ton per acre. It likely would be ready to cut in about two weeks. The seed was not broadcast quite as thick as it ordinarily is sown where the crop is to be harvested for hay.

Corean lespedeza is an annual and while it dies in the fall it produces enough seed to reseed itself the following year. Though the Corean crop at the Tribune farm will be pastured, it is expected to produce enough seed to reseed the ground again next spring.

LITHUANIA HAILS 2,500 SONS FROM THE NEW WORLD

Stress National Ties at First Congress.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KAUNAS, Lithuania, Aug. 11.—Kaunas, in its best holiday attire, opened its arms to 2,500 Lithuanians from all parts of the world today, when the first all Lithuanian congress opened with a speech by President Anthony Smetona.

The visitors have packed every available lodging place, including schools, and two moderately sized hotels, whose rooms were booked long in advance.

Several hundred Lithuanian-Americans from Chicago and other American cities were given a specially warm reception by the government, which has not forgotten that more than $30,000,000 has been remitted from the United States to the homeland in the last fifteen years.

Extend National Ties.

The American delegations were organized by R. Skipitis, a lawyer who went to America in March for the purpose.

Speakers at the opening session declared the congress, unparalleled in Lithuanian history, has as its main purpose the establishment of a close national and cultural unity of the Lithuanian people the world over, and that there were no political or aggressive reasons behind it.

"The congress is an impressive manifestation of such aims," said Skipitis. "Lithuanians abroad are very much different, according to citizenship and political and social viewpoints, depending on their situation and surroundings. Still they are united in the conception of their common extraction and nationality.

Include Visit to Memel.

"Many of our visitors here today never saw Lithuania and do not speak Lithuanian. Yet, while holding American, Australian, Brazilian, or other passports, they now are glad to feel themselves Lithuanians and rejoice in Lithuania's achievements and participate in its sorrows."

A full program of events has been arranged for the week in which the congress will remain in session here before adjourning to Memel [Klaipeda] for two additional days.

The plans provide sports competition for youths, song festivals, concerts, the opening of a special exhibition devoted to the recent development of Lithuanian art and the press, a Boy Scout encampment and, on Aug. 15, the largest parade of the army and home guards in Lithuania's history.

Restaurateur's Son Ends Life, Lamenting Failure

Harry J. Meyer, 33 years old, son of Irving Meyer, restaurant owner at 2220 Division street, registered at the Congress hotel Saturday night with instructions to be called at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Unable to arouse him, a bell boy entered the room and found Meyer dead from poison. Beside him was a note expressing regret over his life failure.

TWO MEETINGS TODAY CONSIDER MILK PRICE CUT

Dairymen of Chicago and representatives of milk producers will hold two meetings this afternoon to consider a readjustment of bulk milk prices with a view to passing on slight reductions to the retail consumer.

Members of the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., comprising the larger dairy concerns, will meet at the Midland club with farm representatives. At the same time the independent dealers will meet at the Illinois Athletic club. A reduction in the retail price from 11 to 10 cents a quart is the goal of both meetings.

The present basic price of $2.20 per 100 pounds of fluid milk [4.78 cents a quart] was established last January.

VETERANS OF '98 GATHERED HERE FOR CONVENTIONS

Hotel registrations went up several thousand yesterday as visitors gathered in Chicago for two national veterans' conventions. Members of the Eighth Army Corps Veterans National association, composed of men who served in the Spanish-American war and Philippine campaigns, began registering at the Hotel Sherman yesterday. There will be informal reunions and pleasure trips for the veterans today. A committee met last night to form a Cook county unit of the association. Heretofore there has been only the state department, headed by Robert E. Beck, 1550 East 63d street.

Tomorrow night the association will celebrate the 37th anniversary of Admiral Dewey's capture of Manila with a banquet in the hotel's Bal Tabarin. George S. Geis is in charge of convention arrangements. The veterans' groups represented at the convention participated in 2,811 engagements from 1898 to 1902 in the Philippines, Guam, China, and Hawaii.

The National Society of the Army of the Philippines is holding a separate reunion at the Stevens hotel. Maj. Frank R. McCoy, commander of the Sixth corp area, will speak at their convention banquet tomorrow night.

Pinchot Reaches 70, but Says He Feels Only 50

Milford, Pa., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Gifford Pinchot, twice governor of Pennsylvania, reached three score and ten today "feeling fine." "I only feel about 50," Pinchot said cheerily at his Grey Towers estate.

STATE SOLDIERS PREVENT ATTACK ON PRISONERS

Abbeville, S. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—State troops guarded from threatened violence eleven colored men imprisoned here tonight on charges of attacking and attempting to kill Jim Strickland, 40, a white man of Calhoun Falls.

Strickland is expected to recover from a beating received early last week.

Learning today of the approach of 200 to 300 men, who threatened to storm the jail, Sherif F. B. McLane of Abbeville county telephoned to Gov. Olin D. Johnston at Columbia for a company of the National Guard. It was mustered quickly from Abbeville under Capt. A. B. Godfrey.

The troops arrived and surrounded the jail and soon about 100 men arrived in trucks and demanded the colored men, but departed.

Strickland said the colored men had made an unprovoked attack on him Monday night on the church grounds.

RELIEVES SEVEREST CASES OF SUNBURN

"SALT WATER AND BLAZING SUN GAVE ME SEVERE SUNBURN"
says Eric Johnson who braved Atlantic in tiny 15 foot sloop
"THE 10th day out, the sea was washing over the side of the boat," says Eric Johnson, who with a companion sailed from Bermuda to New York. "We were stripped to our waists in shorts, bailing furiously. The combination of salt water, driving winds, and blazing sun, gave me the severest sunburn ever. I figured I'd be laid up for over a week. Carl Holmes reminded me of our jar of Noxzema. It gave instant relief to my parched, burned skin. I slept well—and was on the job in the morning, cool and comfortable."

AFRAID TO GET HOUSE WARM BECAUSE OF NEXT GAS BILL

Mrs. Anna L. Grennan of 720 East 72nd Street, Chicago, who made a gas experiment which cost her $140 cash and a lot of worry.

True Experiences

Ask any member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association to show you "True Experiences," letters from homeowners in all sections of Chicago who have tried gas or oil and gone back to coal or coke.

South Side Resident Was "Heating With Dollar Bills" Yet Never Comfortable

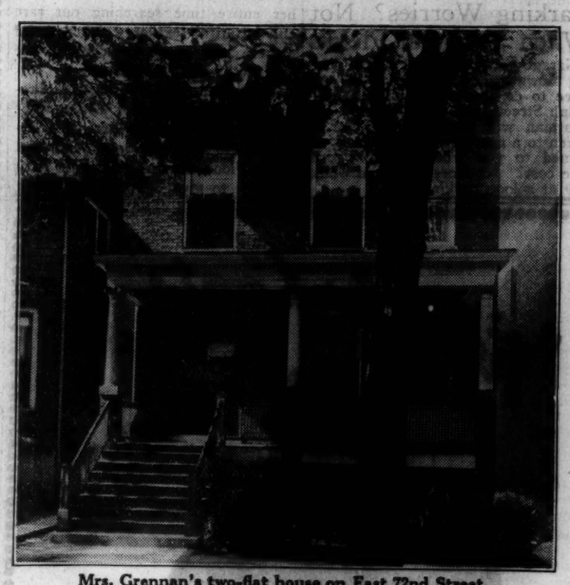
GAS COST $308 • COAL COST $168

Widow With Three Children Has to Pay $140 More For Heat, But Basement and Tenant's Flat Were Always Cold

A winter of discomfort and worry, a threatened loss of income from a tenant's rent, and an added expense of $140 in cash was the cost of Mrs. Grennan's experiment with gas heat.

It's just as easy and much cheaper to learn from the experience of others—that coal and coke are the only wholly dependable and suitable fuels for Chicago winter weather.

After reading Mrs. Grennan's letter, which speaks for itself, a good antidote will be to read the practical reasons why coal or coke has been discovered to be the most suitable and least expensive fuel for Chicago. These reasons are given repeatedly in the hundreds of letters that come to us from people who have made the costly experiment with gas and have come back to coal and coke.



Mrs. Grennan's two-flat house on East 72nd Street. She was "heating with dollar bills" when she tried gas.

Why Coal or Coke Is Best For Heating

EVEN HEAT—No sudden stopping and starting of the furnace or boiler when you use coal or coke. No quickly fluctuating temperatures which are so bad for the health. With coal or coke you get a constant flow of warmth every minute of the day or night.

CLEAN HEAT—Coal or coke gives normal, clean and healthful heat. A natural fuel that you use in the way nature intended.

GENEROUS WARMTH—Coal or coke gives all the heat you can stand, whenever you want it. The amount of heat a good, coal-fired furnace or boiler will deliver in a given time is far in excess of what you can endure; but it's a comfort to know the excess is there when a Chicago winter is doing its worst.

COSTS MUCH LESS—Coal or coke bills do not run as high as gas or oil bills. Generally the difference is one half—in favor of coal or coke. Read Mrs. Grennan's evidence. Read also the evidence in "True Experiences."

AUTOMATIC COAL HEATING IF DESIRED—There is no required investment in essential equipment as with gas and oil. However, if automatic heat is desired, regulators are available as low as $19 installed. If self-feeding service is desired, an automatic coal or coke stoker provides this convenience at much less cost than for any other fuel.

MRS. GRENNAN'S LETTER

Chicago Coal Merchants Association
30 North La Salle Street
Chicago, Illinois

Gentlemen:

INDUCED to try gas heating, I took a chance, thinking it might prove convenient for my family—myself, a widow, and three girls—in our two-flat of six rooms each.

Our September bill came. For heating alone, thirteen dollars. Not bad But in December, exclusive of equipment rental and cooking gas, sixty-one dollars!

We were heating with dollar bills. Yet never were comfortable. Too cold to relax. Too fearful of the next bill to push up the infernal thermostat to eighty and really heat the house. The basement, previously warm, became frigid, our tenant's flat cold.

For enjoying these gas "luxuries" we paid one hundred and forty dollars more this winter than it cost to heat with coal. The comparative figures are:

COAL—ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-EIGHT DOLLARS.

GAS— THREE HUNDRED AND EIGHT!!!

Old King Coal was a cozy old soul—and a money-saver too.

MRS. ANNA L. GRENNAN (Signed)
720 East 72nd Street, Chicago, Illinois

WIDOW LOSES $140 ON GAS EXPERIMENT

Mrs. Grennan's sad experience in picture form

Induced by the public utility's representative to try the gas installation, Mrs. Grennan decides to take a chance—

Then the sock on the chin—sixty-one dollars for gas in December! That was pretty tough for a widow to take.

Too cold to relax. Too fearful of the next gas bill to push up the thermostat to eighty and really heat the house.

Tenant complains that her flat is cold. What a catastrophe if they should move, cutting off that source of income.

Back to coal again—and comfort, not to mention economy. "Old King Coal was a cozy old soul and a money-saver, too."

Order your winter's warmth NOW—from any member of this association.

Miss DeLay and Johnson Wed Sept. 7

Many Parties to Precede North Shore Ceremony.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IN one of the loveliest of the early September weddings on the north shore, Miss Margaret Barclay DeLay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. DeLay of Winnetka, will become the bride of Pickens Johnson of Milwaukee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Johnson of Evanston.

The service is to be read at 4:30 o'clock the afternoon of Sept. 7 in the chapel of Christ church, Winnetka, and then there is to be a small reception in the parish house.

Miss DeLay will have her sister, Virginia, who followed her at Smith college, for her only grownup attendant, but she will have her own little niece and Mr. Johnson's little niece, both 6 year olds, for her flower girls. Little Barbara DeLay, daughter of the David DeLays of Barrington, is the bride's niece, and Joan Cristal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cristal of Milwaukee, is the niece of Mr. Johnson.

Henry Garrett Will Be Best Man.

Henry Garrett of Winnetka will serve Mr. Johnson as best man. The half dozen ushers will include Oliver Vinnedge of Evanston and his brother, Russell Vinnedge of Highland Park; Harris Wilder of Lake Forest, David DeLay, Gordon DeLay of Cedar Rapids, Ia., another brother of the bride, and Philip Cristal. Mrs. Gordon DeLay will come with her husband from Iowa for the wedding and so will her sister and brother, John and Elizabeth Corey.

Mr. Johnson and Miss DeLay have not decided where they will go on their wedding trip, but upon their return they will go to Milwaukee to make their home.

Many parties are planned for them between now and Sept. 7. Miss Marjorie Windes is having a luncheon for Miss DeLay at her Winnetka home next Saturday. A week from last night Miss Jane Harding will entertain for both Miss DeLay and Mr. Johnson at a beach party at her home, and on Aug. 21 Mrs. C. Francis Pearce of Glencoe will have a dinner and theater party for them. Mrs. Richard Walsh of Winnetka has issued invitations for a kitchen shower tea for Miss DeLay Sept. 4.

Carol Borchard and Robert Durham Engaged.

Interesting, romantic news from Round Pond, Me., is occasioning a flurry of congratulatory telegrams in that direction, for at a dinner there Saturday night Prof. and Mrs. Edwin M. Borchard announced the engagement of their daughter, Carol, to Robert Gregory Durham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ewing Durham of Hubbard Woods. Miss Borchard's father is professor of international law at the Yale law school. He and Mrs. Borchard, who naturally live in New Haven, Conn., during the winter, have taken a house in Round Pond for the latter part of the summer, and young Mr. Durham will remain their guest through the month.

Miss Borchard was graduated from Miss Day's school in New Haven and has just finished her sophomore year at Smith college. Mr. Durham will be graduated next June from Harvard university. His Chicago friends will have the opportunity to renew acquaintance with Miss Borchard in the early fall, for she is coming west to visit the Durhams at that time. It was while she was in Chicago last year that she met Mr. Durham.

Mr. Durham's sister, Miss Betty Durham, is in Switzerland this summer visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, who has a chalet near Geneva. Miss Durham's visit to Geneva is not entirely of a frivolous nature, for she has a position with the Geneva Commission of Foreign Policy association and her daily task is to show American visitors around the political headquarters. Mrs. Gregory and Miss Durham will return to Chicago in the early fall.

Announce Engagement of Starr Taber, L. Y. Crump.

Another announcement of interest being made this morning is that of the engagement of Miss Starr Taber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Taber of 190 East Chestnut street, and Lawrence Y. Crump, son of William R. H. Crump of Chevy Chase, Md. Young Mr. Crump has been living in Chicago for some time, since he is in business here. The wedding is planned for early October.

Activity of the north shore's younger set has been enlivened the last few days by the visit of Miss Barbara Chesney of Pittsfield, Mass., who is the house guest of Miss Frances Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell of Winnetka. Miss Chesney, who is a classmate of Miss Bell's at Smith college, is not to be here long, as the Bells are leaving shortly for Huron mountain where they will remain until after Labor day.

There are numerous informal parties being given in Barrington just now for three attractive Kentucky visitors, cousins of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lee Hughes and their daughters, Miss Kean Hughes and Mrs. Lawrence Bateman. The visitors are the Misses Ellen and Anne Whitehead, who are with the Hugheses, and their sister, Mrs. Arthur Bonnycastle, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs.

A September Bride

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Josephine Templeton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth S. Templeton of Lake Forest, will become the bride of Sidney D. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney G. Johnson of Rahway, N. J., on September 14. The service will be read in the afternoon at the Church of the Holy Spirit with a reception following at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Templeton.

Eyes Suffer Added Strain During the Summer Season

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Don't forget the eyes, girls! They're going to matter a great deal this coming season. You're going to want to try out some of the fascinating eye shadows and mascaras if you're still young enough in mind and body to put a little faith in good eye work.

The summer works a great deal of mischief on eyes. First, that glaring light on hot sands. Then if you have been riding a good deal the wind gets in your eyes. O, yes, and there's the smoke that gets in the cigaret smoker's eyes. In this latter event the trick is to use the cigaret so that the smoke blows the other way. Or, stop smoking if the eyes are beginning to feel the effects of the "weed." Or, use a cigaret holder so that the smoke is held at arm's length.

There's a great help for the tired eye and the strained one in cold applications in the form of cold compresses. One woman I know has the habit of applying a cold compress to her eyes after every face washing, and her eyes are fine, clear ones as a consequence. She's been doing this for quite a while now and proves it to be an excellent practice. She simply keeps a clean wash cloth on hand in the bathroom, lets the water run cold, and applies the cold, wet compress to her closed lids. I note the skin around her eyes to be particularly good, and she's not a young person either.

If you're going out evenings and want an eye-opener a good stunt is to lie down for five or ten minutes with a bowl of ice water on the bedside table and apply the cold compress several times while you're resting. Then you can sign your name Bright Eyes.

If the eyes are especially tired or irritated looking it is suggested that you use hot compresses first. Soak your clean wash rag in hot water every minute or two and apply to the lids. But finish off with the cold compress.

It won't hurt, either, to take a teaspoonful of common salt and add it to a pint of warm water or a heaping teaspoonful of boric acid crystals dissolved in a pint of hot water. Allow to cool and then use a fresh wad of sterile cotton for each eye. Either of these solutions makes a fine eye wash.

Through the Looking Glass

Consider this a word to the wise: Don't get too gay and let the sun ruin your hair. Being a sun baby is fun and awfully good for a whole flock of ailments. But if your hair is naturally dry, or in none too good shape anyway what with too many permanents one on top of the other, overdoses of sun can do it more harm than you dreamed of. We know because it's just happened to us.

If you must go hatless remember that you must pay for that pleasure. Every night and every morning give yourself a scalp massage—and a little oil won't hurt, either, if the strands seem to be unduly brittle. Your hairbrush should get a greater workout than ever if you're swimming and sunning.

Incidentally, all the things you've heard about the harm salt water does to your hair seem to be pretty true. We've been quizzing hairdressers on the subject. If your hair gets soaked while you swim do give yourself a quick but effective shampoo right after you emerge from the waves. There are so many efficient shampoos, easy to use in a jiffy, that there isn't any excuse for not washing your hair yourself, though you're miles from a beauty shop. Of course, if you are one who needs a finger wave after each shampoo you have other little complications. Some women can do marvels with combs and a wave set lotion but most of us, we're afraid, are butter fingered when it comes to such skill.

If your hair is already horribly dried out from too much sun and too little care you'll like a cream wave set lotion that recently turned up. It's easy to use—but not particularly satisfactory, we thought, unless the hair was very dry and rather coarse. It didn't work so well on fine hair, we found—but for the bristly kind, all sun dried and kinky, it's excellent. Leaves it lustrous and with a lasting wave.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

KIND: Comedy. [????].

FUNNY: If you're asking me—NO!

ACTING: The best work is done by Alan Mowbray as an Englishman, and Anita Louise as a sweet young thing. Alice Brady overplays lamentably. In justice to her be it said that her rôle was a weird conglomeration to start with.

DIRECTION: Fair.

STAGING, SCENERY, SOUND, ETC.: All right.

STORY: A railroad camp cook [Miss Brady] inherits a fortune. She devotes same to the business of becoming a lady so that her adored niece, who she's educated among the crème de la crème [???] and who is engaged to a scion of same, will not be ashamed of her. Unusual business of entrance into unfamiliar circles and the confounding and conquering of their habitués.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: In reverse as far as deponent is concerned. Fortunate for the movie makers that all God's chillun don't think alike.

See you tomorrow!

Penelope Borden Engaged to Wed Summitt E. Boone

East Hampton, N. Y., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Mrs. Lewis Mercer Borden of East Hampton and New York today announced the engagement of her daughter, Penelope, to Summitt Edward Boone, son of Mrs. Rapelje Howell of New York and Dr. William Boone of Champaign, Ill. The wedding will take place in the fall. Miss Borden is a direct descendant of Roger Williams and is the great-granddaughter of Gail Borden. She attended the Veltin and Chandor schools in New York and was graduated from Dana Hall and Pine Manor. She was presented to New York society in December, 1931. Mr. Boone attended the University of Illinois.

Front Views and Profiles

BAVARIA.—Now that we have crossed the boundary between Thuringia and Bavaria certain differences in the country are to be noted. The cow is often the beast of burden; the oberland peasant costume has begun to appear. And the multitudinous shrines and Virgins and saints that greet the eye everywhere proclaim that this is indeed Catholic Bavaria.

* *

SHORTLY before we entered Bavaria we stopped at Feengrotten to see the colored grottoes, said to have been Wagner's inspiration for the settings for "Parsifal." Passing down a long underground gallery in an alum and vitriol mine, abandoned before the middle of the eighteenth century, we were shown a series of grottoes. A company of peasant women had come to see the grottoes and, in charge of a lady from the Red Cross, entered the dark and dripping gallery as we did. It was a holiday afternoon for them and there was much merry badinage in German which we were unable to understand.

The German people are intensely interested in their historic places, their old churches and other points of interest it becomes apparent from the numbers of German tourists we encounter. They arrive in buses or on foot, with rucksacks on their backs, in twos and threes, or in groups, with German Baedekers frequently in their hands.

As we entered the two towns, on the road to Bamberger, there were large signs prominently displayed reading "Jews Are Not Wanted Here" and "The Jews Are Our Misfortune."

* *

THE ancient city of Bamberger is a sight to be long remembered. There is hardly a spot toward which one can look that would not tempt an artist fond of sketchin: the quaint, in spite of the fact that it is a city of some 48,000 inhabitants. Half timbered houses, the plaster part of faded pinks and terra cottas and orange shades; the window boxes filled with petunias and geraniums; the narrow, twisting streets, the rococo saints that are inset in niches in the house walls; the shrines at the corners of the streets, the ancient churches, the rathaus, or to[illegible] hall, set on piles in the middle of the river and adorned with allegorical frescoes, and the tower above the bridge adorned with two rococo balconies all are part of its charm. From the bridge we had a view of the quaint fishermen's houses lining the banks down stream a short way, their boats moored outside their houses.

Sally's Guests to See Shirley Temple in Film

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Comin' to my party next week? You had better, because it's going to be a grand one!

Just in case you didn't see the good news yesterday, I'll tell you about what we're going to do on Aug. 22. On that day I'm going to take fifty boys and fifty girls to the Chicago theater, to see little Shirley Temple in her latest picture, "Curly Top."

I asked our Mae Tinée about the film and she said she was sure you'd all love it—and if that's what she thinks, it must be true. You see, it's all about a little girl who has no mother nor father, and has to live in an orphanage. She does have a big sister, though, who's awfully good to her.

Neither of them have so very much fun until John Boles comes along, and then—but you'll have to wait to see the picture to find out what happens, I'm not going to tell you and give the whole plot away! I will tell you how to win an invitation, though, just in case you don't know.

My purpose in having these parties is to see that you boys and girls have a good time, and when I'm having a movie party, I naturally want to take boys and girls who like movies and Shirley Temple, and who will have a lot of fun seeing "Curly Top"—just as I want real baseball fans who enjoy the game when I have a baseball party.

If you think you'd like coming to the Chicago theater with me, write me a letter and tell me all about it. You must write the letter yourself—if mother or father write it for you it'll just go in the waste basket. Be sure to tell me your full name, address and age, and mail your note so that it will reach me by next Thursday morning.

My address is Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Smart Trims Mark Clothes for Fall Wear

Ornaments Tell Newness of Your Wardrobe.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Here are some suggestions on trimming for the early bird shopper out for some new clothes!

No longer can you dash to town, shrug your shoulders into a simple unadorned costume and know that you are as smartly apparelled as the next one . . . it's the trimmings, the doo-dads that will mark the spotlight stealing creation this fall.

Whether you buy for street, afternoon, or evening, the newest models are cleverly embellished.

Yards of braid, plain and fancy, have been used—that old fashioned shiny stuff called military braid, soutache braid, and corded varieties. We saw one dark wool dress with a couple of dozen short pieces of braid marching down the center front from neck to hem. These pieces were pulled through as many slits and the ends of the braid were fringed.

Other entertaining new arrivals are covered with frogs, decorative affairs that keep the fitted blouse and bodice tops snugly and smartly tight over the chest.

Afternoon clothes go in for such unusual ideas as necklace necklines. One we saw of dull black had a necklace of costume jewelry, gold metal flowers sewed right around the high neckline of the dress itself, which is somebody's bright idea of always having your necklace with you. Big gold and silver metal clips or clasps, the bigger the better, hold the tops of new velveteen suits together. Huge belt buckles are "in" and some suede numbers have metal bow knots at least six inches square at the outside.

In the photograph you'll see the snappy new fall silhouette, a plaited skirt, both front and back, with a flaring peplum blouse. Again you'll notice the trimming . . . the long sleeves are fastened with dozens of ball covered buttons to match the many buttons going down the front. A high neckline ties with a bow. But the things that will catch your eye are the twinkling nail head ornamentation of the blouse, the mark of the all new clothes. This outfit comes in wine red with silver nail heads. The small draped velvet turban and dress are from the same Chicago shop.

For Afternoon

From a Chicago Shop—Two piece afternoon ensemble of wine red heavy silk. The slim plaited skirt is topped with a flared peplum blouse decorated with glittering silver metal nail heads; also repeated in the wide belt. Covered buttons trim the sleeves and the front of the blouse.

20,000 Push to See Shirley Temple in Hawaii; Near Riot

HONOLULU, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Twenty thousand children and adults, seeking a glimpse of Shirley Temple on her only scheduled public appearance while on her Hawaiian vacation, nearly precipitated a riot today. The crowd broke rope barriers, hurled aside 20 policemen, 50 guardsmen, and 100 Boy Scouts and stormed toward Iolani palace, forcing Shirley and her party to retire inside.

The Husband Snatcher

By Elizabeth York Miller.

SYNOPSIS.

Nancy and Dick Heritage have been married for two years and are still greatly in love. Though Nancy is hated by Edith Heritage, her mother-in-law, she has come to live with them in their little house in Primrose Dene, near London. There is a gap of four years in Nancy's life which she had not satisfactorily accounted for. Nancy is informed by Mr. Sam Digger, attorney, that she has been bequeathed £5,000 by Miss Agnes Satchell, late governor of a girls' reformatory, where Nancy had been committed for four years. Nancy had been employed by a Mrs. Lane and was accused of theft. Sylvia, Mrs. Lane's daughter, was the real culprit. Sylvia threatened to kill herself if Nancy exposed her. Nancy foolishly took the blame, though she possessed a signed confession from Sylvia. Miss Satchell believed in Nancy's innocence. Dick and his mother are displeased when they learn that Nancy is expecting a baby. Edith Heritage invites a friend, Mrs. Lane, and her daughter, Sylvia, for tea. Nancy pleads a dentist's appointment. The Lanes arrive just as Dick comes home. They are startled when they see Nancy's photograph, but Sylvia, who is interested in Dick, explains that Nancy had lived with them, and they'd had a misunderstanding, but bygones were bygones. Nancy returns home after the Lanes had left and has a quarrel with Mrs. Heritage, who threatens to leave.

INSTALMENT XIII.

A FORCED APOLOGY.

Nancy realized that some of the blame was hers, but her sense of justice was too well developed for her to admit it was entirely her fault.

There had been an unexpected sting in Dick's remark about hospitality. It implied—almost as cleverly as his mother might have done—that Nancy's manners lacked polish. She had behaved rudely to one who, although a relation, was also a guest. Yet hadn't Mrs. Heritage begun it? Yesterday Minnie had been rude to her for the same reason. A privileged person was Mrs. Edith Heritage. She could hit you, but you must in no circumstances hit back.

"Now you've done it!" said Dick, coldly severe. "Do you hear that?"

One not only heard it but might almost visualize the sound—Edith struggling with the big wardrobe trunk. Of course, she wanted them to hear it. She was making ever so much more racket than was necessary.

"She's going to leave us," Dick informed Nancy. "And you know she hasn't any money—or very little. It was a caddish trick, Nance."

Slowly the color receded from Nancy's face. She wanted to say that she felt certain his mother was not going away; she wanted to say also that she wished with all her heart and soul that she would go away. But that was not the real issue at this moment. Something bigger, far more important than that was implied. The affair had become personal between them.

When everything was weighed and sifted, it amounted to this: Two days ago Dick Heritage would never have spoken to his wife as he was doing now, and there was positive distaste in the expression of his eyes. They were telling her that she was losing comeliness. Dick's eyes, perhaps, were incapable of more than a skin-deep penetration. He needed spectacles.

He could only see that she had become unbelievably plain for one who had possessed for him a conquering sort of beauty. And acid. How unkindly she had spoken of Sylvia Lane, who had said only the nicest things about her, and with what venom she had attacked his mother.

Nancy on her part was thinking: "This is a crisis—not a very big one, I hope, but it may lead to others. What shall I do?"

She had got in all wrong somehow. It had been stupid to hit back at his mother. What earthly good had it done? Perhaps Dick was right, and it was a caddish thing to have accused her mother-in-law so openly. She should have put on the velvet gloves and disguised her claws.

"I'll apologize," Nancy said, swallowing hard at her pride. O, wouldn't the thing go down! She felt as rebellious as a schoolgirl; all the same, she would apologize if it killed her.

"Handsome of you," Dick remarked. He lit a cigaret, thrust his hands into his pockets and strolled out on the veranda.

Such an attitude did not give Nancy very much assistance in the matter of controling her temper. She bit her lip vexatiously and listened for what might be going on upstairs. It was quiet now; the bumping had ceased, and by contrast there seemed to be an ominous quality in the very stillness.

O well, better go up and get it over.

Edith Heritage also had been waiting and listening. She had got her trunk in and opened drawers and flung a few things from the wardrobe on to her bed to set the scene, but now she waited in a state of apprehension that soon might develop into genuine alarm. She heard her son whistling on the veranda. Surely he, at least, should have come to comfort and console her. If he left it to Nancy, then that meant he was tacitly taking Nancy's part.

There was a reluctant step on the stairs, and Mrs. Heritage flew to empty the contents of a drawer into her trunk. She was on her knees carefully folding a blouse when Nancy gave a spiritless tap at the door.

"Is that you, Minnie?"

"No, it's Nancy, mother. May I come in a moment?"

"It's your house, Nancy. Of course you may come in."

Mrs. Heritage shook out a lace-trimmed camisole and was turning around to look for some tissue paper as Nancy entered.

"Mother, I'm awfully sorry." Did her voice sound convincing?

Mrs. Heritage was brisk and businesslike. "So am I, Nancy. It was most unfortunate, but in the circumstances I think I'd better look for another home."

"Mother—please! Dick is so upset. I don't know what he'll do if you go away."

Mrs. Heritage folded the camisole, laid it in the tray and got to her feet. "But you would be glad if I went, wouldn't you?"

What a question! Nancy begged it with an appearance of genuine frankness. Indeed, she almost believed she was telling the truth.

"I'd be much, much happier if you stayed and made me feel that I am forgiven. I take back every word I said, and honestly I mean that, mother. Please try to forgive me and forget we ever had that horrid little scene. I won't make excuses for myself—I'll just say again that I'm sorry."

Edith allowed herself to weaken, and she did it artistically, remembering that she was a great lady dealing with an inferior who unfortunately had snared her son.

"If you put it like that, Nancy, of course I forgive you." The tone of her voice said: "But don't let it happen again, my good girl, or you'll find yourself looking for another situation."

"I'm very grateful, mother. May I help you to put your things back?"

"No, thank you, Nancy. It won't take me very long."

However, she let Nancy drag the heavy trunk out again.

They had not kissed and there had been no emotional scene. One knew that the affair had only been glossed over, after all. Nancy still had volunteered no information on the subject of her trouble with the Lanes, and to Edith that was the only point which really mattered.

"I don't think I will come downstairs again this evening," she said with a faint smile. "My nerves are a little exhausted. I shall go to bed and try to read if I find I can't sleep."

"Is there anything I can get for you?" Nancy asked uncomfortably.

"Nothing at all, my dear."

"Perhaps you would like to see Dick?"

Mrs. Heritage shook her head. "I think not. Anyway, if my son wishes to see me, he knows where I am. I shall probably have a hot bath—if there is any water. It might rest me."

This news had to be carried to the kitchen, so Nancy said she would make sure there was hot water and took her departure on a fairly brisk and cheerful note.

She knew that the boiler would be going because this happened to be Minnie's mid-week bath night, but Minnie would have to be warned not to go near the bathroom until Mrs. Heritage had finished with it.

After she had spoken to Minnie, Nancy went to look for Dick, but he was nowhere to be found. Apparently he had gone out. Vaguely, she wondered where. Usually it was like dragging a ton weight to get him to go anywhere once he had settled in for the evening, and never before had he gone without telling her and giving her a kiss of farewell. Dick took every opportunity for snatching a kiss.

Nancy sat down by a window in the living room, and although her work basket with a half finished pullover she was knitting for Dick stood conveniently to hand, she remained idle for once in her busy and hitherto happy married life, allowing herself to speculate upon the future. The forecast was a little dark.

Jack Oakie Has 'Only Girl,' but HidesHerName

It's Just a Precaution Against Chiselers.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—This time it is real romance in the life of Jack Oakie. But since he is somewhat of a smart fellow he is keeping the identity of his new charmer a secret. She is an eastern girl who is now visiting in Hollywood. Oakie made the fatal mistake of placing her picture in a very beautiful frame on a table in his dressing room at Paramount. It is autographed "With love, Vimie."

To hear Oakie describe her one would think she is the only girl in the world. Evidently she is, for he indicates she leads the parade in so far as his affections are concerned. He admits the reason he is backward about showing her off is because there are too many chiselers in filmland. However, there's a bad break in store for "Vimie." Oakie starts his new picture, "Collegiate," with Joe Penner today. And they go on location at Canoga Park along with 200 exceedingly pretty young women who will be used for "atmosphere" purposes. Oakie definitly is a lady's man.

Heeding the advice of his friends, Klaytan Kirby, the dancer, is to undergo a plastic surgery operation to change his nose. He will submit to ether as soon as he completes a short subject picture to be made by M-G-M. The operation will straighten his nose to make him a better photographic subject which may lead to more important things for him in the cinema.

A strange sight met the eyes of visitors on the set where Richard Boleslawski is directing Lawrence Tibbett in "Metropolitan" for Twentieth Century-Fox. The gaffers [electricians] were lighting a new camera setup and over in the corner were Boleslawski and Tibbett doing some harmonizing. Boley discovered that Tibbett knew some of the songs of his native Poland, and they dished up a few for the entertainment of the company.

That scalp wound Harold Lloyd is nursing is due to overanxiety on the part of a girl bit player to register in a big way for a scene in his picture, "The Milky Way." Lloyd lay prone in a prize fight ring and a woman fan was supposed to leap into the squared circle and clip a lock of hair from his head. Instead she jabbed the scissors into his scalp.

After more than three months of sparring with the Marx brothers directing them in "A Night at the Opera," Sam Wood figures he is entitled to a vacation. He is sailing on the Lurline Aug. 24 for a sojourn in Honolulu. This will mark his first visit since he purchased a home at Waikiki.

If a person ever gets bitten by the film bug he stays bitten. Take the case of Walter Johnson, juvenile actor. His old classmate at University of Pennsylvania, Francis Curtis, who is now producing on Broadway, made the long trip out here to prevail on Johnson to return with him for a rôle in "Youth's Gesture." He chose to remain and take his chances in Hollywood.

Henry Wadsworth entertained a newspaper fellow from his home town in Kentucky and he bared all the details of his life and told about how it feels to act on the stage and screen. Next day he received from his friend a book titled "How to Act in Six Lessons." Wadsworth doesn't know whether to get mad or not.

Wynne Gibson lands in New York on Aug. 16 after having made two pictures in England. She will take a boat to Hollywood via the Panama Canal.

Bateman. Mrs. Bateman is the former Charlotte Hughes. Miss Ellen is leaving Barrington today for a visit with her grandfather, Bishop Charles Edward Woodcock, at Leland, Mich.; but Mrs. Bonnycastle will remain with her cousin until the end of this week. Miss Anne is making a longer visit, for she will be in Barrington until the 25th of this month.

Miss Billie Andersen is giving a luncheon today at her summer home in Lauderdale, Wis., for Miss Betty Edmonds, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Edmonds of Winnetka, who is to be married to William A. Frazer Jr. on Friday, Aug. 30. Miss Andersen will be one of the bridesmaids in Miss Edmonds' wedding.

James Simpsons Off for England Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson, who usually plan to get to Scotland for the shooting season, are not taking the ancient castle they have had in previous years because their trip this summer is to be a short one. They are sailing on the Bremen for England Wednesday and they will be back in Chicago by Sept. 16.

The Ronald P. Boardmans and Mr. and Mrs. James F. Oates Jr. are leaving next Friday to spend three weeks in the Adirondacks as guests of Mr. Boardman's mother, Mrs. Harry Boardman. The senior Mrs. Boardman has taken a cottage in part of the Adirondack League club estate in the wildest bit of the mountains, and the foursome will do nothing but fish, hike, and swim during the vacation.

Mrs. Lester B. Knight Jr. departed Saturday for Spring Lake, Mich., where her grandfather, Charles E. Field, and his wife have just built a new summer home. Mrs. Knight was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Charles B. Field, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Eugene G. Fauntleroy, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rueben A. Dugan, in Lake Forest. Mrs. Knight will be gone until Labor day.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Aldis and their children and Mr. and Mrs. Luther S. Hammond Jr., Mrs. Aldis' brother-in-law and sister, left Saturday for York Harbor, Me., to visit Mrs. Arthur Aldis for two weeks.

Opera Benefit for U. of C. Settlement This Week.

With benefits as rare as snowflakes during the summer months, the directors of the University of Chicago settlement have every reason to believe that they will reap an important and necessary sum from the benefit performances of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado," to be given by the Chicago Comic Opera company Thursday and Friday evenings. The opera will be heard in Mandel hall on the university campus.

Prof. Algernon Coleman and Prof. William Scott are the co-chairmen arranging the event. They point out that its success means the continuation of gym classes, art classes, amateur dramatics, classes in airplane modeling, handicraft, sewing, and music for the 2,000 needy Chicagoans living in the vicinity of the settlement.

Tennis Program at Indian Hill.

The Indian Hill Country club has tennis matches scheduled for every Saturday or Sunday the rest of the summer. Yesterday on its own courts, Indian Hill, represented by Albert Winston, Richard P. Matthiessen, Donald Brown, and George M. McConnell played the Evanston Country club team of Karl Kamrath, Gair Tourtellot, Wesley Allen, and Lindsay Beaton.

Some time this week the ladies' teams of the two clubs will meet. From Indian Hill will be Miss Marie Louise Gardner, Mrs. Edgar Stevens, Mrs. Paul Chace, and Mrs. William H. Littell, and from Evanston will be Mrs. Karl Kamrath, captain; Miss Luella Douglas, Miss Eleanor Lippincott, Miss Margaret Anderson, and Miss Betty Archer.

The Evanston club will have an exhibition match on Wednesday between Mrs. Kamrath and Mrs. Phillip Bateman, who is the former Dorothy Hack.

Slim Lines in Practical Frock

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

A dress like the one sketched is especially lovely to wear at home. It has only one belt fastening and thus is quickly slipped on and adjusted to the figure. It has a slenderizing front panel and the frills also are slimming. Of course, it may be made without the ruffle at the bottom if you prefer. One practical detail is that the frock opens out flat for ironing. Lilac and white checked gingham, or blue and white, will look and be cool and pretty.

The pattern, No. 2929, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4¾ yards of 39 inch material.

Child's Misbehavior May Be Traceable to a Physical Ill

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The time is coming when a large proportion of what we call mental ills and emotional disturbances will be cleared up from the physical end. This is, of course, being done to a large extent at the present time, but only to a small degree compared with what is to be done in this direction in the future.

When we read of some types of insanity being cured by restoring the glandular balance, of nervous conditions being cleared up through diet, of the unceasing experimentation that is being carried on in the laboratory as well as on the "human guinea pig," it gives us a glimpse of what the future holds of health and happiness for the race.

Mothers and fathers should take note of this.

Parents who are worried over the nervous condition or special nervous habits or emotional upsets of their children of any age, or their inability to function in school or other ways, should look first to their bodies.

There is such a thing [speaking unscientifically] as negative health and positive health. Your child may, we may say, have nothing actually the matter with him and yet not be in a state of positive health. Or he can be so well—in such a positive state of exuberant health— that that in itself gives him a feeling that "all's right with the world," and his behavior reflects this feeling. To be like this, a child needs to live vigorously, to have hours of active, joyous play in the life giving air and sun, to sleep soundly, and to eat well.

If your child is out of tune with life, begin on his body. And no time could be better than now—than summer. First, have a good doctor look him over thoroughly— a doctor in private practice or at a clinic.

Then build him up. Let your housework slide if necessary so he can have hours each day outdoors. Dress him as lightly as possible so that his body can store up sunshine for now and for the winter months ahead. Feed him well. Watch his sleep. And give him all the freedom you can.

This subject will be continued tomorrow.

Mothers of nervous children will find suggestions in our leaflet, "Helping the Nervous Child," which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BY MARY MEADE.

We can't decide just what we like best about the new salad tray idea. Maybe it's just that the tray idea [for cheeses and the like] always has had a certain charm. Or perhaps it's because it's so attractive a service for such a minimum amount of preparation time.

At any rate, serving a variety of salads [with a variety of dressings handy] on a large wooden cheese tray is something about which we've seen guests simply go wild. For a buffet luncheon or for solving the inevitable bridge refreshment problem, it's exactly right for the tail end of a hot summer season. Small sandwiches, frosty glasses of your pet drink—and your party's planned!

Native ingenuity will, no doubt, decide just what attractive salad offerings will come forth from your refrigerator. With quite ordinary ingredients, and an absolute minimum of pains, an intriguing list of suggestions like this one [compiled by a clever young woman about town whose idea the tray is] probably will come tumbling out of your own little brain cells.

A pear salad or two, perhaps? One which boasts the name "Continental" may be nothing more than well chilled and drained pear halves, filled with a mixture of chopped maraschino cherries and cream cheese, and served in twos on a thick bed of chicory. Or, it might well be a mint pear affair, like this. Place a pear half, cut side up, on a thin slice of unpeeled orange. Fill each pear with softened cream cheese, and garnish each service with small squares of mint jelly.

Even more simple are a couple of pineapple dandies. The first uses a slice of canned pineapple, from which you've carefully sliced a thin layer off the top. A mound of cottage cheese goes atop the thick slice, the thin layer rides above that, and a cherry adds the final fillip.

To make a pineapple salad with a rose petal effect, all you need do is to top a slice of pineapple with a large ball of cream cheese, and stick thin radish slices [unpeeled] into the cheese to represent the flower petals.

For flavor, we vote for this next suggestion, however. Made with pineapple and peach halves, it may prove the most popular number on the tray. Slices of pineapple are centered with a mixture of chopped, ripe olives and Roquefort cheese. The peach half, cut side down, covers the cheese, and all the garnish you'll need is a thin strip of rosy pimiento.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

DUPLICATION.

I recently received a very touching letter from a resident of Chicago. The correspondent had, or so he informed me, battled the bridge craze for five years, but the ceaseless pounding at the wall of his indifference had finally worn away his resistance. With head bowed, he was even at that moment entering the lists—an unwilling gladiator.

The correspondent admitted that he had always pooh-poohed contract. "A puerile game, fit only for doddering graybeards or thwarted child prodigies" was the way he put it. But he had had no forewarning that it was necessary to be a linguist to play the blasted game. Books and columnists were only a further aggravation to him. These so-called experts went ahead on the assumption that a word to the wise was sufficient; that a phrase bespoke volumes.

"What, for example," asked the correspondent, "is duplication?"

Here is a hand that would be spread for seven were it not for duplication of values or "the peril of duplication"—two phrases that roll trippingly off the tongue. North has two little clubs; South has two little clubs. The opponents, by virtue of their strategic leading position, can cash two club tricks before either North or South gains the lead. Presumably forewarned by the bidding, North will, therefore, reach no higher a contract than four hearts.

Since East is not defending against either six or seven, he will probably not open the ace of clubs. Let us assume that he opens a trump. The trick is won in the declarer's hand, and the ten of diamonds played. East covers and South wins with the ace. A spade is played back to the ace and the long trump series started. As trump follows trump, East becomes more and more uncomfortable and is finally reduced to discarding his ace of clubs, but to no avail. North at the end of the long trail has two clubs and a diamond. East, discarding before the board, cannot keep both the king of spades and his guard to the diamond suit. Thus seven is made by a simple squeeze.

Six hearts is not the best contract for the simple reason that six hearts cannot be made. But in the particular game that sported the above combination of cards, six hearts was made.

A Mother's 'Right' to Late Hours Wrecks Happy Home

BY DORIS BLAKE.

They're in their mid-thirties, the man two years his wife's senior. There are two children. Until two years ago theirs was a household to which friends pointed as a happy one. Then entered the demon disturber. The woman joined an afternoon bridge club, a harmless enough pastime.

Several of the bridge companions were not all they might be. Two or three nights a week these women went out together to drinking places, flirted and picked up with men. Our woman fell in with these undesirables, and soon she was coming home reeling, around two and three in the morning. Her husband meekly urged her to get home earlier and to leave the liquor alone. The woman replied that every one else did it so why not she?

She did her housework, saw that the youngsters got to bed before she went out, so no one had any kick coming. This is a modern age, she reminded her man, when a wife is not responsible to her husband for her hours.

Well, in the two years there has been scene after scene, the woman holding to her right to late hours if so they pleased her fancy. The climax was reached one evening, recently, when the bell rang around 3 a. m. and the husband rose to greet his mate and chastise her, in return for which he was rewarded with a black eye and verbal indignities of unmentionable character.

The man's next move was to take himself and his clothes out and away from the house.

But that was no solution, for he loved the youngsters and felt they needed his protection more now. The woman turned around, refused to be a wife in any sense of the word, was agreeable to a divorce providing she received the bulk of the man's salary.

Now, my dear reader, if you can tell me any solution for such a situation, I shall be more than grateful.

6,000 SOLDIERS ENGAGE IN WAR PROBLEMS TODAY

Troops Will Pass Night on River Bank.

[BY A STAF CORRESPONDENT.]

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—At dawn tomorrow more than 6,000 National Guard troops of the 66th and 65th Infantry brigades, with full packs, will move out of camp afoot and in trucks to the banks of the Kishwaukee river, a few miles south, to engage in a two-day simulated war. The soldiers will camp overnight near the stream, engaging in the tactical problem and return to camp Tuesday.

The sham battle is more than just a test of the efficiency of the troops. The soldiers will be required to pitch camp and then the supply services will see that they are fed and provided with water.

When the actual mock combat starts, umpires will be on hand to make field decisions of the losses sustained by each unit.

Truck Use Emphasized.

One of the things the acting division commander, Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, wished to emphasize is the importance of the transport units learning to carry large bodies of men, loading and unloading them as quickly as possible.

For the battle tomorrow seventy trucks will be used to carry the rifle regiments. Organizations taking part in the maneuver are the 129th, 130th, 131st, 132d, and 8th infantry regiments, 108th combat engineers, 108th medical regiment, 106th cavalry and division special troops.

This was visiting day at the camp. More than 100,000 friends and relatives of the guardsmen came here to see how the citizen-soldiers carry on.

Wedding Feature of Day.

One of the features of visiting day was the marriage of Sergt. William Stanley Hart of Company K, 131st infantry, and Miss Ellen Ferne Hassinger, 2455 Armitage avenue, Chicago. The wedding took place in the company street and was performed by Maj. Frank R. Myers, regimental chaplain. Following the ceremony the regiment passed in review before the newly wedded couple. At taps Mrs. Hart returned to Chicago.

MME. GALLI-CURCI GAINS; HOPE FOR HER VOICE RISES

Mme. Amelita Galli-Curci, opera singer, showed continued improvement yesterday at Henrotin hospital from a goiter operation performed on Saturday. "She talked happily of the operation," said Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, her physician. "She said her throat felt as it did prior to the goiter growth and this gives us reason to be further optimistic that her voice will not suffer."

Dr. Kegel said it will be at least six months before the artist will be able to sing in public.

ALL-AMERICANS, BEARS HOLD FIRST PRACTICES TODAY

THOMAS, SPEARS MEET PLAYERS, PLAN WORKOUTS

Tackle Lee, at 255, Tops Squad.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-American football squad will be outfitted with practice equipment this morning at Dyche stadium. In the afternoon the coaches will order the first drill in the campaign to prepare for the battle with the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field Aug. 29.

More than 30 of the players had reported yesterday and by tonight the entire squad will be assembled with the exception of Joe Salatino, Santa Clara quarter back, who is due tomorrow. Frank Thomas of the University of Alabama, head coach of the All-Star team, arrived yesterday morning. He was followed a few hours later by Dr. C. W. Spears of the University of Wisconsin, who motored from Madison. Coach Charles Bachman of Michigan State is expected this morning, and Coach Edward (Slip) Madigan of St. Mary's will arrive by plane at 9 o'clock at Municipal airport.

On W-G-N Tonight.

Tonight the coaching staf of the All-American team will be interviewed over W-G-N for all radio stations that are members of the Mutual Broadcasting system. The broadcast will be part of the Midnight Flyers program.

It was a good natured crowd of players which assembled at noon yesterday at the Goodrich house and made short work of a chicken dinner. While no one player previously was acquainted with all of his teammates, each had friends in the group and in a short time all were at home. In the morning quite a few of the boys had a dip in Lake Michigan. In the afternoon all attended the Cubs-Cardinals baseball game at Wrigley field.

Regis Monahan, captain of Ohio State's team last fall, arrived at noon yesterday from his home in Pittsburgh. Monahan, unwillingly perhaps, had the first workout. When he left the elevated he couldn't find a taxi and walked to the Goodrich house lugging two suitcases.

Ah, There, Bears!

Big Bill Lee, Alabama tackle, will be tops for size on the All-American team. Lee weighs 255 pounds, something for the Bears' linemen to think about while they train at Delafield, Wis. At the opposite end of the physical chart is Cotton Warburton, Southern California quarter back, who could add 100 pounds and still fall short of Lee's weight.

Some of the boys who came from northern states remarked about the hot weather and hoped that Coach Thomas would order night practices.

"This isn't hot weather," Don Hutson, end from Alabama, told the critics. "This seems like a regular summer resort."

All-American sweaters, white with six inch American shields, have been ordered for all the players. They will be delivered today or tomorrow. Measurements for game uniforms, jersies, pants, stockings and so on will be taken this morning at Dyche stadium. Tomorrow morning each player will be examined by Dr. William Rothman of the TRIBUNE staf of physicians.

Scrimmages Tell Story.

Thomas indicated yesterday that the starting lineup for Aug. 29 would be determined by the result of scrimmages next week. Consequently, the battle for positions promises to be more determined than last year, and that developed such competition that

Borries Gets His Goal in Sport, Navy

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Evanston, Wyo., Aug. 11.—Shortly after his school days began in Louisville, Ky., Fred Borries Jr. became football conscious.

That was just about the time his juvenile nickname, Buster, was shortened to Buzz. It was at this same time that the yellow haired, brown eyed stripling also became Navy conscious. Two enthusiasms — football and naval service—have dominated Borries' life ever since those grammar school years. Now Buzz is en route to Chicago to join the all-American team for the game with the Bears on Aug. 29.

Fred Borries Sr., president of Ballard & Ballard Co., with a chain of flour mills over the south and headquarters in Louisville, lifted young Buzz out of the grammar grades in Louisville public schools and off the football sandlots of the Kentucky metropolis and sent him to Kavanaugh High school, a private boarding school at Lawrenceburg, Ky., 50 miles from Louisville.

There Buzz and a group of classmates ground away at Annapolis preparatory courses so thoroughly that eight Kavanaugh pupils entered the United States Naval academy when Buzz did. Buzz was the most proficient of this eight, or any other eight midshipmen of recent navy history, when it came to playing football.

At Kavanaugh in 1928 the school played four football games and Buzz was busy laying the foundation for future eminence as a pigskin packer, although the studious youngsters from the out of the way prep school in the Bluegrass did not win all their games.

In 1929, Buzz, then 17 and the same height as now—6 feet and a fraction of an inch—but skinny, came north to Stagg's interscholastic basketball tourney with the Kavanaugh team.

Braselton, Ga., put Buzz's five out of the running after the Kentuckians had a 10 point lead, but the fire of basketball competition burned deep into Borries' athletic ego, and he went on to become the player whom Annapolis coaches now describe as "the best basketball player in Naval academy history."

Football, with the kind of schedules Navy has had, gets to be very serious at times. Buzz says, "I like to play football, particularly a game like THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE game, where the players are all stars against you, but where everybody on your team is a star player, too. But in basketball I just relax and enjoy the game without worrying too much about it."

Fred Borries Sr. went to Louisville, Ky., from Jefferson, Ind. Buzz's paternal grandfather came to this coun-

BEARS SERIOUS AS DRILL OPENS TODAY FOR GAME

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 11.—Thirty-three members of the Chicago Bears football team arrived late today for two weeks' training prior to their game with the College All-Stars at Soldiers' field in Chicago on Aug. 29.

The squad, accompanied by Owner George Halas, will begin work tomorrow morning and continue twice daily until a day or two before the All-Star game. Strenuous drill will start immediately, Halas said, since the squad to a man reported in better than average physical condition.

These Bears Are Serious.

There was no levity as the squad unloaded from the bus which brought it from Chicago, and the players were assigned to their beds in the cadet dormitory at St. John's Military academy, the team's training base. This is a business trip. Last year's shocking surprise, a scoreless tie against the All-Stars, whom they had expected to defeat as easily if not more so than their fourteen preceding opponents, stripped the former National league champions of all their vanity. The gibes of other National league teams and the public in general had a noticeable effect on the Bears, who do not take kindly to kidding. This year's All-Star game, as far as they are concerned, is a grudge fight and they are acting accordingly.

The squad from Chicago included the following veterans:

Bronko Nagurski	Jim McMillen
George Corbett	Luke Johnsos
Gene Ronzani	Ookie Miller
Jack Manders	Bernie Masterson
Art Buss	Ray Richards
George Musso	Ted Rosequist
Joe Zeller	Beattie Feathers
Ed Kawal	Bill Hewitt
Jules Carlson	Red Grange
Wayland Becker	Joe Kopcha
Bill Karr	Paul Franklin

Grange will act as assistant coach, as will Johnsos. Grange, however, will not play this season. McMillen returns to the squad after several years' absence from football. The former Illinois star will forego his wrestling for a time to try out for the tackle position left vacant by the release of Link Lyman, veteran National leaguer who returned to his alma mater at Nebraska to coach the line. Becker played with the Bears in the All-Star game last year, but was optioned to Brooklyn immediately after. He spent the season with the Dodgers and was recalled last winter.

Sisk Joins Squad.

The squad was joined here by Johnny Sisk, veteran half back, who came direct from Milwaukee, his

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1935; By The Chicago Tribune.]

At the recent national public links golf tournament in Indianapolis Louisville and San Antonio tied for the Warren G. Harding trophy, emblem of the team championship. . . . Figuring the playoff for the cup would be a cinch, the Colonels, with swelling pride and confidence, filled the cup with mint julep and passed it around. . . . The next day the Texans, led by Lieut. Ken Rogers, an aviator who scored a 69, won the trophy with shots to spare in the playoff. . . . Augie Galan and Stanley Hack of the Cubs have stolen more bases than the entire Braves team. . . . Lyn Lary of the Browns broke into baseball by accident. . . . He registered at the University of California and the next day attended a game at the Oakland Coast league park. . . . The Oakland shortstop was injured that afternoon and Lary was invited to report for a workout the following day. . . . He was signed to a contract and forgot about college. . . . Among the spectators at the All-Star-Bears game will be Mrs. K. K. Rockne, widow of the man who taught three of the coaches that will handle the college team. . . .

When the Cubs' private renewal of the civil war flared up recently Bill Lee of the Rebels addressed Bill Jurges of the Yankee faction with: "You had better get an iron hat before you are killed by a fly ball." . . . Jurges had dropped a fly while Lee was pitching that afternoon. . . . Cy Williams, former Phillies' outfielder, owns and operates a 420 acre dairy farm in northern Wisconsin. . . . When Mike Jacobs is making up his mind where to hold the Louis-Baer match, he might well remember that Chicago holds all the records there are for boxing, indoor and outdoor. . . . The fight would draw at least $600,000 at Soldiers' field. . . . Louis and Baer want to battle here, the Illinois Athletic commission wants it, the city and state administrations are supporting it, and the newspapers pledge their whole hearted support. . . . What more can New York offer? . . . Elmer Layden of Notre Dame has been invited to help broadcast the All-Star football game for W-G-N. . . .

Lester Stoefen, who lost twenty-four out of twenty-five matches to Ellsworth Vines before he quit the professional tour last spring, says Vines could beat Fred Perry of England seven out of ten if they were to meet now. . . . The man who beats Joe Louis in the next year or two will not be a slugger. . . . He will be a Tunney or a Loughran, who can jab sharply with the left and step back out of the fire. . . . A special football jacket, invented by Dutch Bergman, coach at the Catholic university, will be used on the ball at the All-Star game if the field is wet. . . . The device, which will be tried out by many college elevens this fall, is manufactured with the idea of improving the handling of the ball in inclement weather. . . . Whether the ball is made slippery from rain, snow, or mud, the rubber jacket will lend a gripping surface. . . . In a Little Gypsy Tearoom!

What a heluva place to spend the night of Aug. 29! Why, you'll be the forgotten man if you're not at Soldiers' Field, where the College All-Stars play the Chicago Bears.

Step right up, boys. First come, first served. No pushing, no waiting. Today—40,000 seats at $1.65 and $1.10. No more, no less. Tomorrow—Well, nothing lasts forever.

Every seat reserved; every seat with an unobstructed view of the world's greatest football spectacle. No, sir; we're sorry. There are no more $2.20 seats. Don't you remember? We warned you four weeks ago. Don't forget again, mister, or it's you for the tearoom.

Rush right up to the ticket window in the Tribune's Public Service Offices, 1 So. Dearborn and in the lobby of the Tribune Tower. Too busy? Well, just mail a check or money order made payable to the Chicago Tribune to the Football Ticket Manager, Chicago Tribune.

TIGERS DEFEAT WHITE SOX, 4-1, BEFORE 33,000

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 11.—A crowd of 33,000 overflowed on Navin field this afternoon to see the league leading Tigers sweep the four game series by administering a 4 to 1 licking to the White Sox. The Sox, who made three hits for six bases yesterday, made four hits for four bases this afternoon, so it is difficult to determine whether they were better or worse today.

Despite the fact the fighting Chicagoans have lost ten of their last eleven decisions they clung to third place by a margin of one percentage point, .525 to Boston's .524.

Kennedy Yields Only Six Hits.

Vernon Kennedy allowed the champions only six hits, half of them by Charley Gehringer. But he allowed six walks of which three blossomed into runs to supply the margin of victory.

All this Chicago hitting was done by Tony Piet and Vernon Washington, each with two singles. The Tigers never got Tony out, for after making his two hits he was hit once by a pitched ball and Elden Auker walked him his fourth trip to the plate.

Simmons Fans Twice.

Al Simmons, who didn't get the ball out of the infield yesterday, drove one clear out to Fox today. His improvement was tempered, however, by the fact that he fanned twice, as compared to only once yesterday. Rip Radcliff, another of the powerhouse boys, failed to hit the ball out of the infield, but reached first on an error his first time up. Manager Dykes also failed to get the ball out of the infield as did Jack Hayes, Luke Sewell and Kennedy. Appling got two flies to the outfield as a sort of personal triumph, one of them driving in the Chicago run.

The Sox packed their satchels tonight prepared for the homeward voyage with the feeling that it had been a hell of a trip. In seven games they amassed a total of ten runs. The collapse was directly hung on the fellows who are hired to hit baseballs, for in no instance did the opponents make more than five runs or win by a margin greater than 4 to 0, yesterday's tabulation.

Owen's Single Scores Goslin.

The Sox pulled a first inning fadeout that had several points of similarity with other fadeouts in the series. Radcliff reached first on Gehringer's fumble and stopped at second on the first of Piet's hits, a single to center. Then Simmons fanned and Washington tapped into a double

ROOT'S PITCHING STOPS ST. LOUIS' WINNING STREAK

11th Triumph for Veteran.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The world champion St. Louis Cardinals, who had developed a keen appetite for Cub meat, finally were brought down yesterday by the skill of the veteran Charley Root. The old speed baller did another lap on the comeback trail by restricting the title holders to seven scattered hits and his mates supported his brilliant performance with enough hitting to enable him to register his eleventh triumph of the year, 3 to 2, before 23,560 spectators.

The outcome put a stop to an eight game winning streak by the champions, who think they are going to win the pennant again. More important, however, was the fact that it broke another streak in which only the Cubs and Cards were involved. The title holders had whipped the Chicagoans seven straight times, the last victory for the latter occurring June 3. Root's pitching also was responsible for that. But the title holders still have a big edge in the season's play. They have humiliated the Cubs 12 times in 17 games.

The Cubs are now 2½ games behind the first place Giants and trail the second place Cards by three percentage points.

Root Gets Better.

Root, instead of wilting in the struggle for one run in the last five innings, improved as he want along. With the help of hits off Billy [Lefty] Walker by Freddy Lindstrom, Walter Stephenson, and Augie Galan, Root got off to a two run lead in the first two innings, but the Cards, who are persistent fellows, turned this back into a tie in the fourth. After that Root was invincible. He yielded only three singles after the fourth, but in at least one instance was nobly assisted. That was when Damaree tore into right center in the ninth and made a spectacular one handed catch of a wicked drive by Virgil Davis, a pinch batter, for the second out.

Walker hung around until the end of the sixth and the ancient Jess Haines then was dragged in to finish. But the Cubs didn't let him stay. Chuck Klein, benched because of a southpaw, was fetched forth to bat in the seventh. He started Haines on the slide with a single. A moment later Demaree did the same thing and the decisive run went home.

Root and his pals were given quite a scare right at the start. Orsatti opened the battle with a line double past Cavarretta, but Rothrock and Frisch were stopped on tall flies to left and Medwick on a pop to short.

Cubs Score in First.

Lack of control on the part of Walker enabled the Cubs to get away to a one run lead. A pass to Galan opened the first inning. Herman also walked. Steinback fizzled an attempt to bunt and wound up with a fly to Orsatti. Lindstrom bounced a slow single past Gelbert, putting Galan across the plate. Demaree then flied to Orsatti and Durocher made a lightninglike pickup and throw of Cavarretta's roller to force Lindstrom at second.

Root tossed strikeouts at Delancey and Gelbert to hurry the Cardinals through the second, and the Cubs celebrated this achievement in their half by scoring again. Stephenson led off with a single to center and Jurges bunted, but forced Stephenson at second. After Root had fanned, Galan ran the count to 3 and 2 and then doubled to left, Jurges going home. Collins ran half way to the flag pole in right to stage a brilliant catch of Herman's foul.

Half of Root's two run lead went

JOCKY BRAMMER WINNING AGAIN; RACE FANS HAPPY

Fair Billy Starts String at Lincoln Fields.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Jocky Dan Brammer has at last started winning at Lincoln fields and a lot of race fans are happy again even though the spectacular young rider was the direct cause of large chunks being gnawed out of their bankrolls during the early days of the season.

During the final fortnight of the Arlington Park Jocky club's season Brammer's victories and his remarkable rises in the stretch had become one of the sensations of the year in American racing.

The only thing racegoers had to do to win money was to back the horses Brammer was riding.

Fans Bet on Brammer.

Along came the Lincoln fields opening. The racegoers expected him to pick up there where he had left off at Arlington. So they bet that way.

Brammer was in silks throughout the opening program and was beaten every time he climbed into the saddle. "He'll get 'em tomorrow" the confident Brammer followers said. But he didn't. At the end of last Tuesday's racing his Lincoln fields record totaled exactly what the little boy shot at.

"Wait until tomorrow," promised the Brammer backers again. Every one waited and although Brammer was whipping and kicking his mounts in an effort to make them win they just wouldn't do it.

Their Bankrolls Hurt.

So, along came Thursday and those folks who had been playing a progressive system on Brammer were outwardly brave, but inwardly they were maimed and wounded in the racegoers most vital spot—the bankroll.

But Brammer didn't win for them on that afternoon either, the fourth time in as many days he had missed.

It looked bad for him again on Friday until he climbed into the saddle on Fair Billy, a field horse longshot. Fair Billy ran for the youngster just like the horses had been running for him at Arlington and he won in the last jump. The Brammer backers—those that had any money left—danced jigs, sang songs, and danced to his good health.

The celebration went along merrily throughout Saturday's program for Brammer was in stride again. Three times he said "howdy judge" at the winning post. His backers expect him to be visiting the winning post so often during the remainder of the meeting that he soon will be calling the judges by their first names.

Can't Pick 'Em by Jockies.

There have been two noted examples of the impossibility of beating the races by playing a spectacular jocky's mounts.

Once in England over a period of three months Fred Archer won on an average of one race out of every two in which he wore colors. Suddenly he went into a slump and when he failed to win a race in the following six weeks he broke half of England.

Earl Sande was riding at a "winner out of every three mounts" clip in this country back a dozen years ago. He hit a slump and for nearly a month wasn't able to get a glimpse of the winning post. The crash of the Broadway bankrolls which this situation caused could be heard as far away as the Rocky mountains.

While Brammer was in his slump at Lincoln fields during the opening week of the season two veterans, Charley Corbett and Lee Hardy slipped into the limelight with their skillful exhibitions of horsemanship.

CHICAGO HORSES TAKE RIBBONS AT COUNTY FAIR

Chicago scored heavily at the horse show at the Cook county fair, River road and North avenue, yesterday. Mrs. A. C. Thompson's Happy Way farm won first and second in the class for tandems, and the Mills Brothers took the blue ribbon in the contest for three gaited saddle horses over 14.2 hands.

Mrs. Thompson won first in tandems with her noted Queen Elizabeth and Earl of Leicester and placed second with Harbrough Searchlight and Pride of Onway. She personally exhibited the winners.

In the three gaited class Sir King won for Mills Brothers from eight competitors. Hytone Lady, shown by Mrs. F. E. Bohrer was second; Lottie Mason, nominated by Mrs. Frances Orth Jones of Wheaton, third; and Peggy, exhibited by Miss Hope Landis, fourth.

Keen competition developed in the class for lightweight hunters over a 4 foot jump. Centavo, shown by J. C. Haberkorn, another Chicagoan, took the blue with Phaon's Citizen, the entry of George Brandeis of Omaha, placing second, Stanley Luke's Jumping Jack was third, and Miss Hilda McCormick's Hindustan fourth.

Edward Kondelik proved the most adept horseman in the class for stockyard working horses, in which the animals were put through a series of maneuvers including the opening and shutting of gates and other tests they are called upon to perform in actual duty.

Bryan Defeats Anderson for Charlevoix Net Title

Charlevoix, Mich., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Robert Bryan of St. Louis captured the Charlevoix open tennis tournament today by defeating Carl Anderson, Detroit, 6-4, 6-3. The women's singles competition will be competed tomorrow. After Mrs. E. J. Mack of Cincinnati had won the first set, 6-4, and Mrs. Richard Lowenstein of Chicago had taken the second, 14-12, the players protested that they were too fatigued by the heat to continue.

Rothschild's Aromate Wins 60,000 Franc Race

DEAUVILLE, France, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Baron Edouard de Rothschild's Aromate today won the 60,000 franc Prix Jacques Le Marois over 1,600 meters, defeating Jerry Welsh's Clairvoyante and S. J. Unzue's Bluebell, which was third. Aromate won by one and a half lengths.

Engel, Miller Head Marigold Card Tonight

George Engel, young farmer from Plymouth, Ind., gets a second chance tonight to establish himself as a candidate for welterweight honors in an eight round bout against Billy Miller of Milwaukee, Wis., at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. In a previous adventure against better caliber welterweights Engel whipped Puggy Weinert at Northwest stadium July 24.

Engel is an aggressive, two fisted fighter and for that reason critics give him a better than even chance to whip Miller. The latter is a hard hitter with either hand, but does not appear at his best when he is crowded. He proved that again in his latest, July 12 at Peoria, when he was held to a ten round draw by Petey Mike. This weakness is the chief reason he lost in ten rounds to Billy Celebron July 1 and Weinert May 29. Give him an opening, however, and he is dynamite as he demonstrated against Eddie Vlk at Cicero stadium April 26. Miller scored a four round knockout over Vlk. Preliminary bouts:

Jackie Sharkey vs. Davey White [6], 135.
Jackie Sherman vs. Mickey O'Shea [5], 150.
Milt Aron vs. Lloyd Weaver [4], 142.
Frank Schultz vs. Wilmer Van [4], 138.

Jack Gacek of Milwaukee and Walter Logan of Kansas City will meet in the main wrestling exhibition tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Gacek is more rugged and possesses superior strength, but Logan is more adept in the finer points of wrestling, according to Promoter Joe Coffey. Babe Kasaboski will clash with Rudy Kay in the semi-final. Other encounters involve Ernie Peterson and George Jonasen, Bobby Pearce and Al Szasz, and Pete Bart and Ed Van Herrick.

Three contests at five rounds have been arranged as part of the supporting card to the ten round feature between Ernie Kirchner and Billy Celebron at Western stadium tomorrow. . . . Ernie Kulasik will meet George Trapp, Al Pahl is matched with Bill Reardon and Carl Scalise will encounter Sailor Born. . . . Walter Roxy has been added to the wrestling card headed by a heavyweight struggle between Everett Marshall and Casey Birger at Marigold Gardens Wednesday. . . . His opponent has not been selected. . . . Alex Kasaboski wrestles George Zarnes in the semi-windup. . . . Baxter Calmes, Wichita, Kas., who holds a decision over Champion James J. Braddock, is in the loop toting 200 pounds. . . . Adolph Wiater is in Green Bay, Wis., recovering from a sore arm. . . . He is being sought for matches against Lorenzo Pack in Chicago and Buck Everett in Washington, D. C.

Barney Ross, welterweight titleholder, will open boxing drills this afternoon at Trafton's gymnasium to test his hands, injured when he dethroned Jimmy McLarnin last June. . . . If they stand up Co-Managers Sam Pian and Art Winch are likely to accept a scrap for Ross against Baby Joe Gans at Portland, Ore., Aug. 30. . . . Sammy Julian, Cleveland, O., lightweight, hopes to be able to fight again next Monday at Marigold after being idle for several days due to an ear ailment. . . . Harold Steinman, representative of King Levinsky, is making arrangements to have Levinsky make his next appearance at Portland, Ore. . . . Arrangements have been completed for the annual convention of the National Boxing association at Louisville, Ky., Sept. 16 to Sept. 18, inclusive. F. M.

Final Round Opens in District Softball Tonight

WALTERS YIELDS 6 HITS; PHILLIES BEAT GIANTS, 2-0

Watkins Leads in Drive Against Schumacher.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies jolted the New York Giants again today by coming through with a 2 to 0 victory—their fourth in the six game series. Outfielder George Watkins, former Giant, and Bucky Walters, the infielder turned pitcher, combined to stop New York in the series' windup. Watkins hammered in both Philly runs, while Walters held the league leaders to six hits.

Hal Schumacher lost his second game of the series. He was taken out in the eighth for a pinch hitter and was succeeded by Carl Hubbell.

Athletics Win 2 Games from Yanks, 8-4, 5-4

New York, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The New York Yankees fell six games back of the Detroit Tigers today when they dropped a double-header to the Philadelphia Athletics, 8 to 4 and 5 to 4, while the American league champions were chalking up their ninth straight victory.

Aided by Jimmy Foxx's nineteenth and twentieth home runs of the campaign and another homer by Pinky Higgins, Carl Doyle, rookie hurler, received credit for winning the first game, despite the fact that he handed out eight bases on balls and had to be helped by George Blaeholder and Johnny Marcum.

Timely hitting and great defensive play by Roger Cramer featured the second contest. The Philadelphia outfielder drove in two runs with a double and single and made three brilliant running catches, one in the ninth with the bases full.

QUEEN OF ANGELS SCORES UPSET IN C. Y. O. BASEBALL

Queen of Angels handed St. Hyacinth's its first defeat of the year yesterday in C. Y. O. Baseball league and earned second place in the divisional standing, thereby qualifying for the title playoffs which open Aug. 25. The score was 5 to 0. Eddie [Lefty] Miller allowed St. Hyacinth's batters only two hits.

Divisional competition in the league will end next Sunday, after which the first and second teams in each of the six divisions will swing into the championship playoffs.

Other scores yesterday were:

St. Genevieve, 6; Epiphany, 5.
St. Pius, 9; St. Casimir's, 0.
St. Josephat's, 16; St. Mark's, 8.
St. Gabriel's, 15; St. Martin's, 2.

ALEXANDER, HIT BY PITCHED BALL, RECOVERS FAST

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Dale Alexander, slugging first baseman of the Kansas City Blues, probably will be released from Menorah hospital tomorrow, attendants said, as a result of his rapid recovery from a slight brain concussion.

He was struck by a pitched ball in a game with Toledo Thursday night. Since that time the Blues have trimmed the Hens five straight games.

His rapid recovery encouraged the Blues to hope he would be able to rejoin the team before the season ends, Sept. 15.

4 RAT ISLANDS URGED AS SPOT FOR GANGSTERS

U. S. Prison Colony Proposed in the Pacific.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Establishment in the isolated Rat Islands, off Alaska, of a federal penal colony where prisoners would shift for themselves without guard rule has been recommended to Attorney General Cummings.

Col. C. A. Seoane of the army signal corps, now in Baltimore, is the author of the plan for a colony for "the gangster and the racketeer."

Fox Ranches on Islands.

The four Rat Islands, near the end of the Aleutian group, comprise 1,000 square miles—and are more than 1,000 miles from the Alaskan mainland, 2,000 miles from the nearest United States point, and more than 2,000 miles from Hawaii. Except for one or two fox ranches on each, they are uninhabited.

Banishment to the Rat Islands "would mean a long good-by without hope of pardon, parole, or escape," Col. Seoane said. "Therein lies the secret of what is believed would become an effective damper on the crime wave of today."

Through proper enactment of law, Seoane would send to the Rat Islands all male prisoners sentenced in excess of five years.

Would Provide for Selves.

"Once there," he added, "they would take up residence, have the entire freedom of the islands, and be required to provide their own sustenance through their own endeavors, the United States assisting in the beginning through a minimum supply of foodstuffs and other supplies as might be necessary in establishing the colony.

"The only guards that would be necessary would be a limited amount of offshore sea vigilance, to be provided by one of the government services, possibly the coast guard."

States Might Use Islands.

Not only federal prisoners but prisoners of the states could be cared for in the scheme. Seoane said with a prison population of around 120,000 in the United States, the proposition might well be tried out on about 10,000 prisoners.

The Rat Islands, part of the public domain, are suitable for raising blue foxes, sheep, and goats, and for fishing. They are washed by the warm Japan current, seldom have snow and have an average temperature of 39 in winter and 54 in summer.

OTTO GNEWUCH DIES; FEARLESS DEPUTY SHERIF

Funeral services for Otto Gnewuch, 63 years old, known as one of the doughtiest deputy sheriffs in the history of the county, who captured the notorious William [Sunny] Dunn in 1921, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in his home at 6940 Lowe avenue, where he died Saturday night of heart disease.

OTTO GNEWUCH.

Gnewuch was appointed a deputy under Sherif Ernest J. Magerstadt, a Republican, in 1901, and remained with the sherif's office until his retirement eight years ago because of ill health. During that time he led most of the important raids on gambling and disorderly houses in Cook county, being known for his fearlessness despite the fact that he was only 5 feet 3 inches in height.

On Jan. 2, 1921, Gnewuch and three aids invaded a hoodlum stronghold at The Sag on Archer road, and despite an army of bodyguards, arrested Sunny Dunn, whom the police had sought for a year. For this THE TRIBUNE awarded him the monthly hero prize of $100, but Gnewuch insisted on sharing it with the other raiders. Surviving are his widow, Anna, and four children, Lottie, Edna, Lester, and Grover.

Elenore Kellogg, A. P. Writer, Dead in New York

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Elenore Kellogg, 41, newspaper woman, died today in the Gotham hospital following an operation. She was born in Chicago. She attended Hyde Park High school and Chicago Normal school before going to the University of Wisconsin to study journalism. Miss Kellogg did book reviews for the Chicago Evening Post, and some work as well for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Later she came to New York, where she worked on several papers and finally for the Associated Press.

IERC Staf Employe Found Dead at Hotel

Harry C. Morrison Jr., 35 years old, a graduate of the school of business of the University of Wisconsin in 1922, was found dead yesterday in his room at the Tower hotel, 24 West Huron street. Morrison, who lived at the hotel under the name of Fred C. Jamison, obtained employment only a week ago as a transcriber for the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. Letters found in the room revealed that Morrison's father is vice president and manager of the Huteson Optical company in Seattle.

STATE TO SEEK TRIAL OF ZENGE IN SEPTEMBER

The Cook county grand jury is expected to return an indictment today before Acting Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court charging Mandeville Zenge, Missouri farmer and carpenter, with the mutilation murder of Walter J. Bauer, Kirksville, Mo., chemistry professor and successful love rival of Zenge.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty said yesterday he would seek to have the trial set for early in September.

Attorney Joseph E. Green, defense counsel for Zenge, left Chicago yesterday for Kirksville and Canton, Mo., where he will direct an investigation into the tangled affairs of Bauer, the chemistry professor; Zenge, the country youth, and Louise Shafer, superintendent of nurses in a Kirksville hospital, who wed Bauer on the eve of her promised marriage to Zenge, her school days sweetheart.

Attorney Green said that he had been advised of the presence in Kirksville and Canton, Zenge's home town, of witnesses and evidence that would answer the state's theory that Zenge was motivated by jealousy in his alleged killing of Bauer.

SWEITZER TRIAL MOTIONS MUST BE FILED TODAY

Preliminary motions in the trial of Robert M. Sweitzer, ousted county treasurer, on a charge of withholding public funds are to be filed today. In the absence of Judge E. I. Frankhauser of the Criminal court, who set Aug. 12 as the deadline for the motions, the case will be taken before Acting Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington.

I. Harvey Lewinson, counsel for Sweitzer, was reported out of the city yesterday, but other attorneys said his principal motion undoubtedly would be to quash the indictment returned against Sweitzer by the June grand jury. Arguments on this and other motions filed are expected to be set for a later date to give Assistant State's Attorneys Marshall V. Kearney and Leslie V. Salter, who are prosecuting the case, an opportunity to examine any briefs filed.

The grand jury indictment, to which Sweitzer has entered a plea of not guilty, is based on his alleged failure to turn over more than $414,129 to his successor, Michael J. Flynn, when he retired as county clerk last December after 24 years in that position.

FAIR BOARD MEN PLAN STUDY IN NEW YORK AREA

A study of recreational centers in and near New York City is being considered by the planning committee of the Chicago Exposition authority, Charles S. Peterson, chairman of the committee, announced yesterday.

The consultation with eastern resort authorities is part of the policy of the planning committee to obtain for the Chicago fair the best features of A Century of Progress and other recreational and educational centers, Mr. Peterson said.

The plans and programs of the world famed Leipsic trade fair, the Dresden public health center, London's Crystal palace, Paris' Trocadero, and the municipal exposition halls of a dozen American cities have been discussed by the planning committee.

T. K. HEDRICK FUNERAL TODAY; NEWSPAPER MAN

Funeral services for T. K. Hedrick, former well known Chicago newspaper man, who died Saturday of a heart attack at his home, 1363 Estes avenue, will be held from the chapel at 7066 North Clark street this afternoon. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Charles Thomas Hull, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church. Interment will be in Graceland cemetery. Mr. Hedrick had been with the Chicago Daily News, where he edited the "Hit or Miss" column for a time. He retired five years ago. He also had been promotion manager for the same newspaper. Surviving are his widow, Mary, and four children.

JAPS FAIL TO BAR U. S. MAGAZINE IN SHANGHAI AREA

SHANGHAI, Aug. 12 [Monday]—(AP)—Japanese consular authorities have made an unsuccessful attempt to have suppressed the August issue of the American periodical Vanity Fair within the international settlement here, it was learned today.

The Japanese action was the result of publication of a caricature of Emperor Hirohito which was deemed objectionable in Japan, and which became the subject recently of diplomatic representations at Washington.

Replying to Japanese consular authorities, the Shanghai municipal council declared it was powerless to halt the sale of the magazine. The government of Greater Shanghai [the Chinese administered city surrounding the settlement] announced, however, it would accede to the Japanese request and would halt the sale of the magazine in book stores of the city. A spokesman at the Japanese consulate said the Chinese authorities had been asked not only to suppress the magazine, but also to prevent a reprinting of the cartoon in Chinese publications, and that this had been readily pledged.

THREE ARE HELD IN SACRAMENTO POLICE SLAYING

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Three men were held tonight, shielded in a strong jail, for the slaying of Police Chief Erskine G. Fish of North Sacramento, third California police chief to be shot down on duty in recent weeks.

Deputy Sherif Harry Bryant announced Alfred Paine, 26, Oakland, Cal., had confessed he shot the chief to escape arrest early today.

Last week a confessed "cop killer" was lynched near Yreka.

Bryant captured Paine and Hugh F. Smith of Oakland at a railroad station a few hours after the shooting of Fish.

Paine and Smith had been hunted throughout the day after George O. Wallace, apprehended near the scene shortly after the shooting, told officers he had left the two in the vicinity a few moments before.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

With the new daily "March of Time" series only a few days away, new names in the news are giving the casting directors headaches. When the program went off the air last spring Haile Selassie was still an obscure personage so far as the listening public was concerned. Now betting is rife in the studios as to who will be assigned to impersonate the Conquering Lion of Judah, the bewhiskered monarch of Ethiopia, when this dramatic show returns to CBS on Aug. 26.

Odds are even that Edwin Jerome, who has impersonated Stalin and other European leaders, will get this assignment. But Dwight Weist, who has been "ghost" for Gen. Pershing and Bruno Richard Hauptmann, is also said to be in the running. One thing is certain—Jack Smart is eliminated, since he will have his hands full playing the part of Mussolini.

Director Arthur Pryor isn't much worried about Joan Warner, some time Chicago dancer, who has been inspiring headlines from Paris. Marian Hopkinson, who has impersonated Princess Marina and Madame Secretary Perkins, has already demonstrated that she can double for the dancer who shocked the continent.

Five advertisers are said to be bidding for broadcast rights on the Municipal Opera which is to be sponsored at Navy pier by the city of Chicago beginning next Saturday evening. First bill will be "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci."

The adjournment of congress will be broadcast over the networks from the floor of the house of representatives—when, as, and if congress adjourns. . . . The Mills Brothers' new fall program, which is to start Oct. 4, will originate in Chicago NBC studios. . . . "Musical Chimes," a program of recordings, time, weather, and temperature, starts at 8 a. m. this morning on WMAQ. The NBC Breakfast club, which has been heard on WMAQ, will shift to WCFL.

Bob Becker, TRIBUNE outdoor editor, will be interviewed by Helen Stevens Fisher on the National Farm and Home hour over WCFL-NBC next Friday. On Sunday, Aug. 25, Bob will have as his guest on his own program, "Chats About Dogs," Marion Claire, wife of Henry Weber, W-G-N musical director.

A tour of the old world in Chicago with appropriate music is to be presented by the Chicago Recreation commission from 10 to 11 this morning on station WSBC. Such spots as "Little Pilsen," Chinatown, the ghetto, Greek "Delta," and the Russian colony will be visited.

Edward Davies, Chicago NBC baritone, will broadcast from New York's studios for several weeks beginning next Thursday. Davies got his start in life as a Colorado coal miner. In the last few years he has become one of the most popular baritones in Chicago's radio world. Now he is apparently headed for a buildup in New York. Norman Paule will take Davies' place on Chicago programs for the next fortnight.

Mary McCormic, opera singer, currently appearing in her own life story over WBBM, was the guest of honor at the annual national assembly yesterday at Camp Grant.

Boy Drowns in Lake While Sister Watches

Arthur Zielinski, 12 years old, of 2832 North Hamlin avenue, was drowned yesterday while bathing in Wonder lake, eight miles northwest of McHenry. The boy, with his sister Eleanor, was on a week-end visit with an uncle. Eleanor was on the shore when Arthur was seized with a cramp and sank before she could summon aid. The body was recovered.

GEN'L MOTORS TO SPEND HUGE SUM ON PLANT

Improvements Will Cost 50 Million.

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Plant expansion and reconstruction work to cost $50,000,000 has been authorized by the General Motors corporation, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president, announced today in issuing the company's report for the first six months of the year. The building program, Mr. Sloan said, was being undertaken because of the "more assured outlook for profitable development."

A. P. SLOAN JR.

Most of the money, Mr. Sloan said, would be spent for machinery, rather than for new buildings. The program, he declared, was in line with the company's policy of decentralizing its manufacturing operations.

"Encouraged by the more assured outlook for profitable development," Mr. Sloan said, "the corporation has authorized an expansion and reconstruction program of approximately $50,000,000. When completed, there will result an increase in the production facilities of General Motors cars as domestically manufactured—Chevrolet, Pontiac and Oldsmobile in particular.

Will Enlarge Foreign Plants.

"The capacity of the corporation's manufacturing plants overseas, both in England and in Germany, will also be importantly increased, as the present capacity of these plants is inadequate to meet the current demand. There is involved in the program, domestically, a broadening of the corporation's policy of decentralization of manufacturing operations.

"While there will be a limited amount of building construction, the greater part of the program involves the purchase of machinery and other plant equipment directly involved in production. It will be recognized that this program will make a contribution to employment, as affecting the capital goods industries, and many communities in which General Motors operates should ultimately benefit by the increased employment in prospect."

While modernizing its machinery, the company will, by decentralizing its plants, place itself in a position so that interruption of production at one plant, manufacturing vital parts, will not affect the continued operation of other plants. Sloan pointed out in his report that in the second quarter of the year a strike at one of the company's plants at Toledo, manufacturing parts for the Chevrolet Motor division, reduced the output and earnings of the corporation. To meet this the company opened a new factory at Muncie, Ind.

Other Construction Work.

Other construction work includes new factories for the Pontiac and Fisher Body divisions at Pontiac, Mich., costing $3,500,000; modernization work for the Buick and Chevrolet plants at Flint, Mich.; modernization of the Durant plant at Lansing, Mich., which has been purchased for the Olds division; refitting of the Murray Wood Products plant at Memphis, which has been bought for the Fisher Body division; a new plant for the Allison Engineering division at Indianapolis, where airplane engines will be manufactured, and a new plant at McCook, Ill., for the electro-motive division, which will build Diesel-electric locomotives on a continuous assembly basis.

Sloan's report showed that the net profit for the first six months of 1935, as announced in the preliminary statement issued recently, was $83,729,838, or $1.85 a share on the common stock, against $69,586,613, or $1.51 a share, for the corresponding period of last year.

World Business Gains.

Discussing the trend of business during the first half of this year, Mr. Sloan said:

"The period in question was characterized, both domestically and overseas, by an improving trend of business, with the gain apparently well sustained. In practically all countries throughout the world, the underlying economic forces, striving for recovery, are, at the moment, in the ascendency over the adverse influences incident to political action. According to the current trend, there is indicated a consumption of motor cars and trucks for the year 1935, throughout the world at large, excluding the United States, equal to that of any previous year in the history of the industry.

"As to the domestic market, the expectancy of the year might be stated as 70 per cent of 1929, the previous high record. Thus we see that recovery has asserted itself to an important degree even greater outside than within the United States, if we are to adopt the previous peak of automotive consumption as our yardstick."

National Steel Bonds Now Ready for Exchange

New York, Aug. 11.—(AP)—City Bank Farmers' Trust company, as trustee, has notified holders of National Steel corporation first mortgage sinking fund bonds, 4 per cent series, due June 1, 1965, presently outstanding in temporary form, that they may be exchanged at the trustee's office, 22 William street, for permanent bonds of the issue with coupons attached.

Corn Harvest Promises to Exceed Needs

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

If present prospects for a corn crop of 2,272 million bushels are realized it will mean the country will have an abundance of feedstuffs in a year in which the demand will be curtailed because of the reduction in the number of animals on the farms.

Not only corn, but other feed crops have fared well this season. The oats crop will be more than double last year's short harvest. The available corn supply will be about 900 million bushels in excess of the 1934 crop. At the same time the country is harvesting an unusually large amount of low grade wheat which might be used for feed if the need developed.

The real deficiency this year is in high quality bread wheat. Last season, because of the unprecedentedly small feed crops, the country imported substantial quantities of foreign wheat for feed purposes.

Expect Large Wheat Imports.

It appears probable that substantial imports of wheat also will be made this year, but the demand will be for premium grades. High grade foreign wheat will be mixed with domestic grain to produce a milling quality of wheat.

A few figures may suggest the situation which the country faces this year. The wheat crop is estimated at 608 million bushels. With a carryover of 155 million bushels the indicated total supplies are 763 million bushels. Normally domestic consumption ranges from 625 to 650 million bushels.

During the last year consumption was larger because of the heavy diversion of wheat into feed channels. While wheat will not be needed this season for feed, the quality of the grain suggests that it will take more wheat to make a barrel of flour than in normal years.

Little Wheat Above Need.

Nat C. Murray, one of the leading grain statisticians, predicted consumption this year will probably reach 675 million bushels. If this estimate is realized it would leave a surplus of less than 100 million bushels. It is doubtful if the last 100 million bushels in the theoretical total supply could be drawn upon to any great extent. A certain part of the total cannot be included in the available commercial supplies.

The figures leave little room for doubt that the country will draw upon Canada for substantial quantities of wheat this season. Imports have already begun and it is believed by grain men that they will continue.

Wheat prices showed little change last week, but the prices of corn and oats declined. Live stock prices are soaring because of a shortage of animals, but the plentiful supply of feed has checked any upturn in feed grain prices.

IMPROVED RAIL BEDROOM CARS PUT INTO SERVICE

New and improved Pullman bedroom cars, described as the last word in railroad luxury, have been received in Chicago by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad for use on the Capitol Limited between Washington, D. C., and Chicago.

Seats, lounges, and beds upholstered in mohair, and window shades and carpets of rich materials are features of the new cars. Panels between sleeping compartments are made to slide back, permitting a passenger to use a suite of bedrooms. Bridge tables and folding bridge chairs are also included in the accommodations of the new cars.

LIVELIER TRADE EVENTS BOOST STOCK PRICES

Interest of Public Is Growing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 11.—Talk of an "old-fashioned bull stock market" is humming once again in Wall street brokerage house board rooms. The phrase has been out of vogue since the New Deal "inflation" rally collapsed in the midsummer of 1933.

However, prospects have been improved as a result of a number of factors, including: The market's continued advance after five months of almost steady advance, the gradual improvement of trade news, the growing pressure of cheap money seeking investment, and finally the dogged refusal of the list itself to crack in the face of the occasional waves of profit taking.

Public Interest Grows.

Popular interest, as gauged by board room attendance, is increasing steadily and many brokers believe that if the market continues to improve as it has been doing the public will be getting back into the market in a big way. Dealings topped the 2,000,000 share mark one day last week for the first time since last spring and yesterday's half session saw 1,210,770 shares turned over in the space of two hours. Obviously, the market's well-wishers submit this is not all the work of the professionals who have been carrying on for so long in the hope of better things to come.

Another heartening phase of the situation is the persistent advance of the averages in spite of the occasional waves of profit taking caused very largely by prophecies of an "inevitable reaction" supposed to be long since overdue.

Averages Move Higher.

Sales falling under this classification bore the averages fractionally lower on four of the five and a half trading sessions of last week, but in spite of these setbacks THE TRIBUNE'S combined index of fifty representative issues rounded out the week more than 1 1-3 points higher.

The "average" rose to a new high for the year of 102.95 yesterday, climaxing a climb of more than 25 points over a period of five months. The highest it got last year was 98.27.

Telegraph and telephone companies report a steady increase in business traceable to the market "boomlet."

Several developments appeared over the week to keep the fires of constructive enthusiasm crackling. Among the more outstanding of them were the General Motors dividend increase, a fresh batch of favorable second quarter earnings reports from various major lines of business, a healthy string of reports of increased mail order, chain, and department store sales, growing prospects of an earlier adjournment of congress, and the probability that some pending New Deal "must" legislation may be sidetracked and, lastly, the Rhode Island by-election with its implied rebuke to the extravagance of the administration. Prospects of a fall upturn in business played an increasingly important part as they have for weeks, or virtually ever since the inception of the recovery movement back in March.

Considerable Investment Buying.

Recently some doubts have been expressed lest the market overrun the bounds of known or suspected business improvement. It may already have done so, but the long term investment buying that has formed the backbone of the rise has been concerned with a much longer period than a few weeks. Stocks always have intermediate advances and declines on their long distance courses, but they tend to average up with corporation profits.

Brokers report that a good deal of the buying now being done in the share market is for cash. Wire houses are understood to find debit balances decreasing. That would indicate, it is pointed out, that customers who are trading on margin are selling stocks while cash buyers are taking them—further evidence that solid investment buying is in progress.

U. S. WILL AUCTION $100,000,000 BONDS TO HIGHEST BIDDER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau today offered to sell $100,000,000 of treasury bonds on an auction basis.

The issue is dated March 15, 1935, pays 2¾ per cent interest, matures March 15, 1960, but is callable after 1955. The bonds will be sold to highest bidders and no offerings less than par and accrued interest will be accepted. Morgenthau has said today's offering was the last long term security sale of the month.

The treasury department today reported an increase of $32,107,280 in customs receipts for the financial year of 1935 which ended June 30, as compared with the fiscal year of 1934. Receipts for 1935 were given at $346,997,094 and for the preceding year $314,889,814.

Only 14 of the 48 customs districts showed decreases in the 1935 receipts as compared with 1934.

Electric Refrigerator Sales May Set Record

The large increase in sales of electric refrigerators during the fore part of 1935 promises to carry the total for the full year up to a new high record of about 1,600,000 units, according to a report by Fitch Publishing company. Last year's sales numbered 1,382,000 units, the report said, and in 1933 they were 1,064,000.

LOANS OF HOME BANK HERE HIT $12,966,000 TOTAL

The Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago announced last night that it reached an all time high of loans outstanding on Aug. 8, with $12,966,000 of credit in use among 314 building and loan associations. Advances have climbed sharply during the summer to 22 per cent above the April 1 low.

The credit peak last year was reached in December when $12,067,264 was being used by 211 associations. Greater demand for mortgage money is said to have caused 103 more associations to change their policies to become members and obtain funds offered by the home loan bank at 3½ per cent.

A. R. Gardner, president of the bank, said that individual disbursements ranged from $1,000 to $160,000 the last six months, and that $2 of resources of members of associations go into new loans for every $1 of home loan bank credit.

E. A. Palmer Will Address Fire Insurance Executives

Ernest A. Palmer, state director of insurance, will speak at an informal dinner of the underwriters' conference of the Federation of Mutual Fire Insurance companies at the Drake hotel this evening, it was announced yesterday. Approximately 100 executives of mutual fire insurance companies will attend sessions of the conference on Monday and Tuesday.

BREAK IN HEAT WAVE BRINGS WOMEN OUT FOR AUGUST FUR SALES

Although milady can't bring herself to think of furs and fur-trimmed coats when the temperature is in the nineties, no more sharp a cooling off than a drop to the lower eighties is needed to quicken her interest in special August sellings, observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. The break in the prolonged heat wave, they said, enabled retail stores to enjoy a good upturn in feature selling events.

Meanwhile, new and impressive records for wholesale buying were being rolled up in Chicago as 12,000 buyers were here for the second week of the Interstate Merchants council events, sponsored by the Association of Commerce. Dry goods, general merchandise, apparel, millinery, and variety and gift lines benefited heavily.

In addition to coats and furs, the shoe, furniture and other special retail events fared much better in the cooler weather after lagging in the preceding few days. Fur coat sales were ahead of last year.

Electrical output continued high, owing to better industrial demand. Little change in industrial activity was reported, but several expansions were said to be in prospect, some involving new construction.

Canada Back in U. S. Market to Sell Bonds

An issue of $76,000,000 ten year 2½ per cent bonds of the dominion of Canada will be offered today by a large underwriting syndicate at 97¾ and accrued interest. This is the first Canadian government financing in the American market since the securities act became effective. The bonds are due Aug. 15, 1945, and are not callable until Aug. 15, 1943.

Net proceeds of the sale will be used in the retirement of $50,000,000 of 2 per cent promissory notes maturing Sept. 1 and $26,000,000 of 4½ per cent Canadian National Railway company bonds called for payment on Sept. 15.

Detailed information on Canada's financial position, economic production and foreign trade is given in the prospectus issued by the bankers. Total funded debt on June 30 amounted to $3,074,292,691. Of this $292,737,987 is payable in New York and $90,661,100 either in Canada or New York.

Results for Fiscal Year Shown.

The government showed a balance of $4,106,540 in ordinary revenues over ordinary expenses in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1935. This compares with deficits of $22,586,545 and $43,174,530 in the two preceding fiscal years. After including special expenditures for unemployment relief and public works, and the Canadian National railway deficit the total deficit or increase of debt was $116,132,819 in the recent fiscal year, compared with deficits of $133,497,313 and $220,634,655 the preceding years.

Figures in the prospectus show a favorable balance of trade for Canada for the last four years. Exports in the year ended last March 31 accounted for $667,558,957 of the nation's foreign trading of $1,189,990,110 for a margin of $145,127,804 over imports.

STEEL OUTPUT CLIMBS AGAIN; NOW AT 48 PCT.

Expected to Remain at Present Level.

While steel output advanced another point last week to 48 per cent of capacity, producers now believe the peak in the current upward movement has been reached and that the rate will move in a lateral direction before a further gain, says the magazine Steel.

Industrial improvement has gained too much momentum to be checked except temporarily, the journal continues, but the leveling off in orders is resulting from interruptions in the automobile industry, which already has far exceeded normal production for this time of the year on old models.

Expect Less Auto Tonnage.

Automobile assemblies last week dropped 20,800 from the preceding week, one of the sharpest declines in output this year, to 48,600 for the week. Preparatory to its transition to new models, the industry has placed large tonnages and releases on these are expected late this month or in September.

"As 65 per cent of automobile assemblies usually fall in the first six months of the year less tonnage is expected from that source over the next four months," the journal says.

"Farm implement and equipment manufacture is expected to carry through this year at a high rate, with operations 75 per cent of 1928-'30. Tractor output is accounting for 60 per cent of the industry's business."

Better Plate Demand Forecast.

Better plate demand is in prospect for industrial plant work, the review continues, particularly in the oil industry. The navy has opened bids on 13 vessels requiring 24,225 tons of steel.

Steel mill operations during the week advanced 1 point to 53 per cent in Chicago, 3 to 79 in Wheeling, 8 to 62 at Cleveland, 4 to 35½ at Birmingham, and 20 to 45 in New England. Youngstown was off 2 points at 51 per cent and Detroit dipped 6 points to 88 per cent. Pittsburgh held at 41 per cent, Buffalo at 37 and eastern Pennsylvania at 31½ per cent.

BOTH PULLMAN CONCERNS SHOW LOWER EARNINGS

Maintenance and Pay Roll Costs Increased.

Pullman, Inc., and its sleeping car affiliate, the Pullman company, both reported declines in earnings last night, each showing deficits in current operations.

The Pullman company had a continued advance in gross revenue both for June and for the first six months of the year over similar periods of 1934 and attributed losses to continuation of the expanded car maintenance program and to increased pay roll costs following full restoration of wages to pre-depression levels last April 1.

Gross Earnings Increase.

Not including earnings of manufacturing subsidiaries of Pullman, Inc., the Pullman company reported June gross of $4,219,751, compared with $3,977,504 in 1934. The month's operations, however, resulted in a $439,276 profit as against $14,652 net a year ago.

The gross for the six months ended June 30 was up to $23,492,589 from $21,646,396 in the corresponding period of last year. A loss of $2,241,939 was incurred, compared with a deficit of $172,322 during the first half of 1934.

Pullman, Inc., Has Deficit.

Pullman, Inc., reported consolidated income of $2,748,803 during the quarter ended June 30 after operating expenses and taxes, but had a deficit of $413,299 after deducting depreciation and other charges of $3,162,102. This compared with $3,745,950 income and a profit of $680,137 in the first quarter of the year after deducting charges of $3,065,812.

Current assets of Pullman, Inc., on June 30 amounted to $58,902,221. Current liabilities were $11,776,205, leaving net working capital of $47,126,016. On March 31 working capital was $55,912,257 on the basis of $66,822,910 current assets and $10,910,653 current liabilities. At the end of 1934 working capital amounted to $58,962,429 on the basis of $69,474,997 current assets and $10,512,518 current liabilities.

Lehman Corporation Assets Value Now $100 a Share

New York, Aug. 11.—(AP)—For the first time since its organization six years ago with a paid in capital of $100,000,000 accruing from the sale of 1,000,000 shares of capital stock, Lehman corporation's net assets have recovered in value to a point sufficient to show $100 a share on the stock outstanding. The corporation's present break up value compares with $93.98 on last June 30.

Lapsed Policies.

Investors' Guide: Will you please explain to me the definitions of automatic extended policy and paid-up policy as used by life insurance companies?—H. L. T.

Answer: The standard legal reserve life insurance policy provides that in the event the holder fails to pay his premiums one of two provisions will automatically go into effect, unless the policyholder specifically instructs the company otherwise.

The company, in the event of a lapse without any specific instructions, will in one instance convert the lapsed policy into one that will pay the face value of the original policy to the beneficiary of the insured person if the insured person should die only within a certain time. That is an automatic extended policy.

Under the other alternative the lapsed policy is converted into one that will pay an amount less than the face value of the lapsed policy in the event that the insured person should die at any time. That is a paid-up policy.

Which of these provisions will go into effect depends entirely on the provisions of the lapsed policy.

National Acme.

Investors' Guide: Bonds—National Acme 6s—will you please advise?—S. J. W.

Answer: National Acme company, a Cleveland, O., manufacturer of screw machines and their products, reported a profit of $140,000 for 1934 after three years of heavy losses. The company lost $311,000 in 1933, $895,000 in 1932, and $1,095,000 in 1931. In the first half of 1935 it earned $86,000, after all charges, against $151,000 in the first half of 1934.

The improvement in 1934 was due mainly to increased operations of automobile manufacturers, the main outlet for the company's products.

On Dec. 31, 1934, current assets were $3,021,000 and current liabilities were $170,000. Funded debt, consisting of the first mortgage 6s, due 1942, totaled $1,766,000. Working capital amounted to $58,962,429 on the basis of $69,474,997 current assets and $10,512,518 current liabilities.

Greyhound Corp.

Investors' Guide: I have not found Greyhound corporation listed on the New York Curb for some time. Why is that? Has it become a closed corporation?—Mrs. V. A. F.

Answer: On July 2, 1935, common stock of Greyhound corporation was delisted from the New York Curb exchange. It is now listed on the New York Stock exchange.

Miscellaneous.

5—MEN—5

NORTHWEST DES PLAINES, NILES, AND ADJACENT TOWN RESIDENTS.

I am ready to interview 5 men who would be willing to learn a new business which will pay a steady income, approximately $200 a month. Men selected should have had from 8 to 10 years' or more business experience. For the right man I will finance the business, which is outstanding in electric unit operation and is backed by abundant capital.

The first year your earnings should not be under $2,500 and likely closer to $3,000. The 2nd and 3rd year much larger. You receive an exceptionally attractive commission and yet do not invest any money yourself or assume any obligation of overhead. The men considered will be residents of North and Northwest Chicago and adjacent towns. Those interested will come prepared to spend 2 or 3 hours with me, and I will go into this matter in detail. Come to Room 6, Park Ridge State Bank, Park Ridge, Ill., 11 a. m. only.

If we come to an agreement, I will have you established before the end of this week.

WANTED.

High grade young man, 25 to 30 years of age. Must be sales minded. Man selected will be trained in sales methods and given exclusive territory introducing a new electrical appliance. Must be willing to start on moderate income. Liberal commission and bonus. Apply in person only, Monday, 7:30 p. m. See Mr. Parsons.

Sunday Throngs Pack Beaches—Hoover Demands Roosevelt Tell Constitution Policy

THOUSANDS AT BEACHES TO ESCAPE HEAT—Bird's-eye view of throng at Oak street beach yesterday, when temperature went above 90 degrees in most of the Chicago area. It was estimated that a half million persons made use of the city and park beaches, and another half million visited the parks and forest preserves. Other thousands took to the highways and many trafic jams were reported as the throngs of motorists returned to the city last evening. Cooler weather was forecast for this afternoon. (Story on page 2.)

BREAKS POLITICAL SILENCE—Former President Hoover at North Western station yesterday as he arrived on Overland Limited. He issued a statement interpreted as a bid for the 1936 presidential nomination. (Story on page 1.) [TRIBUNE Photo.]

CHANGES MIND—Mrs. Wiley Post in San Francisco, won't fly to Siberia with husband.

TO WED SINGER—Winfield Sheehan, who will marry Maria Jeritza, opera star, today. (Story on page 1.)

VISITORS' DAY AT CAMP GRANT—Portion of the crowd which gathered yesterday to see 6,000 National Guardsmen in their annual encampment at Rockford. Admiral John Downes, commandant of the Ninth Naval district, and Congressman Scott Lucas were among the speakers. (Story on page 14.)

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

REHERSE SPIRITUALS FOR MUSIC FESTIVAL—J. Wesley Jones, choral director, leading 600 colored singers yesterday at Metropolitan Community church. They will sing "Oh Southland" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" at Chicagoland Music Festival Saturday night in Soldiers' field. (Story on page 7.)
